DR. WM. EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.—When a sound and sensible remedy of disease has long been in general use by the public, bestowing blessings and recovering health, it is scarcely safe to suppose that it deserves to be denied to deny them.

When he has achieved an ascendant career of usefulness, with distances the concomitance of merciful pretension, and has secured a conspicuous station in universal favor, by intrinsic worth alone, his popularity may point out the causes of its superiority, without incurring the suspicion of individualism, in instituting the comparison.

The CAMOMILE and FAMILY APERTIVE PILLS, made by Dr. William Evans, at 100 Chestnut street, do not require his explanation of their acknowledged efficacy; for the most eminent physicians throughout the United States will freely, if appealed to, state the reasons which have induced them to recommend them so extensively and warmly as they do. And those reasons are, that these judicious medicines never injure even the most delicate constitutions, and have, almost every individual case for which they are prescribed, a decided, evident, and rapid effect. The office of the physician, however, see that they are not offered to the public upon any quack theory of purifying the blood, to the entire destruction of the stomach and bowels. Purify the blood from all diseased humors, they undeniably do; but not by destroying those viscera by which alone the blood can be sustained. They are compounded upon a theory which supposes stomach to be a very essential agent to health; and food, well digested, to be a valuable friend to flesh and blood. They do not, however, affect, or move them so far as to bring them so refined as to remain long in the system; but they make them as human as possible, and fit to encounter the hardships, and fulfill the occupations of a sublunary life. They do not make a violent purgative of this life, to prepare men for another. They proceed upon the supposition that the blood, muscles, nerves, organs, excretory and secretory gland, mucous and tegumentary membranes, bones and brains, of every human being, must be supplied with nourishment. From a healthy state of the stomach and bowels, and upon the doctrine that unless the stomach and bowels are in good order, the blood and every other part of the system will be disorder.

And how is it expected that they will secure health to the stomach and bowels? By washing the intestines, and the other to carry off what is left after the instrument is extracted, in connection with the surgeon of bone, and the four humors, and the nervous system, and the brain, and they accomplish these great feats of medicine in the most simple and ingenuous.

The APERIC & TONIC PILLS, if the stomach be affected with wind, bile, or morose collections, clear it out by a natural but a most insensible solvent action, and cleanse, the whole alimentary canal, without grating, and leaving it free without debility, as nature ever designed it to be.

"They do not make the skin of the stomach and bowels, and the other parts of the body, as well as the glands know the strong drastic pills, but they take nature kindly by the hand without crushing her fingers. They cleanse every thing, without injuring or impairing any thing.

When this is effected, as it usually is by the use of a few of the FAMILY APERTIVE PILLS, then come the celebrated CAMOMILE or TONIC PILLS, to strengthen a stomach and bowels which, before, had been so weak, so foul, and so languid, as to render them with strength to perform their important functions, without the aid of physic.

MOFFAT'S Vegetable Life Pills and Phenix Bitters.

AT A CONVENTANT.—All nations, from the remotest ages, have had ships, but Columbia only found out the way to America. Before the time of the great Spanish navigator, people were only enabled to paddle about the shores. Just as with the life medicine, the art of navigation had been contravened by bowel complaints which lead to a host of fatal maladies, might have been avoided by that fine saline extract of the bark; which is a leading ingredient in the APERIC & TONIC PILLS. Before both of these medicines, which are added to a majority of the purposes for which a hundred others are unnecessarily used, fevers, agues, bilious disorders, headache, fits, debility, male disease, indigestion, and liver complaints, have entirely disappeared, whereof many who have been cured in this manner, and moderns, if his own practice had not proved it to be.

It is but directly understood that these medicines are not offered instead of those natural organs of the body which other medicines dispense with, in a very summary manner. They are founded upon medical knowledge, and not quackery, and do not take all the ridiculous out of the human mind under the pretence of curing it. In proof of which, it is to be observed, that the constituents of all medicinal preparations known, no person or family should be without them. They can be obtained wholesale and retail of the proprietor, Dr. Wm. Evans' Office, 100 Chestnut street, New York, where the Doctor may be consulted as usual.

DYSPEPSIA and HYPOCHONDRIACISM.—Interfering Case.—Mr. William Salmon, green at above Third st., Philadelphia, afflicted for several years with the following distressing symptoms: Sticks at the stomach, headache, dizziness, palpitations of the heart, impaired appetite, sometimes acid and acrid eructations, coldness and weakness of the entire body, and a general debility, described as a sense of weariness, and at night after eating, nightmare, great mental despondency, fearing pains in the chest, back and sides, convulsions, a dislike for society, or conversation, involuntary sighing and weeping languor and lassitude upon the part of the body.

Mr. Salmon had applied to the most eminent physicians who could direct him to a cure; however, as his afflictions had reduced him to a miserable condition, and having been recommended to a relation of his, he wrote to Dr. Wm. Evans' Medicine, he was difficultly repaired to the office and procured a package, to which he says, he is indebted for his restoration to life, health and friends. He is now enjoying all the blessings of perfect health. Persons desirous of further information, will be satisfied with every particular of this astonishing cure. Dr. Wm. Evans' Medical Office, 100 Chestnut st., New York, and in Philadelphia, No. 12 NORTH EIGHTH St., JOHN T. WERNER.
