All orders will be promptly filled.

We will give X, on "Thanksgiving," hearing to morrow. INDICATIONS AND PREDICTIONS-

We are not a prophet or the son of a prophet but we like to watch the fore-shadowings of coming events, and make estimates from their indications. There are indications already observable from which the shape of the presidential contest of 1856 may be predicted with reasonable certainty. It is apparent tast there will be three parties in the field. The Democratic party will present a good man of the constitutional, liberal and progressive school of Demoeracy. The Free Soil, northern party, will rally all its forces and isms for a desperate contest, with Wm. H. Seward as its banner bearer, Horace Greeley as its oracle, and Theodore Parker as high priest of that political church. Then, the American party will present a candidate, and elect him if they can. Who that candidate will be is yet uncertain. John M. Clayton and Millard Fillmore are bidding high for the honor. But there is an old statesman in the far southwest, who, it is supposed, will distance Fillmore, Clayton and all other competitors for that nomlaution. Gen. Samuel Houston will probably be the candidate of the American party. The Democratic and the American will be national parties; adopting platforms national in their character and principles. The Free Soil party will of course be sectional, and cofirmed to the northern States exclusively. Such will be the main parties for the next presidential race; and there will probably be no other party in exis-

The Free Soil Whigs hoped for a time that the Know Nothings would combine with them. But of that there seems now no possible chance. Greeley and Seward have become especially ob noxious to the new party, and Greeley through the Tribune wages unceasing war against it. There was nothing in the late elections to indicate any alliance between the new party and the Free Soilers. In New York it run an indepen dent candidate. In Pennsylvania the K. Ns. voted for the Whig and Free Soil candidate for Governor; for the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner; and for an independent Judge In Massachusetts they defeated Whigs, Fre Soilers and Democrats. In some of the west era States they acted with the Whigs and Fre Soilers this year. But it was no permanent al liance. On the contrary there are indication from all quarters that the new party will ac with the Whigs and Free Soilers no longer. I new organ at Washington announces principle that the Free Soilers can never adopt. Greele characterizes the K. Ns. as the foes of the sec tional, Seward party. A large portion of th new party is already found to the south of Ma son and Dixon's line. They have controlle many of the local elections in the souther States. And they have lately held a convention at Cincinnati, in which, it is said, ex ery State was represented, and that the object

N. vote from the Whig vote of this year in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, &c., and the remainder is that anti-slavery party that Seward, Greeley and their followers have labored so hard to form. They have succeeded in destroying the whig party, and sub-teeded in destroying the whigh the soon afterwards commenced throwing the stage to the one unaulty occupied by the stage to the one unaulty occupied by the stage to the one unaulty occupied by miss Courts. THE BATTLE BEFORE SEBASTOPOL. Both parties claim the advantage and a vistory, in the late battle in the Crimes. The Russian official account, by General Liprandi, is published in some of the papers, giving details of the day's operations; and a letter from the rrespondent of the London Times gives the English version of the affair.

One difference is quite observable between the Russian writers and the English and French. The latter boast prodigiously; make out all their men heroes; and all their charges wonderful: while the Russians boast but little. Yet the Russians took four redoubts during the battle; destroyed the guns of three, and held the other. The English writer admits that when the Russians retired the allies had no disposition attack them.

In reading these accounts of the battle an resting fact strikes the mind. The combatants are gathered from regions as distant as were the battalions of the Axof meet the velebrated solfought and died in that bloody battle. The Anlo-Saxon, the Gaul, the Muscovite, the Sciavo-

The Free Soilers then, have no possible chance of success in 1856; nor do we see any prospect of their ever being able to elect a president. No friend of the Union can regret this. Their aims were sect. onal, and their succeeded to dissolve the Union.

The next presidential contest, then, is between the Democrats and the American party. A few estimates based on the results of the late elections, will indicate the probable result, unless changes occur in the meantime, too great to be expected. We have supposed Smyser's vote in 1866.
