TRIAL OF THE STEAM FIRE ENGINE .- The steam Fire Engine Young America, arrived in our city, per Ohio and Pennsylvania Raliroud, from Cleveland, on Wednes day night, and was taken to the Neptune Engine House, o Seventh street, where during yesterday morning, it was vis-ited by a large number of our citizens, curious to see a ma ine which has excited so much public attention lately. The weight of the engine, we believe is about 5000 pounds, and its capacity for throwing water is stated to be about equal to five of our ordinary hand engines, though from th ial, which subsequently took place, we think, it is hardly It was manufactured by Messrs. Shawk & Latte, of Cincinnati. The former person is the inventor, and the present machine has been exhibited through different ities by him. We understand the engine is valued at $800 In the afternoon, as the hour announced for its exhibisition approached, a crowd began to assemble in front the engine house, and by two o'clock, Seventh street was enselvpacked with an anxious throng. Four horses were a ched to the machine and as it was drawn out of the house and moved along, it was followed by an immense number of persons to the place of exhibition, on the corner of Gran and Eighth streets, where a still larger crowd were await ing its arrival. The throng here became so dense that it was with the nimost difficulty the engine could make it orale; but as the engine began to work more effectively, The water was thrown in steady, continuous streams, withof the trial, and would have been sufficient to have sub dued the fiercest fire in a very short time. We did not see the distance measured, but understand it was about or hundred and eighty-neven feet, horizontally. The trial lasted about two hours, and seemed to give from the Committee appointed by the Firemen's Associa-The immense crowd around interfered so much with the operations of those having charge of the engine, that it dense a throng, this was an extremely difficult task, and hing firmness and good nature of the Mavor's officers. fortunately prevented any serious row. V. P.; WM. REA, S. S. BRYAN, W. K. NIMICK, J. M. PENNOCK WEEKLY MONEY ARTICLE. PITTSBURGH, May 11, 1855. The Money market for the week has been quite easy, with an adequate supply for every legitimate purpose. All the Banks are comfortable, and doing most of the first-class paper offered. We hear of no tightness anywhere: mer chants are doing a safe, legitimate business, though rather contracted—still, there is no disposition to expand beyond in the several banks, are being met with great promptness. which, of itself, speaks well for the general state of affairs Another item, we notice does credit to our merchants, is the fact that they all seem anxious and are making strenu ous efforts to pay up their Eastern accounts. The West, generally, is paying up well, and buying only just what they actually need, which is one of the causes of the un usually easy money markets of the East. This is just the thing we must now do-get out of debt, and business in a way through. The warshouses in the neighborhood, the short time will wear the sound, healthy appearance it bridges, fences, canal boats, and houses, were all covered. There were probably four or five thousand people present. After the engine was properly arranged, the suction pipe, which is about six inches in diameter, was extended into canal, and five mede under the boiler. In nine minutes from the time the fire was lighted, steam was up, but from a derargement of the machinery, water was not thrown until nearly an hour after.

It is indeed gratifying to observe the prudence sought after, and though it may be difficult for many to raise what money they want, still it does not grow out of any general scarcity. We look forward to a season now happily near at hand and full of encouragement; prospects, as it advances, look brighter and brighter, and should the season continue to be favorable we have every reason to expect the largest crops raised for a number of years past. So far, we have been highly favored by a benificent Providence with a season well adapted to all the wants of agricultural interests. We shall need a very large supp'y this year, to reduce the present high rates of various kinds of provisions; and, from present indications, we shall want in, express themselves unqualifiedly in favor of the ma a large amount for export, in view of a continuance of the war, of which there is no immediate prospect for its speedy The Western Railroans are generally rising in value, the required the utmost vigilance of a large force of police to activity in freight and travel being represented as unusukeep a vacant place sufficiently large to work in.
