O YES! I TAKE THE PAPERS!

O yes! I take the Papers,
Their trifling cost is never missed,
Although I've stood for forty years
Upon the Printer's list.
Talk not of warriors—Faust released
Earth from the terror of her kings,
He twirled his stick and darkness ceased,
And morning streamed along the East,
On Freedom's burnished wings.

O yes! I take the papers,
For sons and daughters, tall and small,
And they have been, though thick and thin,
The past time of us all.
'Twas nobly said, that should a star,
Be stricken from the dome of Night,
A printing press, if stationed there,
Would fill the vacuum to a hair,
And shed a broader light.

That man who takes no papers,
Or taking, pays not, when they're read,
Would sell his corn to buy a 'horn,'
And live on borrowed bread.
The printer opes the wide domain
Of Science—scatters Education
All o'er the land, like April rains;
And yet his labor and his pains
Are half his compensation.

In a late number of Bently's Miscellany is a piece of poetry headed "temptations of St. Anthony," which winds up with the following stanza:—

There are many devils that walk this world—
Devils large and devils small,
Devils so meagre, and devils so stout;
Devils with horns and devils without;
Sly devils that go with their tails upcurled,
Bold devils that carry them quite unfurled;
Meek devils, and devils that brawl;
Serious devils and laughing devils:
Imps for churches and imps for revels;
Devils uncouth and devils polite;
Devils black and devils white;
Devils foolish and devils wise;
But a laughing woman with two bright eyes,
Is the worst devil of all.

Another Elopement.—We have been favored by Esquire Doty, with the particulars of an elopement of a lady who had vowed allegiance to her liege lord, with a paramour, who possessed a good phiz and insinuating address. The particulars are as follows:

A Mrs. McKinley, a few days ago, instituted a complaint against her husband, setting forth that she was afraid of her life, and succeeded in ejecting him from the premises—during which time, she made preparations for departure, packed up every thing, with a bureau containing four hundred dollars, and decamped a day or two since, with her paramour (a man of the name of Rickets) on a voyage east—leaving her lawful husband to ponder on the fidelity of "dear lovely woman." No cause can be assigned for this extraordinary move on the part of the betrothed, as the husband is we understand, a man of unimpeachable character. "Woman, thy name is frailty."—Cincinnatian.

Discoveries in Texas.—A correspondent of the Observer states that an intelligent traveller has discovered, near the Colorado river, fifteen miles from Bastrop, a native tree which produces gum elastic or caoutchouc. The same writer states that in the vicinity of the Mustang prairie, a salt spring or saline has been discovered of such excellent and abundance of water, that it is thought sufficient to supply the whole Republic. Mineral coal, in great abundance, is also found not very far from the same prairie, and iron ore, the most valuable of all minerals, is abundant near the river Trinity. If, in addition to this, we could say that there is an abundance of forest wood in all parts of Texas, it would be the most important discovery in the whole catalogue.—N. Orl. Pic.

Crim. Con.—We learn from a correspondent, that at the Circuit Court held at Monticello, Sullivan Co. commencing on the 5th inst. William Ratcliffe, an Englishman by birth, recovered $400 from Blake Wales, a practising physician in Liberty, in said County, where the other party also resided, in an action of crim. con. with the plaintiff's wife. What rendered the case peculiar, was the fact that after the birth of a child, the plaintiff got a divorce from his wife, and so was enabled to use her as a witness. Upon her testimony chiefly, the verdict was rendered.—Journal of Commerce.

The amount of money lost in the Pulaski is estimated at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and ten thousand in watches and jewelry.

Prize Fight.—On Tuesday a prize fight for £20 a side, took place in a field called the Race Field, about half a mile from Lead Gate, (the latter being in the county of Durham, and the place of contest being in the county of Northumberland,) between Robert Forbister, millwright, and John Brown, whitesmith, both of this town. The parties reached the neighborhood of Lead Gate, about half past 12 o'clock, and being on the borders of the two counties, the object evidently was to pitch upon a place where there was least likelihood of interruption. We understand G. H. Ramsay, Esq. a magistrate of the county of Durham, was at Lead Gate shortly after the parties left it, but as they had gone beyond his jurisdiction, he had no power to interfere. Forbister was seconded by Joseph Renwick and William English; and Brown by James Wallace and Clement Hall. The fight was of a very determined character, and from first to last each of the combatants seemed resolved to beat his opponent, if possible. The ring was formed with 24 feet ropes, and the spectators ranged themselves in an outer ring, between 30 and 40 yards distant, which was well kept throughout. Forbister's weight was 10 stone 5lb. and his height 5ft 10½ in.—Brown weighed about 9 st. 6 lb. and his height was scarcely 5ft 6 in. They fought 35 rounds. Brown for the first 11 rounds appeared to be a match for his opponent, but after that time, the length, weight and apparent stamina of Forbister gave him an evident advantage. In the last round, as described by the witnesses, Brown was knocked down insensible, and was soon after taken from the ground to a public house at Lead Gate, where he remained in the same condition until 10 at night, when he died.

[A verdict of Manslaughter has since been returned against Forbister.]

Elopement.—An affair of this kind has created quite a feeling of excitement in Falmouth. On Friday evening a young lady possessing considerable property, independent of her respectable parents, left home under the pretence of receiving some money due to her. She did not return as soon as was expected, which induced a suspicion in her father's mind that she had eloped with somebody, but he could not conceive whom, and he resolved to set off to Exeter in search of her. The young lady had walked to the outside of the town, where the guard of the Exeter coach proved to be the Lothario in waiting, who handed her into a chaise and drove to Truro, returning in time to take his place as guard, and promising to take her on to Exeter by the coach. The father took his place on the outside of the Exeter coach, with his future son-in-law as guard, on arriving at Truro the guard (who was on his guard) exclaimed at the inn, after shutting the door with a slam, "A lady from Falmouth getting out!" The father hastened down, and running into the inn, exclaimed, "It is my daughter!" The running guard called out to the coachman "All right!" who drove on to the town's end, where he took up the lady and conveyed her to Exeter, where the guard was made both rich and happy the following morning, soon after 8 o'clock. About 11 o'clock the father arrived, but too late to prevent the union of his child with what he conceived a most unequal match.

An application was made at the last meeting of the Town Council for liberty to make a tunnel from the Spital Tongues Colliery, under the Town Moor, to the river Tyne. This extraordinary project was referred to the Finance Committee, who have resolved to recommend the Corporate Body to give their sanction to it, so far as their property and powers extend. This scheme for the conveyance of coals for shipment, though extraordinary, is not without precedent. A similar tunnel, from another colliery near this town, was made several years ago, and had its outlet at the river near Bell's Close.—Tyne Mercury.

Iron Trade.—It is stated that orders were given out last week for 12,000 tons of iron rail—10 000 tons for export to America, and 2,000 tons for consumption at home; and that several other extensive orders are about to be given for iron rails and chairs for railways now forming in this country.—Birmingham Advertiser.

A poor widow, 90 years of age, residing at Kirkheaton, near Huddersfield, was sitting by the fire on Sunday, one of her eyes began to water, and in a short time fell from her head into her lap, and rolled down into the ashes. The surgeons in the neighborhood say this is an extremely rare occurrence, but sometimes happens with very old people.—Halifax Ex.

A remarkable diminution in the number of beer-houses has taken place in the city of Worcester. There are now only 52, whereas at this period last year they amounted to 143.

Atrocious Cruelty.—The Chelmsford Chronicle contains an account of the examination of a Mrs. Harris, at Witham Petty Sessions, on a charge of having boiled a cat alive. This cruelty rose out of an ignorant and superstitious idea that it would enable her to find out some gipsies who had tricked her out of some property on pretence of making her rich if furnished with the means of working certain spells for the purpose. The Magistrate ordered Mrs. Harris to pay the full penalty of 40s. and costs, and 10s. the value of the cat, and in default of payment she was committed to the House of Correction for fourteen days. She did not deny the charge but said she was so irritated at the time, that she would have put her own hand into the boiling water if she had thought it would have any effect.

IRELAND.

SONG.

BY THE LATE DR. CONWELL.

Air—The Boys of Kilkenny.

My barque o'er the billows dashes, glorious, along:
Though glad were the notes of the sailor boy's song,
Sad was my bosom, and bursting with woe:
Oh! my heart's in old Ireland wherever I go.

The shores, they look lovely; yet cheerless, in vain,
Bloom the lilies of France, and the olives of Spain;
I think on the fields where the wild daisies grow,
And my heart's in old Ireland wherever I go.

Oh, the roses and lilies abandon the plains,
When the summer's gone by; but the shamrock remains;
Like the friend in misfortune, it blooms on the snow;
Oh! my heart's in old Ireland wherever I go.

More dear than the flowers proud Italy yields,
Is the red breasted daisy that spangles the fields,
The shamrock and hawthorn, and white blossom'd sloe;
Oh! my heart's in old Ireland wherever I go.

I sigh, and I vow, if I ever reach home,
No more from my own little cottage to roam,
Where the harp shall resound, and the goblet shall flow;
Oh! my heart's in old Ireland wherever I go.

A Cooler of Duelling.—In the Dublin Queen's Bench on Friday, in the case of "Major John Crone v. W. Coote, Esq." Judge Burton pronounced the judgment of the Court; which was, that the defendant be confined in the gaol of the country of Cork for the space of six calendar months; that he pay to the Queen a fine of £200, and further, that he be imprisoned until the fine be paid; and that he find security, himself in £500 and two sureties in £150 each, to keep the peace towards all the Queen's subjects, but particularly towards the prosecutor.

Mr. Cooper, M. P. for Sligo, is about to clear his estate of one hundred and fifty refractory tenants, who opposed him at the late election and are in arrear of rent.—Limerick Chronicle.

The meeting of the Temperance Society at the Independent Chapel last evening, Archdeacon Hoare in the chair, was crowded, to receive John Hocking, the celebrated Birmingham blacksmith, whose advocacy of the cause is distinguished by a plain nervous style of delivery, and his narrative was remarkable for anecdotes which flashed conviction upon the mind of his hearers, especially in the operative, and humbler class of life.

Limerick Chronicle, May 30.

Ministers have determined to increase the grant to the Irish Board Education from £30,000 to £100,000. This will enable the Board increase the schools.

Sauce for the Goose—Sauce for the Gander.—An action has been commenced, at the instance of a very amiable young lady, of a most respectable family at Cork, for breach of promise of marriage, against John O'Connell, Esq. M. P. who has been recently united to another young lass, with a handsome fortune. Before the commencement of legal proceedings, a case, with its accompanying fee, but whereon A and B were merely substituted for the real parties' names, was forwarded to the Hon. Member for Dublin, detailing all the particulars of his son's court-ship and correspondence, describing him as "B," &c. and that Learned Gentleman, never suspecting who "B" was, not only expressed his decided opinion of the clear cause shown by the fair plaintiff A against the defendant, but recommended that no time should be lost in seeking for damages, to the amount, as laid, of £7000.

ABSENCE OF MIND.—Various editors throughout the country have been vieing with each other, to see which could fabricate the best case of absence of mindedness. Among all that we have seen, none has been noticed better than the following: A young lady carried a letter to the Post office, dropped herself into the box instead of the letter, and did not discover the mistake, till the clerk asked her if she were single.—[Hampshire Gaz.

If Taken Won't they "Suffer Some!"—The house of the Mayor of New York was robbed on Saturday evening last of a quantity of clothing, and of about $20 in money. This is indeed

"Bearding the lion in his den,
The Mayor in his hall."

By the by, it is well it is the Mayor instead of the Governor, or a bill would be brought against the state for "breches" stolen, as well as "breeches mended!"

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed by the citizens of Buffalo, on the subject of a recent appointment of a Mr. Horshimer as post master. The disgust seems to be common with both parties. It is stated that the gentleman can neither read nor write the English language with any correctness, and is obliged to call in his neighbors to aid him in deciphering his letters.

CURE FOR DIARRHŒA.—The following is said to be a certain cure for the diarrhœa. It should be cut out and preserved:

Parch half a pint of rice until it is perfectly brown; boil it down as is usually done, eat it slowly, and it will stop the most alarming diarrhœa in a few hours.

From the Pennsylvania Intelligencer—EXTRA.

HARRISBURG, JULY 5, 1838.

IMMENSE GATHERING OF THE PEOPLE!!

FOURTH OF JULY.

Dauphin County Celebration larger than the whole loco foco State Convention!!!

'Glory Enough for one day.'

Yesterday was a glorious day for the TRUE DEMOCRACY of Dauphin County. We have had the largest Fourth of July Celebration ever known in Pennsylvania, upwards of TWO THOUSAND persons being in attendance, including the guests from other counties. The Loco foco's had not so many at their State Convention by NINE HUNDRED.

It was a glorious day. In the morning the streets were pretty well filled with Porterites who were chuckling at the idea of having the day all to themselves, but soon in flocked the Philadelphia and Lancaster guests in such numbers that they were positively appalled; banners with appropriate mottos, such as "RITNER AND NO STATE TAXES," "DOWN WITH PORTER AND AMALGAMATION," &c. &c. were streaming over the heads of the assembled people, in all directions. This was about 8 o'clock, A. M. The Locofocos then turned out and attempted to make a show, having, to give them a fair estimate, upwards of eight hundred at that time, which number was afterwards somewhat increased. But we soon again turned the tables on their terror-stricken and wo-begone ranks, and marched into town with upwards of THREE HUNDRED from the upper end of good old Dauphin, who came in a boat with their banners and the National Flag streaming boldly over them. With these also marched nearly FOUR HUNDRED who came from below, accompanied by a most excellent band of music from York, engaged for the occasion.

We now collected our forces and marched to Wissel's orchard on the canal below town. About TWO HUNRED were on the ground when the music and front files reached it; about FIFTEEN HUNDRED were in the procession; and about THREE HUNDRED on the sidewalks, besides some others who were too much fatigued in reaching this place to turn out. On the ground all was hilarity and enjoyment. The best spirit animated our friends, and excellent order was preserved. The Declaration of Independence was read by S. Shoch, Esq. and able addresses delivered by Messrs. James Hanna of Philadelphia and James Cooper, of Adams county; whose thrilling eloquence electrified the whole vast assemblage, and was answered with thunders of applause, and firing of cannon. At a good hour we came into town, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THIRTY NINE marched in procession, and before dispersing heard an excellent speech from Geo. Ford, jr. of Lancaster, which was received with enthusiasm by the democracy present. We then dismissed without anything having occurred to mar the harmony of the company, or fast on upon us the blackning disgrace and infamy which must ever attach to a portion of Locofocos for their conduct while here.

But this is not all. They took every opportunity to INSULT and ABUSE the friends of Gov. Ritner, as the procession moved through the streets; but were answered only with the silent scorn of freemen WHO DARED TO AVOW THEIR PREFERENCE FOR THE WASHINGTON COUNTY FARMER, over the Huntingdon county prothonotary who is only distinguished for having defrauded his creditors. But we will take our revenge and wipe off the Locofoco insults at THE BALLOT-BOXES, the freemen's peaceful resort.

The finger of MARTIN VAN BUREN and his officers at Washington has been palpably visible in the whole Locofoco Convention. A large CANNON belonging to the United States, was sent up from the Navy Yard at Philadelphia, and men from the U. S. Navy sent along to load and fire it. There were scarcely any delegates from Philadelphia but CUSTOM HOUSE OFFICERS and other agents of the general government. Poor David R. Porter! his main dependence is on FOREIGN AID.—having no Pennsylvania strength, he must receive succor from abroad. But the people of Pennsylvania consider it an INSULT to their understandings, for a national administration thus to invade the State elective arena and with its officers and money attempt to sway their votes; and they will triumphantly re-elect the patriot RITNER, who has always resisted and is now sought to be made the victim of, that abuse of power.

We had almost forgotten to note the fact, that all the Porterites were LABELLED, some with paper bills stuck on their coat collars and some with silk; and not a few were dressed out in ribbands, fantastically curled around their necks, which would have served, had they been stronger, to lead back into the ranks any who might show symptoms of being refractory. They made a most ridiculous and disgusting appearance; and on beholding these, one was at a loss whether to smile at their folly, or sigh with regret that men claiming to be AMERICAN FREEMEN should so degrade themselves as sorvilely to wear the badge and declare themselves the COLLAR-MARKED partizans of any man—and especially a man of such political and moral character as David R. Porter.

After organizing their Convention in the afternoon, the Locofocos had an amiable squabble. We were not present, but have been informed that a resolution was offered by a delegate from Philadelphia to invite Commodore CHARLES STEWART who is in Harrisburg, to take a seat within the bar of the Convention. This was strenuously opposed by one of the Locos, who said that the Commodore might come in as any other gentleman, but should have no formal invitation. The resolution, after considerable squabbling, was voted down, amidst the cheers of the ultra Van Burenites, and the hisses of a no inconsiderable number. We give this as an evidence of the "UNION AND HARMONY" which exists amongst the Locofocos.

We call upon our friends throughout the State to rally early for the conflict. The locofocos, are dispirited, and the whole current of popular feeling is and has been setting against their Locofoco Sub-Treasury candidate and in favor of JOSEPH RITNER, our PATRIOTIC GOVERNOR, who will be re-elected by a majority of not less than 20,000!!!

Their Convention here will do the Locofoco candidate for governor infinitely MORE HARM than GOOD.

The Locofoco Van Burenites—Blackguardism & Brutality.

The great Van Buren Porter Convention has proved A FAILURE, they having had but a few over one thousand delegates here, out of TEN THOUSAND APPOINTED!!! Porterism does'nt take well among the democracy of Pennsylvania. See how different was the case with the Ritnermen—we only appointed about THIRTY FIVE HUNDRED to go to Reading, and about TWO THOUSAND attended. This shows what a different spirit is abroad among the friends of the present democratic and economical State administration, from that among the Locofocos.

The conduct of the Locofocos the night before and yesterday was DISGRACEFULL IN THE EXTREME, and shows the desperate means to which they are driven to get along their Sub-Treasury Shinplaster candidate. On Tuesday night and before day yesterday morning, at three different times, they assembled in front of Gov. Ritner's residence and abused him in the most vulgar style—calling out "DAMN OLD JOE RITNER—WE'RE FOR PORTER—BRING OUT YOUR CHAMPAIGNE, YOU DAMN'D OLD DUTCH HOG," with numerous similar insulting epithets; at the same time kicking the door, beating at the windows and pulling the bell wire, in such a manner that the whole neighbourhood was disturbed and some ladies in delicate health alarmed so much as to endanger their lives. Our own residence is about one square from the Governor's, and we heard the noise distinctly. The details and particulars we were informed of by a nearer neighbour of the Governor, one of the most respectable inhabitants of Harrisburg, who will if called upon, TESTIFY TO THEIR TRUTH BEFORE A MAGISTRATE.

Expenditures of the Government.—In the House of Representatives on Thursday last, the Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, in answer to a resolution of the 25th instant, showing the amounts of expenditure, exclusive of the public debt, for each year, from 1824 to 1838. They are as follows, viz:

For the year	1824	$15,330,444 71
Ditto	1825	11,490,459 94

Ditto	1831	13,864,067 80
Ditto	1832	16,516,386 77
Ditto	1833	22,713,755 11

Ditto	1836	30,868,164 04
Ditto	1837	*39,160,745 37

*NOTE.—The above sum include payments for Trust Funds and Indemnities, which, in 1837, were $5,610,404 36.

An Excellent Test.—If you want to know whether it is safe to trust a man with goods on credit, see if he is a paying subscriber to some good newspaper.

Idleness is a canker that corrodes the mind, and makes it incapable of virtuous actions, whilst it introduces vicious thoughts and conversation.

Drowning.—Thomas Mc Manus got intoxicated yesterday, went home and beat his wife, and then told her that he would go and drown himself which he effected by jumping off the dock at the foot of Lydius street.—Albany Eve. Jour.
