The Court confined the license to those whole sale merchants, grocers and dealers who had already under the protection of former laws invested capital.

The Court found it impracticable to grant a certain number of licenses to each Ward, for the reason that in some Wards there are no wholesale dealers; and this wholesale business has locality in one or two Wards. To commit the license to one or two individuole in such Wards, would be to grant a monopo ly, without diminishing the sales, and such dismination would be capricious; for each comes under the same reason, and to discriminate, would be to make a distinction without a differ-
