DAILY MORNING POST. HELT MONDAY MORNING......JANUARY 29. HAROR OF THE STARVED BRIGADE MCT BY TERRYSON. Haif starved, half starved, Half starved, onward All in the valley of soun Rushed full six hundred. Into the valley of soup
Rushed full six hundred,
For out came a notice which
Each one had pondered.
'Porward the starved brigade
Take your pails.' Murphy said
Into the valley of soup
Rushed full six hundred. "Forward the starved brigade:
No one a bit afraid—
No one although he knew
The notice was blundered;
Theirs not a word to say,
Theirs but a disobey,
Theirs but a hungry day—
Into the ralley of soup
Rushed full six hundred. Hunger to right of them, Hunger to left of them, Hunger in front of them, All shame had sundered; Formy with hunger lell, Onward they rushed pell mell, Into the tool house there, Into which, hungry as Rushed full six hundred. Flashed all their kettles bare, Flashed all at once in air, Flashed all at once in air, Siartiling the watters there, Charging, an army, while The police wondered. Plunged in the savory smcke, Kach giving each a poke, End il they the crockery broke; Then they fell back, did All the six hundred. Policemen to right of them, Folicemen to left of them, Folicemen behind them Grumbled and thundered; Growled at for rushing so, Women men pushing so; After they strove so well, And, from the tool house ther Came, no more sterved so—, All that was left of them, Fally six bundred. When will the soup be gone?
