THE CITY POST DISTRICT COURT .- THE SMALL NOTE SUITS .-Yesterday morning, upon the opening of the Court, the first case called was the Commonwealth as well for the use of D. I Lawson as for Allegheny county vs. Ohio and Pernsylvania Railroad. Geo. P. Hamilton and T. B. Hamilton appeared for plaintiff; Thomas Williams, W. S. Courtney and John H. Hampton This is one of the celebrated small note proseoutions, which excited so much attention some months since. Our readers will recollect that the prosecutors in the case were tried for conspiracy, and on that charge convicted and imprisoned in the county jail. The suit is based n an act of Assembly which inflicts a penalty f $500 on any corporation passing bank notes of a less denomination than $5, unless of the relief issue of this State. The prosecutors accuse the Railroad Company of passing sixty-one notes of a less demination than the act prescribes, the fines for which will amount to $30,-500. The notes were passed in November, 1853, and the suits, from various causes, have been delayed since that time, Considerable time was occupied in empanelling a jury, which was finally composed of the 7. Mr. George P. Hamilton opened the case for the plaintiffe by stating that, this was an action against the Ohio and Penusylvania Railroad Company for violating an important and highly beneficial Act of the Assembly, passed in 1850. The jury had nothing to do with the policy of the Act; they are limited to the mere enquiry the Act; they are limited to the mere enquiry whether the defendants violated the statute. The object of the statute was to decrease the paper circulation of the Commonwealth, a rolicy pursued by the State for half a century. "Who will exchange old lamps for new." A GOOD BUILDING LOT, 22 feet front on Carson street by 100 feet in depth, in Birmingham, will be sold cheap. Enquire of GEO. F. GILLMORE, jv13 at office of the Morping Post. CONTENTS: For St. Paul and Blunesota River-The Court overruled the objections to the pardon, which was admitted as evidence, subject to the opinion of the Court on prints reserved.

The deposition of Absalom Morris was again offered in evidence.

Objected to by Mr. Williams, at some length because: 1. The evidence given by himself therein discloses an interest on his point which has not been divested, or if discharged by the alleged cancellation of the paper by which it was evidenced on the very eve of his examination, and with the advice of the plaintiff's counsel, was obviously got rid of for the purpose of enabling him to testify in the case.

2. The restimony in regard to the passing of the small notes, alleged to have been paid out by defendants, is entirely second-hand, the samo being based expressly upon a schedule compiled to have been made upon the said notes, at ordinary exceptions of the passing thereof, and the notes themselves not having been produced for identification by him.

3. The schedule referred to by the witness.
