Daily Morning Post.

PITTSBURGH:

WEDNESDAY MORNING.....JANUARY 24.

MORNING POST JOB OFFICE.

We would call the attention of MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN to the fact that we have just received from Philadelphia a number of fonts of new Job Type, and are now prepared to fill orders for Cards, Circulars, Bill Heads, Paper Books, Posters, and Programmes for exhibitions. All orders will be promptly filled.

News of the Day.

The Astor House, the St. Nicholas Hotel, the Irving House, and indeed all the other Broadway Hotels, have resolved to close their barrooms on Sundays, at the suggestion of Mayor Wood, so as to give no possible cause of complaint to the three cent shops, that the laws are enforced only against the poor, while the rich are permitted to do as they please.

There seems to be no doubt now that Grisi and Mario will leave this country, for England, on the 21st of February. State rooms, with their names attached, have already been secured on board the Atlantic, which sails on the day alluded to.

It is feared the steamer Falcon is lost. She left Aspinwall on the 1st inst., and is now over due for more than a week. She got a bad name by the Court Martial of Major Wyse, who refused to go on board of her on account of her rickety condition.

George W. Green, the Chicago banker, who was convicted of poisoning his wife, but who has had a new trial granted him, is likely to escape justice, as the indictment has been lost.

LIVING TOO FAST.

It is not difficult to define many ways in which people "live too fast." Neither is it difficult to predict the consequences. Living too fast is a general evil. Few families or individuals can be found, who, on reviewing the past five years, cannot see many ways in which they could have reduced expenses, and saved some money to meet the present "hard times." But if the past cannot be recalled, we can learn from its errors and their consequences a useful lesson for the future. Living too fast has done nearly all the mischief we complain of now, and has greatly impaired individual and public prosperity. And what is "living too fast?"

Whoever buys nice furniture or clothing on credit is living too fast. He is drawing on the future for present gratification; and it may turn out that the future will have plenty to do to take care of itself. Running up store bills of any kind is living too fast. Everything can be bought cheaper for cash than on credit, and by paying as you go you give no one a chance to cheat you, or make mistakes in your accounts. If people will only begin right it is just as easy to pay cash as you go as to pay for everything on three or four months credit. It is easier; because the payments are in smaller sums, and more easily raised; and because everything is cheaper for cash. If cash is paid for everything, few things will be bought that are not needed. But, where a whole family is buying at stores or furniture houses on credit, many things will be purchased that could be done without a while longer.

It is a bad sign, one of the surest signs of living too fast, to see a large amount of store bills sent into a dwelling house at every quarter day. It shows that the head of the family, instead of having provided for the past, or even for the present, has got to pay up for the comforts and luxuries of the past, and trust to his credit for the expenses of another quarter of the year. And he has perhaps got to be annoyed and humbled by repeated duns, too, before the old bills are paid. Now, if he had begun right, paying cash for everything when it was bought, less would have been bought; less prices would have been charged; no duns would have annoyed him; no debts would have alarmed him; and no burdens would have been thrown on the future, which his future exertions and industry must bear.

Withdrawing a part of one's capital, which is needed or might be employed in business, to build a fine house to live in is living too fast. Wait till you have a surplus of capital; and then build only such a house as will always rent for full interest on the investment, or sell for its cost. It is better to live in a rented house than to have any apprehensions that the Sheriff will sell your own.

If a man is doing a good business this year, with a prospect of doing still better next year, that is no reason why he should live beyond his present nett profits. It is not only unsafe, but dishonest to do so. Some unlucky turn of affairs, some unexpected stringency in the money market, short crops, fires, or some unforeseen casuality may reduce instead of increasing your profits next year. Then comes a crash, and your fast living has not only broken you up, but has wronged your creditors. You have lived fast in part at their expense; which you had no right to do. Those who live too fast, and, as a consequence, break up without means sufficient to pay their debts, have as surely defrauded their creditors as though they had over-reached them in trade, or sold them spurious articles of merchandise. They have sold them their notes and promises to pay, and by fast living and extravagance have rendered them worthless. Some may fail without fault; but in a majority of bankruptcies fast living and over drafts on the credit system have been the cause.

Buying fancy stocks in the hope of a rise and large profits may do for those who have surplus capital and are out of debt. But for one in a regular business, who has no capital to spare, and has debts to pay, it is living too fast; and trying to get rich too fast by hazards that, in a majority of instances, result in the ruin of the legitimate business, and wrong to creditors. Tea merchants have been ruined by speculations in copper stocks of fluctuating values, or no value at all, where one has been enriched by them. It is a species of gambling that debtors have no right to resort to without first providing, beyond contingency, for the safety of their creditors; and for the safety of their families too.

To those in moderate circumstances buying a new carpet while the old one is decent is living too fast; and buying any carpet at all, if you cannot pay for it in cash, is living too fast. Buying a piano, which you cannot pay for in cash, without inconvenience, is living too fast. It is anticipating better luck for the future than for the present, which may prove a mistake. It is mortgaging your future labor for a present luxury; and placing yourself needlessly in the unpleasant position of a debtor. The family that buys everything for cash will find at the end of the year that its expenses have been one third or one fourth less than the family that has run up store bills on every corner. They will have besides the additional gratification of knowing that there are no bills to pay; no duns to dodge; no wife to scold for extravagance; and no husband to blame for want of thrift and capacity in business. In such a family New Year's Day can be spent at home without fear of the collectors; and the turkey be eaten with an excellent appetite. Pay as you go, and you will never break up, and your children never beg bread.

Do any say they have not the means to start on the cash system? Live very short then till you get the means, and then start the cash system and never abandon it. If your coat is a little old and "seedy" wear it on till you get the money to pay for a new one; first, because with the cash in your pocket you can buy where they sell cheapest, whether you are known or not. 2d, because you can buy far cheaper for cash than on credit; and 3d, because it is awful unpleasant to pay for a coat after it is worn out. "Paying for a dead horse" is proverbially disagreeable. As a general thing merchants and traders will sell at least ten per cent. cheaper for cash than on credit. Suppose it costs a family five hundred dollars a year for provisions, fuel, clothing, furniture, &c., on credit. Take ten per cent. off for cash, and fifty dollars a year is saved. In 20 years that makes $1,000; a sum sufficient to start a son or a daughter in life; and the interest on its use in the meantime amounting to a sum sufficient to "fit out" another. Then think of the comfort and happiness of that family during that twenty years, with no store bills ever sent into the house. We know one man who says he was never dunned in his life, and never had a store bill sent to his house. He is rich now, of course, though he began poor twenty-five years ago.

The cash system is the only sure guaranty of thrift and prosperity for the great mass of the people. It insures a reasonable economy; a happy independence of spirit; a security against the fluctuations of trade; moderate prices; reduced litigation; lean lawyers and few of them; fat judges and idle justices of the peace and notaries public.

Should the "hard times," the scarcity of money, and financial embarrassments of the present year teach the people generally a thorough lesson of economy in expenditures, and the great advantages of the cash system over the ruinous expansion of credits and debts that has heretofore prevailed, this "hard year" would do the whole country more good in the end than two years of prosperity and abundant crops could accomplish. The country needed such a lesson. The credit system has become so enormously inflated that the whole wealth and industry of the country was mortgaged to the future. It was time to stop, wind up, settle up, pay up, and take a new start. Let the new start be upon a safer basis; much nearer to the cash system; more economical and republican, and all will go well for the future; until a new generation springs up that needs a repetition of the hard lesson soon learned by "living too fast."

IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO.—We have received a copy of a pamphlet, by Herman Haupt, Esq., civil engineer, entitled "A consideration of the Plans proposed for the Improvement of the Ohio River."

The great importance of this subject, and the degree of attention it is attracting just now throughout the West, will cause this pamphlet to be read with interest. Mr. Haupt's practical skill and scientific attainments abundantly qualify him for the task of discussing the different plans proposed to improve the navigation of the river. We are assured that that river can be made far more useful than at present, at a reasonable cost. Mr. Haupt thinks an incorporated company should undertake the work, and that the present session of our Legislature should grant a liberal charter to such a company. Under the proper management a company can be believes the river can be made navigable nearly all the year, and the improvement be a paying investment to the stockholders.

We shall make further reference to this pamphlet hereafter.

WHAT A COUNTRY!—A reference to the last census report shows that the United States contain 2,936,166 square miles, with a population of 23,191,876 souls. Taking the ratio of increase in population since the first census report, in 1790, as a basis of calculation, in the year of our Lord 1900 this great country will contain 93,695,512 of free and independent people. If nothing should turn up to check the unparalleled growth of the last half century, or sun er the Union of these States, the fabled power of the Roman Republic will be as far outstripped as we already lead them in everything that constitutes true civilization. An alliance of France, England and Spain, to prevent the annexation of an island, will not amount to much in the face of a giant republic of one hundred millions.

☞ Miss Sue E. Jeffery, one of the "strong-minded women," we should judge, is out in a communication in the Miami Sentinel, in defence of a brother who had been charged with robbing his father. She intimates that some one who was forward in making the charge is the really guilty party, and concludes with the following "N. B.:"

"There is a word which I wish to say in my own behalf. I have not been unmindful of the sneers, incendoes and slanders thrown out at myself for the last few months, but I have refrained from making a public example of any as yet; I forgive the past, but be careful for the future. I am not what I have been represented, a tempo, but I can and will maintain my own rights, and when I take a stand, not all mankind nor the devils in hell can move me, for God is greater than both combined, and in him do I put my trust. S. E. J."

Go it Sue! we'll hold your bonnet.

OHIO EDITORIAL CONVENTION.—This Convention, which lately convened at Zanesville, is represented to have been a very interesting assemblage. Lecky Harper, Esq., formerly editor of this paper, acted as the presiding officer. Anson G. Chester, of the Buffalo Express, delivered a beautiful poem on the occasion, and W. T. Coggeshall, Esq., late of Cincinnati, an address upon the art of Printing and the Press. Resolutions were adopted to the effect that as Railroad corporations had combined to refuse the courtesies heretofore extended to the Press, the editors of Ohio would do no more gratis advertising for them. They are both right.

ROMANCE VERSUS REALITY.—Miss Emma Moore, "the missing Rochester girl," of whom so much has been said of late, is rather an "old girl," and not "cursed with beauty" either. According to a bona fide description of the lady, she is "thirty five years old, small in size, and her second tooth from the front is black." When this description becomes more generally read, we fear the interest felt in Miss Moore by sundry young men of a romantic turn of mind will fall considerably below zero.

MADAME DE VRIES' CONCERT.—SALE OF TICKETS.—We would remind the public that the sale of choice seats for Madame Rosa De Vries' grand Concert, will commence this morning at Mr. Kleber's music store. Single tickets to all parts of the house $1,00; admitting a lady and gentleman $1,50. Our music loving citizens will now have an opportunity of indulging their taste.

GOOD RIDDANCE TO BAD RUBBISH.—Orr, blasphemously called the "Angel Gabriel," took his departure for Glasgow, on Monday, in the steamship Glasgow, for that port. He was accompanied to the steamer by a number of friends, whom he saluted by a vigorous blast from "his horn," as the vessel left the dock.

FAILED TO ARRIVE.—The 1½ Pittsburgh Eastern mail failed to arrive yesterday, and we are, therefore, without our usual New York and Philadelphia papers. The connection was not made at Altoona.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN CALCRAFT.—Capt. Granby Calcraft, formerly of the British Artillery, and more recently her Britannic Majesty's Agent for the British Mail packets at this port, died in the city yesterday. He has resided here for six or eight years past. Capt. Calcraft married Miss Love, the actress. His name was involved in the trial of the Forrest divorce case. The Captain was well known in the city, and made many friends by the suavity of his demeanor.—N. Y. Times, 19th.

ROCHESTER, January 22.—The Irish employed in the enlargement of the canal, have struck for higher wages, and trouble is apprehended.

When we record our angry feelings, let it be on the snow, that the first beam of sunshine may obliterate them forever.

Most Horrible and Distressing Tragedy.

A most thrilling and awful tragedy occurred in the vicinity of Cascade, on Friday night. Robt. McGinty, residing some two miles this side of Cascade, went to the house of his father-in-law, Mr. Clark, residing a short distance beyond Cascade, and commenced an assault upon his wife, who had gone there to escape his ill-treatment, when the father, Mr. Clark, interfered, by drawing a pistol from his pocket, and informing McGinty that he would shoot him if he did not desist. McGinty seized a flat-iron and knocked the old man down, took the pistol from, him and shot him. During the time that this rencontre was going on between McGinty and Clark, the wife escaped to a neighbor's house; but fearing pursuit from her demon husband, she left the house and went into the woods, and there secreted herself. McGinty followed to the house where the wife had retreated, and not finding her there, swore he would shoot the woman of the house if she did not inform him of the place of concealment of his wife. The woman, alarmed for her safety, informed McGinty the direction his wife had taken. Bent on blood, he pursued and found her concealed in the bushes, and horrible to relate, cut her head nearly off. He then went to his own house, and placing the muzzle of the pistol under his chin, discharged it, ball passing out of his right cheek. Finding this effort to destroy life ineffectual, he discharged three balls into his abdomen, and then attempted to sever his wind-pipe by drawing a knife across his throat. He was found, some time during Friday night, at his own house, in bed and still alive, by some men from Cascade, in pursuit of him. As they entered the house, he pulled the clothes over his head. They placed him in a wagon and started for Cascade, but before they reached there, life had left the carcass of this desperate wretch. McGinty and his wife are both dead, and it is doubtful whether Clark will survive. McGinty is the same desperado who, a short time since, bit a man's nose off, in the lower part of the city, and was bound over to appear at the next term of the District Court.

Additional Intelligence from Europe.

Queen Isabella, of Spain, has sent a magnificent golden tiara as a personal present to the Pope. The tiara is encrusted with no fewer than eighteen thousand brilliants, so set as to throw off rays at all points, and to form around the holy father's head a halo of light like the "glory" of a saint! It is fortunate that the Spanish treasury is in a condition to afford so valuable a gift. The Pope's "next best" tiara is one that was presented to Pius VII. by Napoleon I.

Major-General Henry William Adams, C. B., died on the 18th ult, at Soutari, from the effects of the wounds which he received in the battle of Inkermann, on the 5th of November.

Sir De Lacy Evans has left the Crimea. The London News says:—He has been fifty years in the army, and has been present in fifty great battles. He has served in the East Indies, in the West Indies, and in the United States. He accompanied the Duke of Wellington through his career of conquest in the Spanish Peninsula, and there greatly distinguished himself, where his distinction was to be earned by reckless exposure of himself or prudent care of others. It was he who at the head of a hundred men forced the House of Congress at Washington He performed, besides, many important services in the same quarter. He was at Waterloo, and showed himself to be among the bravest and most competent officers on that dreadful day.

The Pacific Railroad Bill in the House.

In the House, the Pacific Railroad bill passed its third reading by a vote of 104 to 97. It provides for one grand trunk central railroad and telegraph line, from some point on the western boundary of Missouri or Iowa, between the thirty-sixth and forty third degrees of north latitude, on the nearest and most eligible route to San Francisco, and two branch railroads and telegraph lines, one diverging from said central road at some eligible point east of the Rocky Mountains, between the one hundred and third and fifth parallels, west longitude, and running through the territories of the United States in the direction of Memphis, Tennessee, and one diverging from the central road at the point last aforesaid, and running through the territories of the United States to the most eligible point on the western shore of Lake Superior. For this purpose the bill appropriates public lands equal to the alternate sections for the space of twelve miles on each side of the road, from the eastern to the western terminal. It also made it the duty of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Postmaster General, to cause advertisements to be published in two of the newspapers of each State, and in the District of Columbia, inviting sealed proposals for the construction of the road and telegraph on the terms aforesaid. The section of the bill, other than the first, do not accord with the bill in its amended form; the prevalence of the previous question and unanimous consent being withheld, preventing the necessary modifications being made.

Important Surgical Operation.

On Thursday of last week, an important surgical operation was performed upon Mrs. Abraham Smith, of Polk township, in this county, for the removal of the entire left breast, together with a number of enlarged and indurated glands from the arm pit, for a cancerous disease of these organs The operation was performed by Dr. A. Levering, assisted by Drs. Jackson and Hollinshead, of Stroudsburg. Mr. Charles S. Dietrick, Superintendent of Common Schools, was also present, and rendered valuable assistance.

Mrs. Smith was kept under the full effect of chloroform for one hour, during which time the diseased parts were removed, the wound dressed, and the patient placed in bed, where she was allowed to emerge from the state of unconsciousness, and to find herself relieved from a painful and dangerous disease, without having suffered the slightest symptom of pain or uneasiness.

We are pleased to learn that she is improving very rapidly, and that the extensive wound is healing without a single untoward symptom.

MEDICAL.—Since 1849 a prize of one hundred thousand francs has been offered by the French Academy of Sciences for a prescription which would cure the Asiatic cholera in the majority of cases. At a late sitting of the Academy, the committee appointed to examine the numerous communications upon the subject, reported that not many suggestions offered were worth a farthing. It has now been decided that any person who shall discover a positive indication of the causes of the disease, so that by the removal of them it will disappear, or who shall discover a sure preventive, such as vaccination is for small pox, shall be entitled to receive the prize.

There is likewise a standing offer of five thousand francs for a demonstration of the existence, in the terrestial atmosphere, of any matter or animalcule operative in the propagation of epidemic distresses.

EARTHQUAKE DOWN EAST.—A shock of an earthquake was experienced at Hanover, N. H., and Bradford and St. Johnsbury, Vt., about six o'clock, on Monday evening. The shock lasted about half a minute and was distinctly marked, causing considerable rattling among the windows and crockery at the places mentioned.

DIED,

On Monday evening, Mrs. JANE SHIPTON, at the advanced age of 78 years; mother of John shipton, Esq.

The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral at No. 140 Smithfield street, THIS AFTERNOON, at 2 o'clock, without further notice.

☞ Proclamation.—Whereas, the extraordinary and unprecedented demand for that invaluable preparation, WRIGHT'S PREMIUM KATHARION, has induced envious persons to palm off other articles similar in name and appearance, but absolutely worthless, which has a tendency to injure the reputation of the genuine article, purchasers should be particular to ask for Wright's Premium Katharion, and they may rely on receiving an article unequalled for its virtues for restoring a decayed head of hair, for a cool, refreshing and delightful application during the hot weather, removing all disagreeable sensations of dizziness and headache, and for the toilet it has never had an equal for its pleasant and delightful fragrance.

Its thousands of testimonials are a sufficient guarantee for its completely restoring a decayed head of hair; for removing all dandruff; for preventing its falling off, whether from sickness or disease; and for entirely dispensing with the necessity of using hair dyes, as it excites the secretions, producing a supply of its natural pigment or coloring matter, giving the hair a dark, glossy appearance, with a luxuriant growth.

☞ Consumption and Spitting Blood.—See the certificate of Mr. Turner H. Ramsey, for many years proprietor of the Farmers' Hotel, Fredericksburg, Va., and late of the City Hotel, Richmond, Va.

Dr John Mings, of the city of Richmond, though a regular physician, and of course opposed to what he called quack medicines, was obliged to say that its good effects in the case of Mr. Ramsey, were wonderful indeed.

He had been given up by several physicians; had tried most of the quack medicines, and was on the verge of despair, as well as the grave, when he tried Carter's Spanish Mixture.

We refer the public to his full and lengthy certificate around the bottle, stating his cure.

☞ Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Liver Pills are fast superceding all other remedies for Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, &c. Below we give the certificate of a lady residing in our own city. In such certificates the public must have confidence.

NEW YORK, August 30, 1852.

I do hereby certify that I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint for a long time, and never found permanent relief until I used Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills. By their use I have been completely cured of that dreadful disease, and now take pleasure in recommending them to all who are troubled with Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, or Dyspepsia. MARY HILL, Fifth Avenue.

P. S.—The above valuable remedy, also Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in this city.

Purchasers will please be careful to ask for, and take nonbut Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public.
