

POTTSVILLE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 9, 1838.

For Pamphlets, Checks, Cards, Bills of Lading, and all kinds of every description, neatly printed at this Office at the lowest cash prices.

An advertisement was left at this office, by an individual requesting us to publish his wife. We cannot comply with this request unless we receive TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS in advance, according to our terms published a short time since.

A PORTER FAILURE IN SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.—A meeting of the Porter men was held at the East Schuylkill Haven Hotel, about three and a half miles from this place, on Saturday last. We learn that the landlord had been ordered to prepare a dinner for forty persons; which he accordingly did; but, alas! alas! when the dinner guests were assembled and counted, the number present amounted only to 12, all told! And this number composed the whole meeting. Among the persons present, was a special Agent of the Post Master General, from Washington. The landlord, we understand, was quite disappointed; he calculated on a rich harvest of profits from the entertainment; but, alas! the empty places at his board, were an unexpected drawback! We suspect that the landlord will never again make extensive preparations on the credit of a Porter dinner in Schuylkill county.

New Facts.—New facts are every day showing the progressive, intimate, and close connexion between Locofocoism and Infidelity! No man woman or child can shut his or her eyes to this connexion. The United States Gazette of the 7th inst. says:

"A Democratic paper in making out a mock dictionary, has the following. SAINT—Some old hypocrite renowned in ecclesiastical history. This writer does not say, continues the Gazette, whether he alludes to St. John or St. Paul."

We have another new fact. The editor of the only REMAINING INFIDEL PAPER in New York, has been appointed to a lucrative office in the Custom House, in that city, by the Collector, sanctioned of course by the President of the U. S.

Delegates to the 4th of June Convention. In Lancaster county, THREE HUNDRED DELEGATES, and in Bucks county two HUNDRED DELEGATES, have been appointed to the 4th of June Convention, to be held at Reading.

Oxford District—Maine.—Sufficient returns have been received from this district to show that the Van Buren candidate has been elected by a majority of 4 or 500 votes. This was the strongest Van Buren district in Maine, and gave 1900 majority for the Van Buren candidate for Governor last year. This district became vacant by the death of Mr. Carter.

It is stated that about ninety persons lost their lives by the explosion of the Oronoko.

Mr. Clay's resolution, on the subject of the currency, which we published last week, has been referred to the committee on Finance, of which Mr. Wright is chairman, by a strict party vote. This virtually defeats the resolution, and shows conclusively that the Government is determined not to aid the Banks in their attempt to resume specie payments.

The New Berlin Star, of May 3rd, says:—"JOHN ECKE, of Solingrove, in this county, who has ten or twelve thousand dollars of shin-plasters in circulation, has made an assignment of all his property to one of his near relations. We have some of his trash, which we will freely give for half its value. Report says that he has absconded."

Borough Election.

The Election held in this borough, on Monday last, resulted as follows:

Table listing election results for Chief Burgess, Council, High Constable, and Auditors, including names like Jacob Reed, Benjamin Coombe, Jr., Daniel Klapp, George C. Wynkoop, Samuel Lewis, Benjamin T. Taylor, etc.

The names of the candidates in stic, were nominated at a public meeting of the citizens.

Mr. G. H. Clark has disposed of the establishment of the Harrisburg Intelligencer to Messrs. R. S. Elliott and C. McCurdy. The same Whig course is to be pursued by the new editors that was approved in the former proprietors.

The Hon. Eleazer W. Ripley, member of the House of Representatives, from Louisiana, died at his residence in New Orleans, on the 29th of March last, making the eighth seat in the House of Representatives that has been vacated by death, or otherwise, this session.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT. A SPECK OF WAR—FRANCE AND MEXICO—MEXICO BLOCKADED.

We a day or two since gave an article in relation to the policy of foreign Governments, especially France, with regard to Mexico. Intelligence since received, and especially the following highly important official papers, which are copied from the Washington Globe of Wednesday, are greatly calculated to strengthen the views then expressed. It will be perceived that the commander of the French fleet in the Gulf of Mexico has DETERMINED UPON A BLOCKADE OF ALL THE PORTS OF THAT REPUBLIC.

This intelligence is indeed important, especially as it may lead to still more serious consequences.—Phila. Inquirer.

The original charter of the State of Pennsylvania has been framed, covered with glass, and placed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, for the inspection of visitors.

VIRGINIA ELECTION.

In Mr. Patton's district Banks (V. E.) has been elected to Congress. The Whigs have elected 65 delegates to the Legislature, and the Loco Focos 42. Of the counties yet to be heard from, electing 27 delegates, we had last year 5, and the Van Buren men 21. The Richmond Whig says: "We stand a fair chance for Cabell, Mason and Jackson, Patrick, Randolph, and Tyson.—If we retain the 6 we had last year, and gain these 5, the count will then be 76 Whigs, and 58 administration men in the House of Delegates.—The parties in the Senate—29 administration, and 10 Whigs. Joint Whig vote 88, administration 80. Whig majority 8. The reader can judge of the chances from the data here given."

The recent astonishing result in VIRGINIA have been brought about simply by the calm, cool, deliberate reflection of the people. There was no panic whatever, and less pecuniary distress in Virginia than in any other State of the Union. Nay, the Whigs themselves, not content with carrying the State, had not made a thorough political organization. But the Popular volunteers mustered stronger than the Administration regulars. The "Democracy of numbers" rose up against the Rulers—and said, "we will not have these men, say longer, to reign over us."—Alexandria Gazette.

On account of the scarcity of money and the difficulty of making sales, a number of the manufacturers in Lowell, Massachusetts, have determined to suspend business.

The Whigs of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, at a recent public meeting, resolved that Lancaster County will give the Farmer Governor RHYER, a majority of 3,500 votes.

The Vicksburg Register, in describing the late fatal explosion of the steamboat Oronoko, which occurred in consequence of the retention of the steam while the boat was stopping to receive passengers, says:

The deck passengers were upon the lower deck abaft the engine. The berths were filled, and the floors were covered with mattresses. We should not suppose the room would accommodate more than 100 persons. The number of deck passengers on board is estimated at 80 to 100.—A gentleman who was at work among them, a carpenter, estimates the number at 150. The steam was kept through the whole length of the boat with the strength of the lightning current carrying every thing before it. A great number were blown overboard, nearly if not quite all were scalded severely, some completely exsiccated and shockingly mangled; some frantic with despair and agony jumped overboard; the deck was strewn with 50 helpless sufferers and the river alive with them swimming to the bank, then from it in the wildest phrenzy. To detail the many distressing circumstances connected with this dreadful tragedy would be too revolting to our readers.

It is stated in the New Orleans Bulletin that the steamer Peru passed up shortly after the accident; and although hailed by every signal of distress—not only by ringing the bell, but by some hundred persons running to and fro on the deck, waving their handkerchiefs and exhibiting sheets from the hurricane deck of the Oronoko,—she kept her course without rendering any assistance whatever; and after assistance was obtained from the steamers New Albany and Independence she returned, and without offering a helping hand, obtained all the passengers she could and proceeded on her way.

The New Orleans True American has the following statement: Among the victims to this one who, by his own acknowledgment, justly merit his doom. He was a known blackleg, and in the extremity of agony in which he died, confessed himself the incendiary who lately fired the Pinkard House, with the fiendish hope of burning up the city of Vicksburg! Revenge for the acts by which his fellow gamblers were routed him, and denounced another gambler, named Doctor Saunders, not only as his assistant in the act, but as his partner in the intended sack of the city. That some such purpose is still intended by the infuriated gambler, there is still good reason to believe, and it behooves the citizens of Vicksburg to keep an active look out. We hope to acquire still further information on this subject.

The circumstances related in the following paragraph present a new evidence of the necessity of legislation on the part of Congress, to protect the persons and property of travellers in steamboats.

From the Wheeling Gazette, April 30. Disgraceful Outrage.—We cannot find language sufficiently strong in which to express our opinion of a most rascally occurrence, which has just been related to us. The steamers Ontario and Pioneer in coming up the river, came together about 130 miles this side of Cincinnati.

The former, in attempting to pass the latter, as we learn, ran into her, without doing any material injury. A short time afterwards in attempting again to pass the steamer, making in order to return the compliment, ran into the Ontario, striking her near the stern, mashing in her guards, and KILLING ONE PERSON, (a girl of about 12 years of age), and DANGEROUSLY WOUNDING TWO OTHERS, a lady and child. The pilot we understand, is named GEORGE BELL.

"He Died at the Pool Dieth."—J. Delaw, a young man employed in the Iron Works at Saugerties, Ulster co. drank for a wager a pint and a half of brandy, and soon fell senseless. He was blind, but no blood oozed out of the vein until just as he was about to be buried, which gave rise to a groundless report that he was buried alive or in a swoon.

FIRST GUN FROM MISSISSIPPI.

Under this head the Louisville Journal of Monday says:—"At noon on the first day the vote stood—Fremont and Ward, 120, Davis 6, Calhoun 4. The Journal omits to state the town or district in which such vote was given. But we quarrel not with the Journal for its casual neglect in this particular. The news is good enough for any part of that State!

MISSISSIPPI ELECTION.

THE FIRST GUN FROM MISSISSIPPI. The special election for members of Congress terminated in Mississippi on Tuesday, and this evening's Southern Mail brings in the returns from one of the nearest points—Columbus, Lowndes county.

[From the Southern Argus—Extra.]

COLUMBUS, Mississippi, April 25, 1838.

UNPARALLELED AND UNPRECEDENTED VICTORY.

The polls closed last evening, and we hasten to inform our friends of the result in this precinct.

Prentiss, (Whig) 490
Word, 455
Claiborne, (V. B. Loco Foco) 258
Davis, 233

Thus does Columbus respond to the recent victory in her sister, but older city of New York. The shouts of her triumph are borne on the balmy wings of our Southern breeze, in clear and silvery tones, and will be grateful to the willing ear of thousands of freemen. Lowndes county will show a result gratifying to every enemy of the present administration, and to every true patriot in the Union. The change in this city is astounding. Not even the most ardent Whig ever conceived such a result. In July last, our favorite candidate, General Lee, received what was then thought a triumphant majority of six votes. Now we show to the world that we have a majority of 222 patriots who will not "how the knee to Baa!"

Shocking Tragedy.—The Petersburg Intelligencer of Tuesday says: "We learn that a man by the name of Marble, in Prince George's, shot a man by the name of Ledbetter and his wife, on Friday last. They were both shot at the same fire, and died instantly. We have heard a statement of the circumstances which led to this dreadful outrage, but do not regard it as sufficiently authentic to be made public."

There is no protestant country in the world where so many murders are committed as in the United States. We are getting to be almost as murderous and assassin-like as the Spaniards or Portuguese.

From the Harrisburg Intelligencer.

THE BANDITTI—THEIR DEN!!

"It is the part of man to fear and tremble. When the most mighty God, by tokens, sends such dreadful heralds to astonish us!"

The terrific flashings of insulted Deity have pierced the dark CHAMBER OF INIQUITY, known as No. 31, in the Hotel which was struck by lightning on Saturday last!

The veil which concealed the phantasmagoria of the midnight convulsions of SATURNALIAN conspirators, was rent asunder—river on atoms, and the instruments used in deeds of darkness, disclosed to the vulgar gaze of the multitude? The elements—the vivifying—terror-striking engines of the sky, conspire with honest men on earth, to purge our Borough from the last remains of this foul plague spot! It is not a little marvellous that the "forked lightning" should have come in blighting contact with this CHAMBER OF MIDNIGHT REVELRY! The electric fluid vivified the thick darkness which brooded over the symbols of the late riot, of which its walls were the silent witnesses! And when the anxious throng, rushing through each chamber, fearful that the lightning had communicated fire to some portion of it, came unexpectedly upon this "dark hole," the depository of the gambling apparatus, they were astounded! Here their astonished visions witnessed the wildest freaks of the wanton elements; the fierce lightning had scattered in chaotic confusion the "Kings," and Queens," with their suits, who held dominion within the confines of this Pandemonium! Their royalty purchased for them no immunity or exemption from the common lot which fell to all their companions; the "FARO BANK"—with sundry and divers cloths; covered with mystic devices of unintelligible import, were found strewn in undistinguished masses around the sanctus sanctorum, whilst innumerable numbers of fantastically painted "paste-boards"—doubtless the mystic signs employed in the incantations of the dark spirits who ever and anon hold their carousals within the walls of this "Hell of Evil Omen!" were gazed upon by vulgar eyes, and trodden beneath the sacrilegious feet of the wondering spectators!

The good citizens of Harrisburg had long since heard of this secret haunt;—many had doubtless had ingress to it to their sorrow, and as an opportunity was now providentially afforded them of scanning its interior, they readily availed themselves of it. Their visit confirmed their worst suspicions, and they retired from its threshold, sickened with the spectacle! Nay more: they came forth from beholding the revolting scene with their hearts sternly nerved and their resolves firmly taken, to stand by the press and sustain the editor who would lash with unmitigated severity the man, or combination of men, who will trample upon the laws and outrage the moral sense of the community, of which they are members, by the "hellish practices" of which this room furnishes ample proof! A thunder-bolt has been more than once launched against the walls of this house, by the arm of the OROKENT! The fiery cauldrons of the sky have flashed the furnace flames that in their wondrous repose, into this CHAMBER OF WICKEDNESS, and let those who thus brave the Most High God, beware lest the next flash may transfer in death the audacious contemners of these portentous warnings!

DISTRESSING INCIDENT.

Mr. BANNAN: I take advantage of a leisure minute to inform you that the dwelling of H. FOSTER, Esq. Port Carbon, received on Saturday afternoon last, about three o'clock, a fearful crash from lightning, though I am happy to learn that the family escaped serious detriment.—Before it reached its termination, the beautiful but destructive fluid was seen for several moments, as it sped its flight diagonally across the village; and in its course it communicated a severe shock to a young gentleman who was walking along the street, perhaps a hundred and fifty yards distant from the place adverted to. He had a cotton umbrella raised in the left hand; and instantly, as the flash darted over his head, the instrument was dashed from him, and with his right hand grasping his left arm, he sank to the ground. From this position he was taken into an adjoining store, and in a little time the effects passed entirely off.

I understand the building has suffered damage to a very considerable extent.—One of the dormer windows is shivered to pieces, and the other is much injured. In fact, the whole western extremity of the house has evidently sustained a violent concussion. The chimney, at this part of the roof, one or two rafters, a large portion of the plastering in the attic, and the two front windows immediately below, are all exceedingly shattered. After completing this work of disaster, by some means the subtle matter entered into the tin water-spout, leading to the ground, and in this manner it made its exit below, leaving traces of its withering influence on the paint and boards with which it came in contact at that point.

Taken all together, it is a casualty of such a character as to warn our citizens to avail themselves of the cheap and safe security bequeathed by the estimable Franklin, viz. the LIGHTNING ROD. At this late day, it were useless and degrading to the memory of that distinguished philosopher, to question the utility, or to point out the modus operandi of this simple but powerful preservative. Every one knows its value, and the principle upon which it acts; and every one therefore, should be prompt to insure the great immunity which it affords.

FOR THE MINERS JOURNAL. Mr. BANNAN.—The following intercepted letter would seem to be addressed to Mr. Noah, the worthy Editor of the New York Evening Star; and as it hits off some of us here, in this city of Anthracite, with ears as itching for news and novelties as ever Athens was in its most curious days, I give it to you for what it is worth, as evidence of what strangers think of us. Yours, &c. A SUBSCRIBER.

"Potsville, 11th May, 1838. "Dear Mordecai: During my visit to this interesting elevation, to get some relief from the noise and bustle and confusion and jamming of omnibuses, in Wall street, I have been amused with the success of a Phrenological adventurer, who lately stopped here, on a Fowling expedition, in his 'scientific' profession of dapper-making, and hit upon a very profitable vein in the crania of his game. The gentleman, by the fluency of his gift of the gab and characteristic inquisitiveness, seems to be from 'down east'—that 'land of steady habits'—for 'money-making.' He was here but a few days, and feathered his nest by making game not only of many of the cautious gamblers, but took into his nets no small number of the gossamer, and in some instances, whole broods of little gossams. Like a cute Yankee, so sincere did he appear himself in the truth of his 'science'—better called gim-crackery—that he persuaded, by his preliminary gratis lectures, and his plausibility of manner, something rising of three hundred and perhaps nearer four hundred, to let him feel their soft places, when he assured them that they really had brains! an interesting fact, which must have been to many of them a new discovery. Among the rest of his subjects was a remarkable character of this place, and the leader of the newly discovered 'Primitives,' but who is quite an original jack-of-all-trades, and besides an expounder of the gospel, and an excellent judge of horse flesh, is a great wag. The disciple of Gaul and Spurzheim was completely at fault; pronouncing, in his private examination in the morning, quite the reverse of his character of the man the previous evening, at his public examination. I could tell you a great number of amusing good bits of character which he did make, (aided probably more from what he had previously culled by ear, and from physiognomy, than his phrenology,) but that decency, decorum, and great personal respect, and regard for the estimable individuals operated on, forbids me to do it. Now that this Fowler has gone off with the feathers he has plucked, I would advise you to send here some angler, of which there are a goodly number always in Gotham, and he may be sure to catch a plentiful supply of good ones here also. But I must finish, as the Doctor closes the mail precisely at nine. Your friend, MORDECAI ELIAS."

Cheering.—The Gettysburgh Star says that Old Adams is thoroughly roused, and assures its friends abroad, that she will give the Farmer Governor one thousand majority in October.

The number of persons who perished miserably by the late explosion of the steamboat Oronoko, near Cincinnati, is now estimated at two hundred and thirty or forty souls.

A Country Seat in Texas.—Col. Wharton's Residence—at the distance of six miles from Velasco, is of the most picturesque kind. The mansion occupies one of the most beautiful situations that could be chosen, being located in an island of live oaks—(Islands in Texas are clumps of forest wood in the midst of prairie)—the grounds are ornamented with a great variety of shrubs and trees, and in front is a lake of clear water with bluff banks, spreading over about fifteen acres, in the shape of a horse shoe. The house is situated on the outside of the shoe, at the point of the lake corresponding to the toe of the shoe, the garden being immediately on the edge of the water. Here the Col. has an apparatus for watering the garden from the lake—and in the beds there are five hundred kinds of exotic plants which Col. W. has himself imported. Beyond the lake, and in the centre of the horse shoe, is the orchard—where every variety of fruit that is suitable to the climate, blooms in the richest profusion. This orchard is reached by means of a boat, which is always kept at the foot of the garden for that purpose. In the waters of the lake there is a great abundance of fish—which the little W. has pretty considerably rivals of the great Isaac Walton.
