Outdons-Other Mechanical Curiosities-Politics, fc. HABBISBURG, September 5, 1855. Messrs. Editors-You will probably want some scount of the gathering here to the State Agri ultural Fair. It is a central and accessible oint in the State, the weather is very fine, the armers of Eastern Pennsylvania are intelligent and thriving, and one would suppose that the crowd would at least equal that at Pittsburgh two years ago. This is the opening day, and the show opens with but a meagre attendance. We have the promise of much better things to morrow, and shall probably not be disappointed. The President, General Scott and other distinguished persons are to be here, and it is supposed an immense crowd will be in in the morning; but, whatever "personages" may come. the exhibition of articles of useful invention and echanical skill will evidently fall short of the lisplay at Pitt: burgh in 1853.
