A Love-Suicine. Our readers may recollect our mentioning, last week, says the N. Y. Tatder, the spicide of a Miss Malvina Helm, at Elizabethtown, Ky. It seems that she was on a visit to the family of a Dr. Slaughter, The evening before her death she was cheerful.

She destroyed herself between the Monte of 12 on Baturday night, and 5 on Sunday morning After her friends had withdrawn, she took from Mrs. Slaughter's room, pen, ink and paper, and returned to the parlor. When the family retired for the night, she was admonished that it was fate, and said that she too would retire after she

On a table in the same room with the decease was found a wine glass with (from the marks upon the glass) what seemed to be the remains of a large draught of the sulphate of morphine, and in a port folio on the table, in the hand writing of the deceased, the following lines:

"If there are any on earth who hate me, I forgive them. If there are any whom I have injured, I atone for it with my life. If there are any who love me,

DEAR SIR:—An article called Dr. Hewes "Nerve and Bone Liniment," came to my knowledge about two months since, through our friend Mr. Campbell, and I procured a bottle and had used it for about a week without any material change, until one morning I found myself under the exercise of very ancommon feelings, imagining that could I be helped up I could stand and walk, I requested my family to aid me, but, they were unwilling I should trust myself on my feet, not having for the last fourteen and a half years ever even made the attempt to stand: but my confidence was so great that they consented to assist. I found I could use my legs with apparent ease, but could not bear my weight but my feet. With support, however, I could place one foot before the other with a facility that astonished me and all around me. They led me twice across the room; I sat down with feelings of happiness that I never before experienced; the idea was that I was once again to be restored to the world ran through my frameline an electric shock. An attorney was accordingly sent for to prepare the required document, and the widow on his arrival, appeared to be realizing the greatest affliction at her good man's thinger, but forthwith proceeded to ask questions of her pretended husband, calculated to elicit the answers she expected and desired. The old cobler, greaning aloud, and looking as much like a person going to give up the ghost as possible, feebly answered, "I intend to leave you half my estate; and I do think the poor old shoemaker, who lives over the way, is deserving of the other half, for he has always been a gesd neighbor." The widow was thunderstruck at receiving a reply so different to that which she expected, but dared not negative the cobler's will, for fear of loosing the whole of the property, while the cunning old rogue in bed, who was himself the poor old shoemaker living over the way, laughed in his eleeve, and divided with her the fruits of a project which the widow had intended for her sale benefit - English Paper.

From the Courier and Enquirer. It would be preposterous in a writer for the readers of such a Journal as the Courier, to address their prejudices, passions or superstitions. Good common sense should at least be pussessed by the readers of prejudices, passions of superstitions. Good-common sense should at least be possessed by the readers of this paper, and those possessed of such, and those only, do we care to attract. We will now assert, in the most unqualified terms, that an innocent remedy has been found, that will absolutely cure Rheumatim, and stiffness of joints, if of twenty years' standing. The assertion is no broad, that it will hardly octain credence, we are aware, takens supported by uncommon testimony. Now the testimony given to so many worthless quackeries is so abundant, that to discriminate between such, and real matter of fact testimony, is very difficult. To come at once at a point that can at once be appreciated, the proprietors have resolved to give this remedy to the poor, and to cure those able to pay for it, before they sik pay, and then leave it to the sufferer to pay what he chooses. We entreat, therefore, sufferers to call at 71 Maiden Lane, for some drops (Indian Elixir) to be taken, and a Nerte and Bone Liniment to use outwardly; and if they will not, by one week's use, become more surprised and delighted than they ever expected, we will nover again make such an assertion. Will invalids now suffer for the want of this mid, innocent, and all potent remedy! If they refuse it, we pity them indeed.—[M. Y. Cour. & Eng., Fab. 19, 1842.
