

FOR THE MINER'S JOURNAL. THE IRON TRADE.

In my last I promised to give a description of some of the ores in the coal region of Schuylkill county, and to compare them with some of the ores found in the coal region in Scotland and Wales...

Until the experiments of making iron with anthracite were fully successful, very few of our iron works were opened, and no one was inclined to go to the expense of searching for ore, where it found, there would be but little demand for, owing to their being no furnace in operation in the region; and it was useless to build them in a country where wood-lane was at so high a price as it was in Schuylkill county.

The first visit of Professor Rodgers to this coal region, with the object of trying to survey the Schuylkill county coal region, was, we think, in the summer of 1837; in his report to the Legislature when they met the ensuing session, we find the following in regard to the iron ores of the anthracite coal regions:

He says: "Occasionally these shales contain highly ferruginous bands, in some of which occur layers of tolerable rich argillaceous iron ore. In the anthracite coal measure as a general rule, this ore does not appear to exist in that abundance which it exhibits in many portions of the bituminous coal series north-west of the Allegheny mountains. Its quantity is, however, very considerable, and hopes are entertained, that in the course of the enterprising mining operations, and the geological explorations now on foot, valuable beds of the ore may be developed."

In Mr. Rodgers's report of 1839, he made a more minute examination of the ore region of Schuylkill county, and had analyzed such specimens of ore of an average quality, as he could procure. In his report to the Legislature in 1840, page 43, he says:

"The application of anthracite coal in the process of smelting iron, first made in Wales, and recently introduced with entire success at Pottsville, by an enterprising citizen of the State, has called forth much enquiry as to the productiveness of our anthracite region in regard to iron. I have therefore expressed no pains to collect information bearing upon this important question, visiting and causing to be visited, particularly in the Pottsville region, every locality promising to be valuable in regard either to quality or quantity of the mineral. Out of a variety of specimens collected, at great a number have been analyzed as the limited time allowed for the preparation of my annual report would permit. These having been selected with a view to show particularly the prevailing quality and average richness of the ore of the region generally. Special care has been bestowed upon the analysis of those specimens which are taken to substitute chemical examination, such specimens only, as represent the average character of their respective beds, choosing those freshly opened in the mines or in some deep excavation, and rejecting as far as possible, samples gathered from the outcrop or from the surface, as these invariably contain too high a percentage of iron to prove a fair criterion." (See Geo. Report 1840, page 43, 44.)

Thus it will be seen that Mr. Rodgers has analyzed such specimens only as would give an idea of the average richness of the ore, and that the coal region of Schuylkill county in the neighborhood of Pottsville, and has rejected all the specimens that were not of an average quality. The following is the analysis of the ores from which these specimens were selected:

Iron ore from Pottsville, from a bed of huge balls, in a tunnel north from the gate vein. This specimen contained 39.09 per cent metallic iron. This bed passes through the land of Mr. Charles Lawton, and this gentleman has opened the mine and has also discovered other beds of 'Ball' ore, and also several veins of the 'Black band' ore, the same variety that is held in such high repute and is found in the 'Monkland,' near Glasgow, Scotland. Mr. Johnson in his report on the 'Iron trade in Scotland and Wales,' says, in speaking of the 'Ball' ore in this district:

"The works in that district have the command of the black band iron stone, the possession of which my informant states to be so great an advantage, that without it the trade would not be worth following. The furnaces of the Monkland, by using this combination of iron stone, may average 100 tons in 7 days each, but those which have not this material do not yield near so large a quantity."

Messrs. Mann & Co. have made very extensive openings of iron in the Mt. Laurel mines, and have driven gangways, and have now on hand several hundred tons of excellent ore that has been mined this season; the general character of the ore is very much the same as that taken from Mr. Lawton's mines. Several other gentlemen have also mined considerable quantities of ore during the past winter, among whom are Messrs. Patterson, Carey, and R. C. Hill.

The following is the analysis of eight out of ten of the specimens taken by Mr. Rodgers, from as many different veins:

From bed of Balls of the gate vein 39.09
Eye tract, rabbit-hole vein Pottsville 26.39
Vein opened at Pottsville by B. Patterson, Esq. 33.90
McCarty's Tunnel, Pottsville, 26.39
Mann & Williams Tunnel, Guinness Hill, Pottsville, 32.48
do do another vein, 30.66
do do 3d vein, 34.72

It will be seen that the average of the eight specimens above numbered is 33.77 per cent, and they will be found to bear a very close resemblance to the ore taken from the Coal Measures of England and Wales, from whence nearly the whole supply is taken; for the English Scotch and Welsh furnaces.

In my next I shall give an account of the ores taken from the coalfield of Scotland and Wales and compare them with our own.

Indiana.—Tippacann county, the Battle Ground gave a Harrison and Tyler majority of 311 votes being a gain of about 100 since the August election.

Henry W. Cushman, of Bennington, Massachusetts, a candidate for the Legislature, was in the recent election opposed and beaten by his own father.

It is stated that Crocker, who for a number of years kept a successful gambling house in London is about to retire with an income of £25,000 per annum.

Camden, N. J. This city contains a population of 3360.

A little girl, whose parents resided near Fairmount, on Sunday, the 8th inst., accidentally got a grain of coffee in her swallow, which caused her death about three o'clock the next morning.

It almost makes us whimper to read a Locofoco paper now-a-days. They whine and fret, and bellow, like a parcel of qualling children after a severe spanking from their mamma. Poor devils!

"Constitutional State." O. K.—The New Bedford Mercury tells a capital story occasionally. The following is an average specimen.

A clergyman in this town having recently united a couple in the holy bands of wedlock, called at their residence about a year and a half ago, and inquired of his fair bride, what she thought of the conjugal state. "O," said she, with great characteristic readiness of reply, "I think it will be for Harrison."

Health of an Admitted King and Queen.—The King and Queen have retired from public affairs with a privy purse of 168 millions of francs. William was 25 years of age, and Victoria was 19 years of age when they were crowned. It is not said what amount her Majesty's privy purse will be, but it is reported to be considerable.—Paris National.

Judging from the immense State majorities for Harrison, it would appear as if a great deal of British Gold had been wasted. More Locos were bought up than were necessary.

MARRIED. In Philadelphia, on Wednesday the 11th ultimo, by the Rev. Mr. Odenheimer, Major General Gutz, of Reading, to Miss CAROLINE, daughter of Thomas Desilver, of Philadelphia.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. Dr. WISTAR'S Balsam of Wild-Cherry, THE CELEBRATED REMEDY FOR Diseases of the Lungs.

NUMEROUS remedies have been offered and puffed out into notice for CURES OF THE LUNGS, some of which have undoubtedly been found very useful but of all that have hitherto been known, it must be universally acknowledged there is none that has ever cured CROUPS and COLDS in the "BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY." Such indeed are the astonishing restorative and healing properties of this BALSAM, that even in the worst forms of CONSUMPTION, when the patient has suffered the most distressing cough, violent pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, &c. & when the most esteemed remedies of our Pharmacopoeia had failed to afford any relief, and when Botanic, Homoeopathic, and numerous other remedies, had been used for many months in vain, this valuable remedy has effected a speedy cure, and in the early stages of the disease, proceeding from neglected colds, termed Catarrhal Consumption, it has been used with undeviating success, and in many instances, when the disease seemed to have marked its victim for an early grave, the use of this medicine has arrested every symptom, and restored the lungs to a state of perfect health.

In that form of CONSUMPTION, so prevalent among delicate young females, commonly termed debility, or going into a decline; a complaint with which thousands are afflicted, it has also been used with surprising success, and not only possesses the power of checking the progress of this alarming disease, but it restores the system more effectually than any remedy we have ever possessed.

ASTHMA COMPLAINT.—In diseases of the Lungs, particularly when attended with a cough, indigestion or wandering pains in the side, it has also proved very efficacious, and cured many cases of this kind after the most powerful remedies had failed.

ASTHMA.—In this complaint it has also been used in numerous instances with the most singular success. It opens the chest, rendering the breathing perfectly free, arrests the cough, and will seldom fail to give permanent relief.

BRONCHITIS.—As a remedy in all Bronchial affections, this Balsam will also be found particularly useful. Besides having proved an invaluable remedy in all Pulmonary affections, it exerts a powerful influence over many diseases depending on a depraved condition of the system, and in such cases, it improves the whole system more effectually than any other medicine we possess.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—As this medicine has already acquired great celebrity, there may probably be some attempts to imitate it, and deceive the public with a spurious article, to prevent this, the public are hereby notified to observe the following marks of the genuine Balsam. It is put up in bottles of two sizes each, having the words WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY printed in bold letters on the wrapper, and a label on the front with the signature of HENRY WISTAR, M. D. without which none are genuine.

Prepared for the Proprietor by WILLIAMS & Co. Chemists, No. 21, Commerce Street, Phila. and sold by the most respectable Druggists and Apothecaries Agents in all the principal towns throughout the United States.
