THE CROPS. The journals in the West are all urging the farmers to put in abundant crops of springwheat, potaties, oorn, and whatover may serve as a sub-stitute for wheat. There will be no supply from stitute for wheat. Increasing of the supply from last year's crop, and the farmers need not fear low prices. The next year will furnish abundant demand for all that the soil can produce. It is, says the Philadelphis Ledger, famine and starva-tion prices that we have to fear, and not a glut-ted mortat. The dry fall presented them from ted market. The dry fall prevented them from getting in wheat freely, and they must not rely upon what the far West may produce to make up for their lack. Let them cover overy spot they can accupy with something that will do for the

GEORGIA. The weather in Cherokee, Georgia, is very fa-

Plant One More Acre. The following good advice to the farmers of the State of New York we take from the N. Y. Tribune of the 18th inst. It will apply with equal force to the farmers of Pennsylvania and

Have the farmers of this State ever thought what the result would be if they should plant one year an extra acre of land? Will it appear improbable when we say that this would give na: the product of one hundred and seventy thou. and acres in addition to the usual crop. As an instance, let us suppose that each farmer should plant this additional acro in Indian corn, and that it averaged only thirty bushels to the sore. The product would be five millions one hundred thousand busbels. Now, independent of their own selfish inducements to raise a crop of grain. to sell, we contend it is the duty of every farmor in America to plant, this very spring, one more acre. If it cannot be planted in spring wheat, oats, or maise, then plant it in buckwheat, or rutabagas. But he it what it may, either one thing or the other, we urge you to increase the number of your planted acres. We urge you for your own sake, for the sake of humanity, to increase the products of earth this year. Endesvor to add to the supply of whatsoever will sustain the life of man or beast during the exigencies of next winter. Consider yourself ap-97 nted by Providence a special committee to provide against a famine, such as last season afflict, laborers upon public works for several years and past, they have been drawn off from agriculture; Buddenly, with a reduced supply of grain, comes a foreign demand, and such an increase in the value of beef cattle that immense quantities of corn have been used in feeding beeves for the market. Then the unprecedented drouth of st summer cut off the crops to such an extent that the demand to carry through a hard winter and late spring, has completely exhausted, the store houses of old grain, and there is probably a smaller stock on hand this day than we have bad in comparison with the population, any stime in half a century. We are not alarmiata, but we deem it necessary to arouse the country to a sense of the exigencies of present circum-stances. What would be the result of another
