

Epiphany on a Candle. A wicked one lurks here. Who died in a decline? He never rose in rank, I fear. Though he was made to shine. He once was full, but now, indeed, He's thin as any greaser! He died—the doctors all agreed, Of a most burning fever.

Now winding sheets he sometimes made, But this was not enough, For finding this a poor trade, He also died in snuff. 'Tis for you said, 'Go out, I pray,' He much ill-nature show'd; On such occasions he would say, 'Vy, if I do, I'm blazed'!

In this friends do all agree, Although you think 'tis joking, When going out 'twas said that he Was very fond of smoking. Since all religion he despised, Let these few words suffice, Before he went he was baptised, They'dp'd him once or twice.

A countryman from Vermont offered a horse for sale to a merchant. He supposing that the fellow had secured the horse dishonestly, asked if he knew 'Square'—'of Windsor, Vt. He answered, 'Yes.' 'Well,' says the merchant, 'he is a great rascal.' 'Very well,' replied the jockey, 'he says the same of you.' Being asked, who he believed—'Faith, I believe you both.'

'Madam,' said a druggist the other day, to a lady who was examining Ologine, 'I assure you it is an excellent article, and if you will condescend to approximate the extreme extension of your proboscis to the enclosed orifice of the bottle, thus thrusting the particles of fluid operate upon your olfactory nerve, the sensation that you will experience will make the truth of my assertion perceptible.'

A game Cuckoo.—Joe Slob, Jr., has a sneaking notion after Clementine Snibbs, Philadelphia's prettiest girl, who lately joined the Church. Joe got a good chance, yesterday, and in the vicinity of her residence, a Clementine sat in her toy carriage, in her nice white dress, and her toy check, looking for all the world like the bloom of a rose bud, he put down his bill, and pressing it upon the tempting spot—snuck—sounded the report. Joseph frightened out of his wits, at his audacity, drew back; but she, innocent soul, just turned her head around. Joe stood petrified.

'Come, Mr. Slob,' and there he stuck. 'Come, Mr. Slob,' 'I—what do you want, Miss?' 'You must kiss me.' 'You blushed to the forehead.' 'Kiss you?—To fill the scripper, which?—When I smacks thee on the cheek, turn, and let him smack thee on the other also.' Joe was star-struck. It is now considered a case all around.—St. Louis.

Witty Legal Characters. To Maître, a celebrated advocate, used to amuse his friends during the vacation by pleading causes for the pesantary. On one occasion he made such a reputation, that the provincial magistrate—himself had done wrong to waste his splendid abilities on trifling matters in the provinces.—To go to Paris, you will find a fitting field for them; you will there become the rival of the famous Le Maître.

Of another occasion, having introduced several Latin quotations with the view of embarrassing the judge, he provoked a curious addition to the judgment:—'We fine the advocate a crown for having addressed his in a language which we do not understand.'

An advocate, by way of accompaniment to his speech, was flourishing about his hand in each manner as if showing a magnificent diamond ring. He was young, good-looking, and pleading for a lady of quality, who had demanded a separation from her liege lord. The husband, who happened to be present, interrupted him in the middle of a period, and turning to the magistrates, exclaimed—'My Lords, you will appreciate the zeal which I—displaying against me, and above all, the purity of the grounds on which he relies, when you are informed that the diamond ring he wears on the day of that and on she is no anxious to disengage it. The Court, says M. Berger, rose immediately; the cause was lost, and the advocate never had another. What adds to the point of the catastrophe, it does not appear that the husband's statement, but the slightest foundation in fact, or that he entertained any suspicion of the sort.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS, As appears by the following testimonial, are a universal remedy for the purification of the blood, and as a consequence, the eradication of disease from the HUMAN SYSTEM.

THOMAS & JAMES BEATTY, HAVING been duly appointed County Agent for the sale, in large or small quantities, of the named article, suggest the following as a strong, prescriptive medicine, is founded on unquestionable and well-attested authority.
