dency in 1856. On one of the banners displayed in the hall was a representation of the "White House," and under it the inscription, " Sam's residence in '56." Gen. Sam Houston, of Texas, pistol. is referred to; and thus from the old Bay State the here of San Jacinto is called out as a candidate

On the subject of slavery, one speaker at the On the subject of stavery, the sponsor of banquet said, "Our motto is not to turn out of mitted some breach of the law, and the way to meet slavery, nor to attack it." But he ing made to arrest him, he resisted the officer engaged in it. intimates that slavery must not attempt aggressive movements. This is pretty liberal for the old hot-bed of Abelitionism. Another speaker said, "He would not interfere with slavery in the States, but asked our brethren of the South would urge our entire separation of that institunot to seek to extend it over new territory, and tion from the affairs of the general government." This sentiment was received with "prolonged overhoard.

applause," and it cannot fail to strike every nind that the very aim of the Democracy for years has been to separate slavery from the affairs of the general government. The Democrate would treat it entirely as a local institution, to be regulated by the States where it exists; and decided by the votes of the people in the new territories. That is the Dem and if the new party design to frame their platform out of Democratic principles, we surely have no objections. If they choose to run a; Democrat for the Presidency in '56, all right. Gen. Houston can never be any thing but a Democrat, sound, able, fearless and honest; and we do not believe he will ever repudiate the glorious name of Democrat. The word "Democracy" has a charm about it that tells every where. It is a word whose signification is as wide as the realms inhabited by our race, and is equally attractive and applicable wherever man is found having a right or a desire for self-government. Democracy means the rule of the people: and no Democrat can find any good reason for leaving the ranks of his party, while it abides by its principles. Whoever will help carry out those principles are our friends, to whatever organization they may belong. We contend for principles, and not for men, or for spoils.

The Free Soil party must see in the principles of the new party, as announced at the Boston banquet, the end of all hope of success for that northern sectional party that would make the perpetual agitation of the subject of slavery its chief occupation; and hostility to the South its powerful train of artillery, and that the bond of union. Mr. Greeley and Mr. Seward the victors were driven at all points by the havanget, the victors losing about 2500 men. erpetual agitation of the subject of slavery its shief occupation; and hostility to the South its bond of union. Mr. Greeley and Mr. Seward will have to solve again the problem of the value of the Union to the people of the north. Taking the public sentiment of the North as the basis of the allies proves this. The Mexicans would have their calculations, they will find a different result next time. Just one year ago they thought their not house of the union of the States was worth just forty cents spiece to States. From present States.
