NE INSTANCE of the virtue and power of SENNOLDE'

NERVE LINIMENT I will mention, in Justice to its inventor. I had a violent attack of Dysentery, and was quite prostrated frem violent pain and griping. I could not turn without assistance. From one free and faithful application of the Limiment over my bowels and back, for haif an hour, I was, as it were, instantly relleved; and was able to turn myself, and got up in the course of an hour or less. I think I could not have lived an hour if I had not got relief, for my sufferings were so great.—San't Mollegor,
