A LIE REFUTED.

In the Times, a few evenings ago, a communi cation appeared stating that Rody Patterson was born in Ireland. It was also understood that affidavits were being prepared yesterday to give a coloring of plausibility to the falsehood. Had he been a native of the Emerald lele it would have been neither a sin nor a shame. But to prove the recklessness and desperation of our adversaries the undersigned resolved to lay the truth before the public. The following affidavit should set the matter at rest to the confusion of ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

The Know Nothings are asserting that the Democratic and Citizen's candidates are intend ing to repeal the Sunday Liquor Law. It is false. Nobody asks the repeal of tha law. It is a good one, and ought to be steadily

Voters, believe no such falsehood. Believe no eleventh hour lies, circulated to late for contradiction, against our candidate for Sheriff. Hon S A. Douglas and the People of lilingis. Hon. Stephen A. Douglas has been most un mercifully abused for misrepresenting the senti ment in Illinois on the Nebraska-Kansas que tion. A few days ago he and Judge Trumbut (the gentleman who was elected last winter U. Senator in place of Gen. Shields) met at Salem to discuss political subjects. Mr. Dorg las there told his opponent that, standing as each did, one or the other must misrepresent the people of Illinois. If Trumbull and his intrigues are right, be (Douglas) was wrong. CAMEBON'S CANDIDATES. - David L. Smith an 1 C. S. Eyster are the candidates of Simon Cameron for this county. They resolved last winter that Western Pennsylvania should not have the United States Senator, though clearly entitled to it. They fought for Cameron through thick and thin; and now they are seeking to go ing then, though he is now, "constitu back again to help defeat any western candidate and help Cameron once more. The voters sure ly have not forgotten last winter, and the almost universal expression of indignation at the course pursued by our mombers on the Senator question. Two of the same members are asking a re election. All who think that the western half of the State should have justice, should vote elected to the following offices: Governor, Canal Commissioner, Speaker of the House, Cterks Schools, candidate for the U S Senate, and nearly all the lesser offices The Speaker of the thing is given to the East by the Know Noth ings; and they ask a re-election that the same continued. Will the voters of Allegheny coun of not less than forty in the Second Ward of this 2d. That his mejority in the Third Ward will be considerably over three hundred. Bd. That he will go out of the city with over six hundred majority.

4th. That he will be elected 6th. That Judge Wilkins, and at least four of our Assembly men, will be elected. 6th. That John Birmingham will be elected

7th. That Eph. Jones will not be the highest man on the Know Nothing tloket. 8th. That the falsehoods circulated against Rody Patterson will belp him for more than they harm him.

9th. That J. H. Poster will be one of the lowest on the K. N. ticket. 10th. That Arnold Plumer's majority will not Allegheny ne less than 12.000. It is a bad year for oyphering, there is so

A PROSCRIPTIVE VISION BY HOMESPUN.

Twas eve; in caim repose all nature lay, Whilst naught disturb'd the solitary hour, As molted into night the ling'ring day, Obesilent to the sun's departed power.
Wript was the scene in twillight's musting mood, That soothing charm, of mingled in light and day; By whose sweet influence so oft we're woo'd in fancy's dreams, thro other results to stray, O'ar mem'y's scared tablet dropt a tear, Or in imagination rouse some future fear.

'Twas thus: as on Mount Vernon's hallow'd side True thus; as on Mount Vernon's nailowu side
I lay, indulging in some pensive thought,
When lot'there seemed in twilight's miss to glide,
A vision, from commingling vap.rs wrought.
A storm had burst, its argry force ne'er spent,
Swept o'er a land destruction's fatal doom;
A buted breath, its withering impulse lent,
To plunge sweet hopes in slavery's darkest gloom;
