The Snow Storm .- Eighteen inches of Snow fell at Washington City on Friday and Saturday last, and drifted at some places upwards of four feet. A much greater quantity also fell at Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, &c. than in this region. The mighty revolution in the opinions of the people seem to have effected a change in the seasons in different sections also. Our hitherto snow-capp'd mountains, with the thermometer ranging from 10, 15, and 24 degrees below 0, are, comparatively speaking, quite | things : bare, and the weather mild, while the citizens on the seaboard, and our national metropolis, are almost inundated with Snow, accompanied with all the severity of stern winter

" To swell the braoding terrors of the storm."

Schuylkill County Iron Ore .- The editor of the Danville Democrat, in an article last week, says : When we alluded to our Ore being superior to any in the immediate neighborhood of the Coal region, we meant the Ore found near the Coal mines at Pottsville, and elsewhere."

It is true that the Ore in this region does not yield quite as much as the Ore in the vicinity of Danville, but this difference is more than made up by the facilities we enjoy of obtaining the Ore and Coal out of the sam opening. But ac usl experience at ville, we would say, stop at the Pennsylvania Hall. the Anthracite Furnace in this Borough has proven , You will find every one anxious to please, and will that the Ore found in the Coal region, makes much better Iron, with the use of Anthracite Coal, than that obtained out of the Coal Region-and arrange-3 ments are now making by the proprietors, Messrs, Marshall & Co. to procure a supply of Ore exclusively from this region.

Our Danville friends in their anxiety to induce capitalists to locate in their vicinity must let us alone. Their invidious and unfair comparis one promulgated some time since, called forth some remarks from us, which opened the eyes, and induced one large concern to change the scite for the location of their Rolling Mill, and transfer it to the Coal Region. If they continue to direct their shafts at us, we may be induced to make some further remarks, which may be the means of transferring the Furnaces hereafter to be built to the Coal Region also.

Pennsylvania Hall .- We find the following wellmerited notice of this establishment in the last Miltonian. The editor knows how to appreciate good

"Having had occasion during the past week to visit Pottsville, we stopped a while in that Borough, at the Pennsylvania Hall, under the care of Mr. D'Estimauville. We were so much delighted with the polite and gentlemanly attention of our host, with the rich and abundant provisions of his table, the order and regularity of the establishment, in every department, that we were sorely tempted to prolong our stay with " mine host," to enjoy the luxuries of his house. This Hotel is one of the very best in the State, and is elegantly furnished, and while every attention is paid to the body, the mind is not neglected. There is in the Hall, a splendid reading room, furnished with the choicest publications of the day, from every section of the United States. To our friends who intend visiting . Pottsville Engines .- The last Danville Democrat in speaking of the Engines manufactured by our townsmen, Messrs. Ha, wood & Snyder, says :

"Better Engines, it is is lieved, cannot be made any where, and the blowing cylinders of Haywood & Snyder are unsurpassed. The latier gentlemen are now putting up the machinery for the four large Furnaces of Messrs. BIDDLE, CHAMBERS & Co. 1WO of which will be put in blast during the present or following month. It consists of two ninety, horse Engines, of 6 feet stroke, and four pair of 40 inch blowing cylinders, also of 6 feet stroke-each pair of which is intended to blow a Furnace, and will produce 4000 cubic feet of blast per minute, at the ordinary speed of the Engines, and may be much increased if required."

The Cabinet Discussion .- The following from the Boston Atlas meets our views on this question, and no doubt the views of the people generally.

" It is hardly worth while, we think, for the press to make a Cabinet for Gen. Harrison. He may as well be left to perform that duty himself. He comes into the Presidency with such strength of public confidence and popular opinion in his favor, that waether in regard to the formation of his Cabinet, or other important measures, he has no occasion to regard any thing but the greatest good of the country, and the general wishes of the people. These, we know he will consult, conscientiously and wisely, and we await his decision. We object, there. fore, altogether, and from the start, to ALS attempts to limit or trammel his discretion. The PEOPLE have chosen him, on the reliance that when the proper time arrives, he will exercise his pwn judgment and THAT, we are fully persuaded, HE WILL DO

The Washington correspondent of the Philadel. phia North American, writes-

Mr. Van Buren, in his defeat assumes a philosophic demeanor, which his friends seem but little disposed to imitate. He was stepping out of church, when an officious retailer of news, of his dwn party, gave him the information which withered his hopes. 'The news to day, sir, gives the Whigs ten, thousand majority in New York, and a small majority in Pennsylvania.' Not a muscle of Mr. Van Buren's countenance changed, but dryly answering-Then Gen. Harrison is your next President,' he madehis usual bow, and turned abruptly from his informant.

The Great Iron Steam Ship .- The New York Sun speaks of the immense iron steamer build to run between Bristol and New York says : to be constructed with iron 5-8ths of an inch thick, tightly joined together with rivets and ribs, and keel of cast iron. It is divided into small compartments, so that should a hole be knocked into any part of it. which seems impossible, only one compartment would fill, and the boat could never sink. But what is the most extraordinary about the construction of this immense boat is the manner of propelling it. It is to work by a screw placed behind, and on the principle of sculling, which is to turn around under water at the stern, thereby saying the use of paddleboxes. In case this succeeds, it will be of great utility in armed steamships, as then, having nowheels on the side, shot would not injure or impede the manner of propelling them as it would now. The vessel, which is the largest yet made by that company, will be finished in 1842, and is calculated. to be the fastest of the line." · · · · · · · · · ·
