long before Prof. R. saw at to pass an opinion upon them. My reason for publishing the extract was in the fact that he was well known in the city, and not be ause his recommendation was necessiry to establish the merit of the Pianos. In conclusion, I may add that they stand on their own merit, and are endorsed by such men a: List, Thalberg, and others, solely on account of their merit.

mh23 CHARLOTTE BLUME. NOTICE.

In an advertisement of Mrs. Blame, in this paper, my nate is made use of in connection with the Hamburg Pianos. Such use is unauthorized by me, and, moreover, the matter is incorrectly stated and misapplied. The facts are theae: About a year ago I wrote to Baumgarten & are theae: About a year ago I wrote to Baumgarten & Hamburg, Germany, for a Plano Heins, Plano makers in Hamburg, Germany, for a Plano of a new and peculiar construction, and of which I farnished a minute description. They replied that they did not manufacture any such, and requested me to examine a Plano of their make sent to Mrs. Blume, at the same time offering to furnish me with a similar one, in case I liked it. I accordingly examined the instrument, but as it did not please me, I declined purchasing of them. I have since hought and am now using a Plano from the factory of Nurss & Class, N. Y. CONCLUDED ] The great question relative to the disposal of Bossy's children could not be asked that day, for the Sabbath was revered and held as sacred time in my distant mountain home. And never did it seem so long and wearlsome, diversified as it was by the Catechism and Bible stories, and sweet pealm singing; never at least until this Sabbath, when I longed for the sun to go down and rise again, for my truant heart was more full of Bossy than the Bible. To morrow, and that matter shall be settled! was the last waking I was awake and up before Monday's sun, and tumbling over Ben, and ran into the kitchen, shouting lustily, "Father!" He had gone to the barn, and away I scampered crying impetuous-ly at scon as I saw him "Father! father, will

Bossy's children be mine or yours? Can't my calf's calves be mine, father? Won't they be "We'll see about it," was his quiet raply. "Well, father, if Bossie is mine, I don't see why her calves won't be mine," determined to bring my father to a definite agreement in the important point. "Well," he said. "Well; and what does that mean father? They are mine, are they? all Bossy's children, they are mine.' "As like as not, Harry, but better wait till I jumped enthusiastically up, exclaiming "Ob, what a drove!" How I longed to race over the bills, and tell the satisfactory adjustment of or Storage and Drayage as much as possible.

I tried to stop my tears, and sat down upon a block. "Mother," I at length asked, breaking the mournful silence, "what did the Sheriff take Bossy off for ?" For a debt which your poor father could not pay," she answered sorrowfully.

"And can they take anything for a debt?" I arked with anxious interest.

"Anything—even to the house over our heads: though I pray God it may never come to that,"
and her voice trembled a very little.
'Thin I will never be in debt!' the current of my feelings abruptly turning, "never! never! never! never! I cried with a feerce energy; ', Never! it ear immage again dimmed my eyes with tears. "And shall I never see her again?" it was some-time before I could enter on this question, and then tremulously enough.

"You can go down to Mr. Gibbs' and see her, but you must try and keep up heart Harry," she added with a forced cheerfulness; "perhaps things will go better by and by, and maybe if you are a good boy, you can carn a calf your-"And if I do, never a sheriff shall lay a finger on her!' and with a proud sorrow I went back to the field. Ben and Neptune brought home the news. Neither could I trust myself with a the cows. Neither could I trust myself with a sight of the barn yard, and slender appetite had I for my bread and milk, for it was not Bossy's mother's milk. Just before going to bed I crept round the house to take a peep where Bossy used to be. I took a mournful pleasure in going where Bossy had been, and I almost bopad, by some strange turn of fortunes wheel, she might still be found behind the shaddows. "Ab, it's no use?" I sighed leaning against a post, in the light of a young moon; "It's no use; Bossy has gent—my drove has gone, and nothing is left—when I grow up no sheriff comes near me—I'll never be in debt. No taking my Bossy, Mr. Sheriff! No, Mr. Sheriff! No, is ?" and I shook. my finger at the ideal image of that respectable official in stern defiance.

After going to bed, I could not sleep for thinking of the day's sad history. "Joshua is best off; he's got his lamp; and I—I have lost my
