They have left their nests in the forest bough, Those homes of delight they need not now; And the young and the old they wander out And traverse their green world round about And, hark at the top of his leafy hall, How one to the other they lovingly call : Come up, come up!" they seem Where the topmest twigs in the breezes sway !"

Come up, some up, for the world is fair, Where the merry leaves dance in the summer And the birds below give back the cry, We come, we come to the branches high ." How pleasant the life of the birds must be, Living in love in a leafy tree, And away through the air what joy to go, And to look on the green, bright earth below !

How pleasant the life of a bird must be, Skimming about on the breezy sea, Creating the billows like silvery foam. And then wheelig away to its cliff-built home! What joy it must be to sail, upborne By a strong, free wing, through the rosy morn, To meet the young sun face to face, And pierce like a shaft through boundless space !

To pass through the bowers of the silver cloud, And to eing in the thunder halls aloud: To spread out the wings for a wild, free flight? With the upper cloud-wings, -oh, what delight! Oh, what would I give, like a bird, to go Right on through the arch of the sun lit bo And to seek how the water drops are kissed, Into green, and yellow, and amethyst!

How pleasant the life of a bird must be rever it listeth, there to fee : To go when a joyful fancy calls Dashing down 'mong waterfalls, Then wheeling about with its mates to play, Above and below, and among the apray. flither and thither, with screams as As the laughing mirth of a rosy child:

What joy it must be, like a living breeze, To flutter about mong the flowering trees; Lightly to soar, and to rec beneath The wastes of the blossoming purple heath, And the yellow furze, like the fields of gold, That gladden some fairy region old; On mountain tops, on the billowy sea,
On the leafy stems of the forest tree,
How pleasant the life of a bird must be!

The celebrated substitute for CHLOMEL.

THE proprietors of this article, having devoted nearly seven years, and expended a large amount of money, in experimenting upon the various species of the Tomato. (Solanum Lycopercicum) have at last succeeded in obtaining from that vegetable a principle which as a medicina possesses all the beneficial properties of calomel, and yet incapable of producing the deterious effects sometimes regularing from the use of that drug. This principle (hepatine) is a mild and efficient expectation, and as compounded, nigo acts as a tomic discount of the properties of the compounded, nigo acts as a tomic discount. drug. The following is an editorial from the Cincinnati Telegraph, edited by Bishop Purcell:

"Extract of Tomato, a substitute for Calomel."—The injurious and frequently destructive consequences that have often resulted to the human frame from the necessity of having recourse to a drug of so powerful, and at the same time, of so deleterious a nature, as calomel, induce us to welcome the announcement of a safe, and what is confidently stated to be, in most cases, an effectual substitute for it, which, while it possesses, if not all, at least a great portion of its good qualities, is free from its most objectionable ones. Every discovery in the virtues of the vegetable kingdom-must have its infancy, and its period of orobation. We are inclined to think this will stand the test of seculiny, and be a most desirable acquisition to the world, and particularly to the people of this country. We have heard it highly spoken of, and we believe the result of every investigation of its usefulness, yet made, has been favorable.

Dear Sir. - * * * * * * I have used your Compound I have used them myself with great benefit

The following is from Robert Punchon, Esq., who has made the science of medicine his particular study. Cincinnatti, February, 1st. 1838.

DR Miles

Dear Sir.—It is with much pleasure that I bear testimony to the efficacy of the Tomato pills in affections of the liver: from its operation which I have witnessed in my own case. I am ready to conclude that you have discovered the long looked for desideratum, a substitute for calomel in diseases of the liver. Accept, sir, my grateful acknowledgments. Your obedient servant, Robert Punchon.

The following is extracted from a letter of a highly respectable physician to friends of his in Cincinnatii, who had solicited his opinion as to the virtues of this medicine.

Lawrenceburgh, January 26th, 1838.

Messaw. Preck & Co.

Gentlemen.— * * 1 have used the article (Miles' Compound Extract of Toniato) somewhat extensively in prescription for some months past, in many of the almost numberless mannestations of hepatic derangement particularly in infantile cases, and although I cannot say, that it is in ALL cases in substitute for mercurial addendance and the efficiency and constructions of the strict of the samulation. medicines, yet the striking analogy in its theraputic effects is such as to recommend it favorably to my mind as an adjustant in most instances to the galubition of calomel, and where an immediate or speedy alternative effects and where an immediate or speedy alternative effects. fect is not indispensible, it may supersode its use altogether. In several instances in which as antipathy of prejudice against incrurial remedies existed, I have prescribed it with very good effect.

I am, gentiemen, respectfully yours, &c.
J. H. Brower, M. D.

The following, is a voluntary statement made by a highly respeciable and scientific Physician, and appeared in the "Jeffersonville Courier," last winter — MILES' EXTRACT OF TOMATO—A substitute for EXTRACT OF TOMATO—A substitute for Extraction and a trial of the above and citie. I feel wastanted in recommending it as a useful medicine. The pills possessful the purgative and anti-but ious properties of catomel, without any of its injurious tendencies. Persons who are addicted to habitual torpor of the liver, and consequent accumulations of bite, and who have been compelled to have resourse to the different preparations of mercury for relief, will find Miles Pills, a safe and convenient substitute.
