Their paths are paths of plenteousness, They sleep on silk and down; And never think how heavily The weary head lies down.

They know not of the scanty meal, With small pale faces round; No fire upon the cold damp hearth, When snow is on the ground.

They never by the window lean, And see the gay pass by-Then take their weary task sgain, But with a sorder eye. Dirge for a Young Girl. Underneath the sod, low lying, Dark and dear, Sleepeth one who left in dying, Friends she loved, in fears, are twining Chaplets there.

Thrilling incident in Court. The Newark Advertiser of Monday relates the following incident, that occurred in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, that closed in that city or

" During the progress of the criminal trials, an incident occurred which excited deep sensation throughout the court room. The history of the case in which it originated is briefly this: A mother had visited her daughter, then married a year or two, whom she had not seen for some time, having been forbidden by the husband to enter his house, in consequence of some family fend. Duting this visit of her mother, the husband returned home and found her grand children on her lap. He immediately ordered her to leave his premises the daughter apprehending trouble, seized her child and left the room. The mother not leaving as rapidly as was desired, a brother of the husband used some unjustifiable violence towards her, which was the foundation of the indictment for assault and battery. On this triol the mother had given her testimony, detailing with much emotion her treatment, and giving utterance to her maternal grief in being denied all intercourse with her daughter, whom she had not been permitted to see since the occasion of the above visit and violent reatment, which was in March last. Her situation excited the sympathy of all in attendance, and the anguish of a mother's heart could not be suppressed. After her examination had closed, the daughter was next introduced as a witness from a remote part of the Court room. It was soon manifested that she had caught the contagion of her mother's grief, and it was in vain she exerted herself to stifle her sobs. She howeverknew nothing of the alleged violence, because apprehending difficulty, she had taken her infant from her mother and left the room, as before stated.—

But her conflict of feeling, arising from the rival ble sympathies soon absorbed the attention of the courts, jurors and speciators. The husband instantly rushed to his wife, and removed her from her mother, and while conducting her away, the Colef Justice, partaking of the deep feeling prevailing throughout the court room, in a decided and 'e uphatic tone, directed the husband to release his wife, declaring that if he juterfered with her freedom, and attempted to prevent her holding conwerze with her mother while attending court, as a witness, in his presence, he would place Lim where he would be unable to exercise his power. He thereupon loosed his hold on his wife, but the separation of the daughter from the mother had been effected, and the wife was too loyal to disobey the wishes of her husband, este ming in accordance with our Saviour's injunction, her relation to him pearer than to her mother, and cleaving to him with an affectionate tenacity, which preferred a breach any where else, than impair the cement of that union by which the hearts of husband and wife had become indissolubly attach-

" The whole was truly a the lling scene, and excited intense emotion in every heart. The wresting of the daughter from the mother seemed to the latter, like the tearing of a limb or some member from the body; so agonising appeared to be her grief. And yet while a daughter may be considered part of her parents, she is one and indivisible with her husband. But we forbear dwelling more at length upon this extraordinary and exciting occurrence, or to enlarge on its moral bearings: leaving our readers to indulge, each for himself, in his own reflections."

A MORTAL AFFRAY. We like to a see good moral enwreathed in a bit of drollery. A man meeting with wholesome counsel in such a shape will often turn round and reform in a pleased mood, while more stern instruction might only irritate and drive him further into evil. The following, from the Mississippi Southern Journal, is one of the best hits of the kind we have met with:

EXTRAORDINARY CASE. Quesec, May 8, 1837. EAR SIR: -An article called Dr. Hewes "Nerve and Bone Liniment," came, to my knowledge a-bout two months since, through our friend Mr. Camp-bell, and I procured a bottle and had used it for about a week without any material change, until one mora-ing I found myself under the exercise of very uncoming I found myself under the exercise of very ducommon feelings, imagining that could I be helped up I could stand and walk, I requested my family to aid me, but they were unwilling I should trust myself on my feet, not having for the last feurteen and a half years ever even made the attempt to stand; but my confidence was so great that they consented to assist me from my bed. I found I could use my legs with an exercise the residence was so with the could not be a my legs with and all around me. They led me twice across the room; I sat down with feelings of happiness that I never before experienced; the idea was that I was

But her conflict of feeling, arising from the rival claims to her affections, between her husband and mother, almost overwhelmed her, and her truly unhaps y position, with the evident struggle which was rending her bosom, drew tears from many in attendance.

But the trying scens was yet to come. The daughter, on retiring from the witness stand, passed usar where the mother was; and as she sproached her mother, she found herself locked in her parent's centrace, and countral tears and audible witness stand and better the most extraordinary of any I ever heard of, and fit is not extensively made known to the public sympathies soon absorbed the attention of the lic, I think the proprietors are very culpable. READ WHAT IT HAS DONE. A Wonderful Recovery .- Mrs. S. E. Austin was attacked with this disease in the full of 1838, originating from a violent cold which settled opon her lungs. Various remedies were resorted to—the most skilful physicians were consulted yet step by step that fearful disease, consumption began to prey upon her. She became subject to violent fils of coughing, expectorated large quan-titles of matter and was evidently stoking very fast. In this distressing streation, after all the various remedies had been tried in vain, and when naught but the grave stimed to afford her any prospect of relief, the invaluable Balsaw re-stored her to health; and now, in the place of that emeciated form, withering to decay, she is mingling in society, in better health and spirite than she bas enjoyed for years. IT See description of this interesting case in Dr. Wistar's Tre-

Disinterested Testimong. Having witnessed he surprising efficacy of Dr. Wietar's prepara tion of Wild Cherry, in the case of Mr. Auatin, I cheerfully recommend it as a valuable remedy, poor but highly respectable member of the Math. dist church, was also afflicted with Consumption in its worst forms, and considered past re-covery by all her friends. A hottle of this Bal-sal was presented to her, which relieved her intmediately. This circomstance being made known to the members of the church, they purchased several bottles for her, which relieved her entirely. The same society have purchased over forty bottles, for persons in indiligent cir. umstances, and positively assert it has not been used in a single instance where it has not given surprising relief. 🏂 TWe, the undersigned, members of the Der. bin Benevolent Society of the Methodist church, having examined the above statement of Mrs. Wilson's case, hereby certify it is in all respects-true, and carneatly recommend Dr. Wistar's remedy to all who are offlicted.

Liver Complaint.—Mrs. Eliza Thompson was afflicted with this complaint for nearly five years, doring which time she was under the most skil-ful physicians—had tried Mercury, Botanic, and Homompathic remedies, and every thing that af. fored her any hopes of relief. She had dull, wandering pains in the side, sometimes in the shoulder and small of the back, a backing cough, frequent pains in the breast, and has been unable to sleep on the right side for three years. By the use of this Balsam, she was cured in a few weeks, and remains well to this day.

It has stopped my rough entirely, checked my night sweats, and I loop better at night and feel better in every way than I have for many months. Youst, respectfully, James Kelly, Holmesburg, September 12, 1841. Friend Wister-I must again trouble thee to send me two bottles more of thy invaluable Ralsam.
