LINE. Mesars. Editors :- Since the experiment consolidating the several railroad companies omposing the line of the New York Central Bailroad has proved so advantageous and profitsble by enhancing its stook and oredit and reducing the expenses incident to the separate organizations of the several companies, it may not be approfitable to look around to see whether the same end may not be attained by similar means in other sections.

Philadelphia and St. Louis being both situated near the same latitude, it is evident that the shortest distance between those points will be found by the Toute: lying for its whole length began to sink their ships, blow up their maganearest that latitude. A glanco at a map of the United States will show that the Pennsylvania Railroad and Its connections east and west very nearly fulfil this condition and is the nearest practicable route to an air line that can be had between those cities. The different links composing this chain of near one thousand miles of main trunk railroad leading directly through the central and most populous portion of the four great States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, are all now nearly completed, and except about sixty miles, all laid with a uniform gauge of four feet eight and half inches. ## FOREIGN NEWS,

The U.S. M. steamer "Washington," from Bremen via Southampton, arrived at New York

By the Washington we have the first account of the fall of Sebastopol. On the 8th inst., the allied forces attacked the defences of Sebastopol and the French succeeded in gaining possession of the Malakoff. The English, who attempted the Redan were not successful. During the night the Russians, in the exacerbation of despair, zines, and burn their city, and on the following morning Sebastopol was evacuated, and the communication between the north forts and the town broken off.

THE PLAN OF THE BATTLE. (From the London Mercantile Gazette, 11th.) The place was attacked in four directions. The British troops attempted the storming of the Redan; the French attacked the Malakoff; the extreme right of the French made a diver-sion on the Little Bedan; and a united attack of the English, French, and Sardinians was made on the Central Battery. All these attacks appear to have been made simultaneously with great spirit and energy, but the one which was ntly successful, and eventually decided the fate of the day was that made by our allies, led y General Bosquot and General M'Mahon, on Nevertholess, upon the final establishment Gen. Bosquet's division of the French army i the Malakoff Tower, Prince Gornschakoff stantly proceeded to execute a pre-arranged plan or the destruction and evacuation of the town. All that night the harbor was illuminated with the larid glare of burning ships, and from time o time the explosion of the vast magazines rent asunder enormous piles of masonry, while an all devouring conflagration swept like the scourge Heaven over the devastated city. Sebastopol has perished, like Moscow, by the hands of her defenders, while her successful assailants nessed the awful speciacle unscathed. Means of retreat had been secured by a long bridge of rafts across the great harbor, and for many hours large masses of troops were removed by this passage to the northern side; but at eight o'clock in the morning, the 9th, this comication was stopped, the whole of the works and the town being then evacuated. If, as probable, any of the Russians remained on the south bank after that hour, they must eithe have perished in the fire or fallen into the hands of the besiegers. About 500 of the wounded we know, remained in the Fort St. Paul, and for them an armistice was asked; but, with their acquatomed indifference to the preservation of life and property, the Russians were determined destroy the city rather than to capitulate and they executed their design.

The position of Prince Gurtschakoff's army after the main body had effected its retre across the barbor, was, therefore, as follows: His extreme right, consisting of the corps mos actively engaged in the defence of the place rests upon the Severnaia work, or Star Fort and holds the strongly intrenched positions of the north shore, where, no doubt, considerab reparations have been made for the emergency s centre covers the Belbek, and is protoc in front by the field works thrown up along the ridge of lukermann. His left wing consists of Liprandi's corps, occupying the ground from

Mackenzie's Farm to the heights of Aitoder, o the Bakshiserai road. The mere occupation of the north side of the port is a barren advantage, for, although might hold a garrison, it cannot shelter a defeat-el army; and it is obvious that, after the failure f the main object, all the ability and generalship of the Russians will be required to save the whole body of their forces in the Crimen from destruction. We therefore infer that the north rn forts will either be held for a time by a lim ited garrison, or, more probably, abandoned, in the hope of saving the army. Prince Cortschakoff's plan of campaign ha ong since been made; judging, therefore, from the accustomed tactics of the Kussian army, t well as from the extreme difficulty of his preson position, we incline to the opinion that he wi adopt the course of a general and immediate re and even after the harbor of Sebastopol itself ountry were set ringing; thegs were hoisted on of operations of the invading armies, would be Peninsula which is accessible from the coast.

Fighting, as they are, at closed fists, without the means of escape, the defeated Russian army should be compelled to lay down its arms, or to fight a general action, which would crown the series of our successes by a still more decisive victory. The peninsula itself is besieged and well nigh invested by our flects and armies, and command of a single road be lost, the whele line by which supplies and communicaone can reach the Russians, is gone. As these dues may possibly give rise to a serious dispute between the United States and Denmark, it will be interesting to know what they are. The "Sound" is a parrow strait lying between the island of Zetland, belonging to the Danes, and the Swedish coast, and gives entrance to the Baltic sea. The fortress of Cronburg Castle commands the passage, and exacts a payment from all vessels entering the Baltic; the ships of Denmark herself have to pay, as well as foreign tonnage. England, France, Holland and Sweden pay a duty of one per cent. on every cargo entering the Baltic. Other countries, including the United States, pay one and nising this duty, was concluded between the United States and Denmark. This treaty, however, according to one of its stipulations, may be dissolved by either of the parties, provided they give one year's notice of their intention This notice has been given by the United States and hence the dispute.

Fahnestock's Vermifuge for an ant-belmintle in my practice; my attention was first called to it in a case where I had failed to blender worms with caloned, pink and cowhage. A bottle was obtained and used with desirable effect; since then I have prescribed it for hundreds of patients, and in a large majority of cases with complete success. In one case a single bottle of the medicine brought away from one patient synchyticity worms. I have never known it to do harm, and I am induced to make this statement from an honest conviction that it is make this statement from an honest conviction that it is the mast chis statement from an honest conviction that it is the most valuable Vermifuge yet known. Such is my considence in its "worm killing" powers, that I recommend it to other physicians in this section, and furnish them with the article.
