A Temperance Story. One of the Washingtonians relates the follow ing quizzical story about himself :-

I used to drink, and my wife used to jaw me about it. What do you get drunk for ! said she. What do you jaw me for ! said I. So we agreed that I would not drink, and, she would not scold. For three long days we held on firm-no drinking nor scolding-but on the third evening, being in company with some good fellows, I took a horn, and when that was down I right off wanted another, and in a very short time I found myself about show fire you !" with twenty horns safe and snugly in my bread-basket. (Tremendous laughter.) By and by it got to be time to go home; but, as you may well suppose I dreaded to meet my wife like the tooth-ache, (laughter.) However, go I must, and so I staggered along, hoping to find my wife abed, (laughter.) When I reached the house I found it still lighted, and through the window I saw my wife up and waiting for me, (laughter.) Thinks I, I can't go in vet, but I must wait till she goes to bed; so there I stood thalf freezing in the cold rain two hours. (tremendous laughter.) At last she went to bed and I crept in at the back door, stumbling over a pails and chairs, but finally succeeded in getting to bed without disturbing her, (laughter,) but, after dozing a while, I awoke and found myself as dry as a fish. (laughter.) You know, brethren, how dry we all used to be in the night after we'd had a spree, (tremendous laughter) My wife always knew what was the matter with me when I got up in the night to drink cold water, (laughter.) I hardly dared to get up for fear of my spife; but my thirst was greater than T would thear, (laughter,) so out I crawled and groped very softly after the water pail, (loughter,) but no water was there, (laughter;) I then felt round in the dark on the tables and shelves for something, to cool my burning thirst; soon I found a tin pan full if something liquid, I seized it and put it to my mouth, and took a long and hearty draughtthe I quid at the same time running out at each side of my mouth down my cheeks-(tremendous laughter.) I thought that the liquid tasted odd that I had fixed some poison a few days before to county, so that they amear before our Judges, cure me too. THE CHRISTMAS BONNETS. A city maid-ofall work, having hought a new bonnet with her " Christmas boxes," resolved to wear the same on her next. Sunday out," and a-ked the servant next door to accompany her, as some protection from persons in the street, who invariably noticed once a week, and charge this office. any new gear she chanced to wear. Accordingly, the two girls set out for St. Paul's, where, chancing to enter at the moment the choir were singing the Hallelujah chorus, the girl in the new bonnet darted out of the church, crying to her friend: "I total you how it would be-they were all crying out to me hardly knew you!' FACTS WORTH KNOWING .- If you be a rich man you may enter the room with three loud hems, march deliberately up to the chimney, and turn your back to the fire. If you be a poor man, I would advise you to shrink into the room as fast as you can, and place yourself, as usual upon the corner of a chair, in a remote corner.

Tue Dectaration .- Here is one of the neatest turned epigrams in the language. Imagine, if you please, a sentimentalist most gracefully reclining on the sofa with the last fashionable novel in her hand, and her heart unfeeling as a pincushion, and before her, prostrate on his marrow bones. a perfumed youth of twenty, with eyes upturned in agony sublime, sobbing out, in anything but

My chariner! I would his for thee If thou wouldst only his for me! Ah do!" renlies (be de) " replies the dark-eyed cif. " I NEVER WANT TO DIE MYSELF!

Somebody, with a pretty fair stock of worldly wisdom, has said that he who wilfully makes encmies, is not merely brutal, but he is foolish in the bargain. We cogitated upon the remark three quarters of an hour yesterdry, and finally came to the conclusion, that the remark was just as sensible as any we ever made in our most deliberately wise moments.

Beauty and wit will die, learning and wealth vanish away; all the arts of life be forgotten, but Virtue will remain forever. Planted on earth in a cold ungenial clime, it will bloom and ripen in heaven.

Learning is obtained only by labor; it cannot be bought with money : otherwise the rich would uniformly be intelligent. Learning regards all men as equal, and bestows her treasures on these only who work for them.

SYMPATHY. - Being rubbed long, and often, against the loadstone of society, we attain, in a thousand little minute particulars, an attraction in common with our fellows. Their petty serrows and small joys; their objects of interest or em ployment, at some time or other have been outs. We must not always speak all that we know that were folly; but what a man says should be what he thinks, otherwise it would be knavery .-All a man can get by lying and dissembling is that he shall not be believed when he speaks the Various remedies were resorted to—the most skilful physicians were consuled yet step by step that fearful disease, consumption began to prey upon her. She became subject to violent fits of coughing, expectorated large quantistics of matter and avas evidently staking very last. In this distressing situation, after all the various remedies had been tried in vain, and when naught but the grave seemed to afford her any prospect of relief, the invaluable Balson retored her to health; and now, in the place of that emaciated form, withcring to decay, she is mingling in society, in better health and spirits than she has enjoyed for years. THE innocence and universally admitted pectral virtues of the Herbs from which the BALSAM OF HOREHOUND is made, are too generally known to require recommendation: it is therefore ouls necessary to observe that this Medicine contains the cessary to observe that this Medicine contains the whole of their Medicinal properties, highly concentrated and so happily combined with several other vegetable substances, as to render it the most speedy, mild and certain remedy, now in use, for the complaints above mentioned.

ANOTHER FACT.

Mr. Winslow—Sir: Having derived the most astonishing benefit, by the use of your "Balsam of Horehound." I am anxious in some way, to aid in extending its benefits to others, and will herefore state the facts in my own case. In January last, I had been afflicted with an alarming Cough and Bleeding at the Lungs, for nearly five months, during which time I used every thing almost, recommended in similar cases, but found little or no relief. Having given up my bus incess entirely, and by the advise of Physicians made preparation to go South as suon as practicable. I was advised to make trial of the above truly valuable Medicine, and to my great surprise, found almost instant relief, and by using only four bottles was entirely restored to health.

HEREBY CERTIFY that my daughter has been affliced with sick neadache for the space of about 20 years. the attacks occurring once in about two weeks trequently lasting 24 hours during which time the paroxysms have been so severe, as apparently soon to deprive her of life. And after having tried almost all other remedies in vain I have been induced as a last resort to try Spohn's Headache Remedy as sold by you; and to the great disamointment and joy of herself and her friends I found very materia relief from the first dose of the medicine; she has followed up the directions with the article, and in every case when a material was threatened has found every case when an attack was threatened has found every case when an attack was threatened has found immediate relief, until she is near permanently cured. The attacks are now very seldom, and disappear immediately after taking the quantity directed. A hore that others may be benefited by the use of this truly invaluable medicine, has induced me to send you the above, and remain your obedient servant,
