GOOD INTENT HOUSE, TUESDAY MORNING.....FEBRUARY 20 WM. H. Williams & Co.,
BANKERS AND EXCHANGE BROKERS, FIELD BOOK FOR RATLEDAD ENGINEERS,—Containing formules for laying out curves, determining frog angles, levelling, calculating earth-work, etc., etc., together with tables of radii, ordinates, deflections, long chords,JAS. B. M'TAT LIST OF GENUINE PATENT MEDICINES, FLEMING BROTHERS. gies, levelling, calculating carth-work, etc., etc., texcher with tables of radii, ordinates, defictions, long chords, magnetic variation, logarathins and natural signs tangents, etc. etc., by John B. Henck, Ciril Engineer. Pocketbook form, $1,75.

e The object of the present-work is to supply a want very generally felt by Assistant. Engineers on Raifroads. Books of convenient form for use in the field, containing the ordinary logarathmatic tables are common enough; but a book combining, with these tables others peculiar to the Raifroad work, and especially the necessary formulae for laying out curves, turn-outs, crossings, &c., is a desideratum which this work is designed to supply.

U. S. Military Academy, West Point, April 18, 1854.—
Gentlemen: I have looked over "Henck's Field Book for Raifroad Engineers," and think it well adapted to the object its author proposes, and have no question but it will be found avery useful and practical volume both for office and field work.

Taox, April 21, 1854.

I am much pleased with Mr. Henck's little manual, the "Field Book of Raifroad Engineers." With the presentation of some of the most practical and useful of recognized processes among railway engineers, he has given others which, new at lenst in their present form, appear to possess a mint of higher value than that of mere novelty—that of being in general succeptible of available, not to say desirable, practical use. In conclusion, while I think the design of Mr. Henck's book is such as to adapt it excellently well to professional needs, I have pleasure in expressing my cordial satisfaction with its execution, alike with the perspicuity of arrangement effected by the author, and the excellent typographical taste displayed by his publishers.
