Certificates against the character of Samuel Sturgeon.—The Porter men after desperate efforts have procured two persons to certify against the character of Samuel Sturgeon—and who do you suppose they are reader: We will tell you—one is a Pat ✕ Madden, a man of notorious bad character, and whom nobody in Huntingdon County, who knows him, would believe. He is just such a man who could be bought to swear to any thing.—And the other is James Fulton, who, according to his own account, must have been only ELEVEN years of age, when the transaction alluded to, took place.—Now what could a boy of eleven years of age know about business transactions?—These are the only persons they could get out of hundreds of honest citizens of Huntingdon County, who knew Samuel Sturgeon, to impeach his character. Why don't they get their own Davy R. to swear against his character? They say he is a rouser at swearing.

More Ceceders from the Porter Ranks in Allegheny county.—It is but a short time since that a paper signed by Seventy-eight of the most prominent supporters of Wolf and Muhlenberg in 1835 appeared in the Pittsburg papers, declaring their intention to support Joseph Ritner at the coming contest, and in the last Pittsburg German paper there is a paper signed by Forty-three Germans, of Allegheny county, who also opposed Joseph Ritner in 1835, and who announce their intention now to support him. The list, it is stated is signed by every naturalized German in the town of Philipsburg, in that county, but one. The Germans all over the State are coming out in solid masses for Joseph Ritner, who is also a German, who has ever practised those cardinal traits in the character of nearly all Germans, "Prudence and Economy."

Pittsburg Convention—Among the list of Delegates to the Pittsburg Convention published last week, the following names were omitted: J. K. Trego, William Shively, John Frank, and Benjamin F. Pomroy.

☞ Next Monday the people will see the Ritner Gold and Silver. Van Buren and Porter's "Shin Plaster's" will stand no chance then—they will fly to their hiding places as rapidly as the Porter men will disappear after the second Tuesday of October next. The Porter men wanted to put off the resumption until after the election, but Old Joe would'nt let them. So bitter are some of the Porter men against Joseph Ritner, for causing the Banks to resume—that it is very doubtful whether they will receive any Gold and Silver—but will stick to the "Shin Plasters."

☞ The Beaver Argus gives it as their candid belief that Ritner will receive four thousand majority in the four counties bordering on the Ohio State line, to wit: Beaver, Mercer, Butler and Erie. In these counties Ritner only received 1055 majority in 1835.

Low water in the Canal.—We regret to state that a large number of boats are detained by the low water on the canal, a short distance below Reading, we understand a number not short of 200. The water above, is sufficient for purposes of navigation. It is in the long reaches of canal, below the point above mentioned that the scarcity of water chiefly occurs, and along which the boats are scattered and lying. The dams were never before known to be so low; rain appears to be the only source of supply which is adequate to remove the obstruction in the navigation. We had a good shower, here on Thursday afternoon, and during the night the rain fell in considerable quantities. We are still in want of much more rain to be of essential service to vegetation, and fill our water courses.

LEBANON COUNTY.

We learn from a gentleman from Lebanon county, that the Ritner meeting held in that county, on Monday last, was an immense assemblage, there being upwards of ONE THOUSAND persons in attendance. The people poured into Lebanon, from every quarter in wagon loads, with banners flying, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. The Porter meeting, held the same day, only numbered 363 persons. Lebanon county will give at least One thousand, majority for Ritner. A letter from a Porter man to a gentleman of this borough acknowledges, that he will get 800 majority. So much for the "great changes" against Ritner, in Lebanon county.

Extract from a letter to the editor, dated

LYNN, Susquehanna co. Aug. 6 1838.

"David R. Porter will probably get a small majority in this county, although in this section he will not get one fourth part of the votes.—Locofocoism is no go here."

☞ Susquehanna county give a majority of 1068 against Ritner in 1835.

How beautiful and exalted are the following sentiments of De Witt Clinton!

"Pleasure is a shadow; wealth is vanity? and power a pageant; perennial in fame, unlimited in space, and infinite in duration. In the performance of its sacred offices it fears no danger—spares no expense—omits no exertion. It scales the mountain—looks into the volcano—dives into the ocean—perforates the earth—encircles the globe—explores sea and land—contemplates the distant—ascends to the sublime:—No place too exalted for its grasp—no heavens too exalted for its reach."

A Compliment.—Bennet says in one of his late letters, that although only one fifth the size of London, New york has a heart big enough for the world.

The PORTERITES ridiculing the GERMAN Farmers.

The Porterites have printed a pamphlet which is supposed to be written by a LAWYER of doubtful reputation and capacity at Harrisburg, for the purpose of ridiculing JOSEPH RITNER, because he and his father were Farmers, and hauled their own produce to market. There are also several plates in the pamphlet, representing Joseph Ritner in what they suppose to be a ludicrous situation, but they will not excite even a smile—but contempt on the part of every farmer in the State, for a party, who thus attempts to bring the honest German Farmers of this State into ridicule. We expect that the Porter party, who have a gentleman for their candidate, and who, like a good many other gentlemen, can pay their debts with a "SMACK OF THE LIPS," will soon get up prints ridiculing the German Farmers, who bring their produce to our markets. We give the following extracts from the Pamphlet, to show how they attempt to ridicule the Governor, because his Father sold POTATOES in Philadelphia.

[Extract from page 8 of the 'biography.']

"Shortly after he [the Governor] had arrived at the age of ten years, he was fired with an anxious desire to see the city of Philadelphia, by the representations of a neighboring boy, who had been down and seen the wonders of that place. Accordingly, the first time his father went down with POTATOES, little Josey travelled down upon the load, and reached the city in the afternoon, when he dismounted and after purchasing some MINT STICKS and a couple of GINGER CAKES, he sallied forth with one of the cakes under his arm and eating from the other, to see the curiosities of the town."

[From page 10.]

"By industry and economy he, in due time, found himself master of money enough to procure four horses, two of them with one eye a-piece, a BROAD WHEELED WAGON, with which he entered upon the carrying business between Philadelphia and Pittsburg. He continued it with great assiduity for several years, having been able to add two more horses to his team during the second year."

[From page 11.]

"His skill in handling the CARTWHIP was unsurpassed; the hostlers, night and morning, often volunteered to feed, curry and hitch up his team, for the sake of hearing him, meanwhile, crack the tune of yankee doodle with his whip."

On page ten an attempt is made to slur the Governor because, when Speaker of the House, he performed his duty with great assiduity."

"The conspicuous position now ocupied by the Governor, exposed him to be constantly annoyed by applications for certificates of merit, from book publishers, patent right venders, dancing masters, &c. Among others, a celebrated French dancing master, one Monsieur De la Viola, waited upon his excellency at his speaker's room, and desired him to give him a letter, setting forth his extraordinary skill on the violin and teaching the fashionable dances of the day. The Governor, as was his habit, before he would sign a letter, desired some evidence of Monsieurs pretensions. He readily assented, and furnished the Governor with several of the newly invented waltzes, of the true Parisian touch. The Governor TOOK DOWN HIS OWN FIDDLE and desired to give some evidence of his skill upon that; whereupon Monsieur performed some cotillion and waltzes with the usual accompaniments of scraping and bowing. The Governor immediately pulled off his coat, took the fiddle into his own hands, promptly told Monsieur, that he looked upon him as an imposter, entitled to little credit, either for his dancing or his fiddling—that he much preferred the straight forward DOUBLE SHUFFLE of Washington county, to his mincing steps, which looked more like skipping about upon eggs with he was afraid of breaking, than it did like old fashioned QUILTING MATCH DANCING. And as for his fiddling, he would himself give him a touch of the "old black horse," which would put his note book music to the blush. By the time the governor had drawn the bow thrice across the fiddle, Monsieur De la Viola slipped out of the door, and took the first stage for Philadelphia."

The forms of RELIGION come in for a share of the ridicule of this work, which is well worthy the Loco Foco party, who number among their members, Robert Dale Owen, Fanny Wright, and all the INFIDELS of the country.

"He is about five feet ten inches in height, broad shouldered, with an ample developement of the ABDOMINABLE region, & a corresponding COUNTERPOISE on the other side. He bears little resemblance to Edward 1 king of England, surnamed "Long Shanks," but a much more striking similitude to Charles the 'Fat, king of France, whose ample shoulders, rotund cheeks, and PARENTHETICAL LEGS, are well known in history."

"His complexion is ruddy, a slight tawny tinge. His hair, originally black, is now sprinkled with gray, and grows luxuriantly upon a head, which, like Sir W. Scott's, gracefully tapers like a sugar loaf, or the summit of a pyramid. This luxurient growth of hair he mainly attributes to the circumstances of SOWING LAKE PLASTER, without his hat on, when he was a boy. It has exposed him to some inconvenience, for, like the Soldan Mourzuffle, spuken of by Gibbon the historian, it produced such a plentiful crop of hairas to commingle hair and eye-brows, and rendered it necessary, in order to exhibit in its own fair proportions, his "expansive and magnificent forehead," so much lauded in his lithograph likeness by the Pennsylvania Inquirer and others of his disenterested friends, to lop it off with the edge of the razor, and thus make the labour of his barber twice as great as in shaving common men."

Another Promising Sub-Treasurer.—We are informed by a gentleman who is ready to vouch for its truth, that Abner C. Stimson, appointed a Deputy Collector and Inspector of the customs in the St. Joseph District, is the late Warden of the New Hampshire State Prison, who absconded, after involving the State in a loss of some TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS, carrying away the books and vouchers belonging to the prison.

Let a man commit almost any crime, and become a fit subject for the Penitentiary, and he is sure to receive an office from the General Government.

Nathan Guilford, Esq. is announced in the Cincinatti papers as the Whig candidate for Congress, in opposition to Dr. Duncan.

A Suggestion.—The Cleveland Herald suggests, that as General Jesup's laurels are yet green, the Secretary of war lets him to trapping for Bill Johnson, the lake Buccaneer. Perhaps a white flag might decoy him in!

The Coal Trade.—We copy the following Tables from the Philadelphia Commercial List, which shows the great and growing importance of the Coal Trade, not only to this State, but to the whole United States.

TABLES showing the quantity of Coal shipped from the Delaware and Schuylkill Mines; the number and class of vessels employed in the trade; the value of the Coal per ton, and estimated value of each class of vessels; the aggregate value of the vessels and Coal; the number of hands employed on board the vessels.

The number and class of vessels, and the quantity of Coal, from the Schuylkill during 1836 and 1837, are from authentic information. The previous years from the best data that could be obtained, and believed to be substantially correct.

The number and class of vessels, and the quantity of Coal from the Delaware, for the first four years, derived from the Lehigh Navigation and Coal Company. No authentic account could be obtained for the fifth, which is set down the same as for 1836.

To obtain the value of vessels and the number of hands, the brigs are estimated at $4,750, and eight hands, the schooners at $3,500, and five hands, and the sloops at 2,000, and three hands.

A letter from a friend at Sunbury, states that the new locomotive "North Star," from Garret & Eastwick's factory, will commence her regular trips on the western end of the Danville and Pottsville Rail Road, on Wednesday, the fifteenth of the present month.

The opening of a new and valuable coal region, the Shamokin, will then take place. The people of Sunbury and the vicinity will be assembled, and a pleasant ride through a beautiful and picturesque region from the Susquehanna to the Shamokin coal mines, will amply reward visitors. Those who would enjoy the invigorating mountain air; and the romantic scenery of the Shamokin, or those, who, bent on a more practicable objects would learn something of the great resources of that region, and of the value and prospects of the rail road just completed to it, cannot do better than to repair to the scene. The route to Sunbury, either by Pottsville or Harrisburg, is now entirely comfortable and expiditious.—Phil. Gaz.

Resumption.—The Bank committee of Ohio, who had been charged with the duty of fixing the day for resumption by the banks of the State (dependent on the action of the banks of Philadelphia and Baltimore) have agreed upon the 13th of August, and have issued a circular from Columbus, under date of the 2d inst, recommending that day as the day of general resumption thoughout Ohio. The recommendation will, without doubt, be adopted; and even the Canton Bank, of that State, which had foundered during the suspension, is now expected to get righted again, and to resume with the rest, or shortly after.

A great movement is making by the Whig Young Men of Ohio, for a State Convention. The time proposed by the Columbia Register, proposes it to be held the day the Banks resume specie payments, to which the Cleavland Herald adds:

The suggestion of the Journal is just 'in the nick of the time.' The Pennsylvania Banks will beyond a doubt resume early in August, the Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois Banks will follow at once and by the 1st of September the only paper money not convertible into specie in the West, will be the 'Wild Cat' progeny of the Van Buren party in Michigan, and the GOVERNMENT SHINPLASTERS put in circulation by a hard-money Administration.

A Noble Sentiment.—The following toast was sent by Mr. WEBSTER, to the Whigs of Massillon, (Ohio,) for their celebration of Independence.

"Our Country, which gave us birth; our Fathers, who gave us liberty; our CONSTITUTION, which gives us union, honor, prosperity, and happiness.

Fanny Wright Darusmount has arrived in New York, and issued notices of her readiness and intention to recommence her political labors. The time and place of her public action are not given, but it is evident that "the party" are determined to restore New York to Mr. Van Buren if they can, and Fanny Wright is one means of producing such an end.—U. S. Gaz.

HIGH PRICE FOR RETRENCHMENT.—The Louisville Journal says:—When Mr. Adams was President, the people paid $13,000,000 a year as the expenses of the Government. They now pay $39,000,000. The difference is $26,000,000.—This is the nett cost of that very valuable commodity, "retrenchment." Cheap enough. Would the people like to buy some more of it at the same rate.

One of the Van Buren papers at Harrisburg is pelting away at the Yankee school masters at an awful rate—the editor, we apprehend, entertains the idea that just in proportion as he can bring school masters into disrepute, he will elevate his party.—U. S. Gazette.

General Harrison.—We understand (says the Louisville Journal,) that the patriot Harrison, in his speech at the Celebration of the 4th of July, at Masillon, Ohio, fully declared his determination to abide the decision of the National Convention which is to assemble at Harrisburg in 1839. He accompanied this declaration with high and appropriate compliments to the tried patriotism and transcendant talents of HENRY CLAY and DANIEL WEBSTER.

Elections this Month.—Seven States hold elections during the present month.

In North Carolina the election commenced Thursday week, were continued on Thursday last and will be concluded on the 9th inst. A Governor and members of the Legislature, (each to serve two years,) are to be chosen.

In Illinois and Missouri, the election will take place on Monday next. In the latter State it is also continued on Tuesday. A Governor, Lieut. Governor, members of the Legislature, and three members of Congress are to be chosen in Illinois, and the Legislature and two members of Congress in Missouri.

In Indiana and Kentucky, members of the Legislature will be elected on Monday next.

In Alabama members of the Legislature and one member of Congress, will be elected on Monday next.

On the last Monday of this month, members of the Lower House of the Legislature will be elected in Rhode Island.—N. Y. Courier.

Summer complaint in Children.—Let me recommend the use of the Rhubarb plant in the summer complaint in children—For seven years past, I have used it in my family with the most decided advantage, and recommend in a great many instances to others, and have never known it to fail a cure. It is, besides, a delightful article; all children are fond of it—and when they are permitted to use it freely, they are never affected with summer complaints. The leaf stalks only are used; they are to be skinned, cut into small pieces, sugar sprinkled on them, (loaf sugar is best,) put into a saucepan covered tight, and stewed for 15 or 20 minutes. It forms a delightful conserve, and is best when spread on a slice of dry bread.—With very young children, incapable of eating it thus, feed with a spoon. Let them eat as much as they please. I believe all the gardeners in the city keep the Rhubarb plants.—[Balt. Pat.
