As Mr. Clay alighted from the carriage, and was As Mr. Clay angues from the carriage, and was passing with the committee into the Hotel, a beau full wreath of roses descended from some fair hands in the balcony upon his brow. This incident proed another hearty acclamation.

In the drawing room, Mr. Clay was received by tien. Scott, after which he was introduced to a large tien. Scott, after which de was introduced to a large number of the citizens of Saratoga, visitors, &c. This evening a ball is to be given at the Unifed States, in honor of Mr. Clay. It will, it is said, be far more brilliant than any ever known at Saratoga.

I will not attempt to contrast the warm, ardent enthusiastic reception, spontaneously offered to Mr. pageants got up for Mr. Van Buren.

Mr. CLAY's approach seemed to create a panic among the dignaturies. Yesterday the President among the dignatures. Yesterday the President and two members of the Cabinet were here. To day they disappeared. Messrs. Forsyrm and Pointsett let list evening. The President with two of the Princes' departed at 11 o'clocd, for Ballston, where it is said he attends a Convention. Mr. CLAY occupies the rooms he vacated. An ominous succession!

Every thing has gone off charmingly. The Yeomer of Saratoga have shown themselves true Whigs -worthy of the soil which their fathers defended. They left their meadows and the harvest fields to elcome among them the Statesman who has so long and so eloquently asserted the rights, defended the nterests, and upheld the honor of the American.

A gentleman who was at the ball on the evening A Steinberger. of the 9th, speaks of its splendor as wholly unsur-passed in all his acquaintance with metry makings, S. B. Reeve & Co. Stockton & Stevens, and it has been extensive. Hewes Baber & Co.

DREADFUL SELF-MURDER.

The Madisonian, Wisconsin Inquirer of the 16th C. Shippen, "The American Hotel in this place was F. J. Parvin on Sunday afternoon last, the scene of a horrid oc currence of this kind. At about 4 o'clock, the atcurrence of this kind. At about 4 o clock, the at-intion of Mr. Fake, the keeper of the American Hotel, was attracted by a gurgling noise: and in casting his eye, observed standing in the door of a room a short distance from him, a man literally J K Olewine & Co. overed with blood, pointing to his throat, and beck-oning to him to approach. Startled and shocked, Mr. Fake advanced towards and followed him into the room, where he beheld a scene horrid and sick ening in the extrome. The floor and bed covered with blood; an open razor, the implement of death, lying on a chair; and the self-murderer, who had sunk upon his knees, struggling for breath, with his throat cut—the treaches completely severed!

Surgical assistance was immediately called, but nothing could be done for him, as he determinedly and frantically resisted every attempt made to dress or even touch the wound,

"His only desire was to see his wife, who was in the faurily; and having obtained a sho of paper, wrote with a pencil—'I want to see my wife. It's all I ask: N. T. D.' It was deemed proper however, not to grant him request, and he, after a half an hour of intense suffering expired. His pame was

Nathaniel T. Duncombe.

"As will be seen by the following letters which we are permitted to publish, one of which was addressed to his wife an hour or two before, and the ther found on his body after his death, the cause of this suicide was an unfortunate difficulty between imself and his wife, which it appears he could not succeed in recoucling. This difficulty arose from brutal treatment at his hands; and which compelled her six or eight months ago, to leave the family of Mr. Fake. The husband who resided at Jefferson, came to this place two or three days before his death for the purpose of reconciliation.

"Having failed in this, he came to the determi nation of destroying himself; and waited until his wife and Mr. Fake's tamily had gone to church, and then crawled in a window into her apartment, where, after cutting his arms, which were found to be deeply gashed in several places, he opened his wife's trunk, took out her clothing, and besmeared each seperate article with blood, wrote the initials of his name in glaring capitals, with blood upon the wall, and then cut his throat!

"Duncombe formerly resided in the city of New York, where he now has a brother, and was a baker

I find it impossible to bring about a reconciliatun with my wife, and I feel that it is impossible for me to survive. It could have been effected, and we should have been happy, if it were not for a few who have taken a mistaken view of my actions. Itorgive them. Let them remember, to err is hunew country to obtain a nome for my family. My affections were wholy placed on my wife, notwith standing some things that have occurred to mar the marriage. I freely forgive her, and now I am out of the way of prosecution, 1 hope she will forgive what has gone amiss on my side, as she would not do it when I was still living. I used svery persuation that I was capable of, but by the interference of a few folks who wished

I have failed; on them rests a heavy responsibili-

the 30th of June '."

"'After writing the above, I have come to the determination to try once more; and if all fail, and she remain inflexible to my request, as I find it is hard to part with her, as well as with my life, my doom is sealed, and I shall leave this world, with all its allurements, to find that rest which death, the poor man's friend, has for me.

N. T. DUNCOMBE.'"

Saratega Springs .- The number of visiters at the Springs last week, was far greater than on any for-mer occasion. Every Hotel overflowed, and all spare rooms, in dwellings of the villagers which could be impressed, were occupied by visiters. And the scene is as gorgeous as it is gay. The inter-course between the visiters is as inartificial as possible. People see n not to have gone there—as many go abroad to make themselves disagreeable angers meat and converse with frankness and cordiality. The cold, formal repulsive rules which too frequently breeze over the enjoyments of social have been repudiated at Saratoga.

Distinguished men, from nearly all the States of the Union, are at the Springs. Among those whom we recollect were the President of the United States Henry Clay, Gen. Scott, the Hon. Abbot Lawrence the Hon. Peleg Sprague, the Hon. Mr. Briggs, the Hon. Caleb Cushing and "Peter Parley," of Massachusetts; Gov. Mason of Michigan, the late Gov. Branch of North Carolina, Chief Justice Hornblow er of New Jersey, Josiah Randall, Esq. of Pailadel-phia, the Hon. Mr. Meredith and Reverdy Johnson Esq. of Baltimore, Philip Hone, the Hon. N. P. Tallmadge, Chief Justice Jones, Judge D. B. Tallmadge, the Hon. Edward Curtis, the Hon. James Monroe, and "Major Jack Downing." of New York. Among the Ladies of distinction, are the Countess of Westmoreland, the Lady of the late Gov. Clinton. and the Authoress of " Letters from the old world." in the New York American .- Albany evening Jour
