

POTTSVILLE

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 26, 1842.

Job Printing Office. The subscriber has procured the necessary type, galleys, and has attached a complete Job Printing Office to his Establishment, where all kinds of Cards, Pamphlets, Handbills, Checks, Bills, &c. will be printed at the very lowest rates, and at the shortest notice. Being determined to accommodate the public at the very lowest rates, he respectfully solicits the patronage of the public. Printing in different colors executed at a short notice.

Important. Let every citizen bear in mind, that it is not only his duty, but his duty, to purchase every thing that he can at home. By purchasing such a course, he encourages the mechanical industry of his own country, and on which the prosperity of every town and city mainly depends—and besides, every dollar paid out of the pocket of a citizen, who is engaged in the purchase of goods, is entirely lost to the nation, goes to enrich those who do not contribute one cent to our domestic institutions, and oppress our own citizens.

Mr. V. B. Palmer, Esq., No. 104, South Third Street, Philadelphia, is authorized to act as Agent to receive subscriptions and advertisements for this paper.

The Madisonian declares that no changes in the Cabinet will take place at present—but neglects to state the reasons why the contemplated change did not take place. We can, however, enlighten the public on this subject. At the time the papers were filled with rumors that a change would take place in the Cabinet, overtures were made to Governor Marcy, and through him to the Hon. Henry A. Muhlenberg, to take seats in the Cabinet. The reformer in communicating with the latter, based his acceptance on the condition that he (Muhlenberg) would also accept Mr. Muhlenberg's declining to form any alliance with John Tyler's administration, which also determined the course of Governor Marcy—hence the promulgation that no changes will take place in the Cabinet for the present.

In last Saturday's Journal, we mentioned the disappearance of a young girl, named Eastwood, from her home in Mineville, and also added in belief that she had gone down to Philadelphia, on the Northern Train, dressed in men's clothes. The United States Gazette of Wednesday last, confirms our suspicion, and states that she was the Wilmington House in Front street, kept by Mr. Harper, when referring to sleep in a chamber with the men, she made known her sex to Mrs. H., who treated her kindly, and with whom she now remains. She complained of having been treated badly, and said that she came down to Philadelphia in the eve. The Gazette very justly remarks, that she may have mistaken the motives of her friends as such as she did her proper course.

BOONER'S NOVELTY LIBRARY.—The first number of this work has been received. It contains 12 novel and interesting tales of Virginia Gray, complete in six volumes. This work was originally published in Philadelphia, in four volumes, at four dollars—the present publication costs twenty-five cents. Copies for sale at this office.

THE NARRATIVE OF HON. H. A. MUEHLENBERG.—This work makes the tenth number of Harper & Brothers' Library of Select Novels. It is written by the Author of Life in India, and is spoken of as a well arranged and interesting paper. Price twenty-five cents—copies for sale at this office.

POPPER HORRORS, and PARRICIDE EVILS, or the Inebriate, price 12 1/2 cents each—for sale at this office.

The Rev. R. H. U. Onderdonk, D. D. of the Protestant Episcopal Church, visited Pottsville on Wednesday last, according to appointment, preached and officiated in Trinity Church, morning and evening. During the morning service, by particular request of Rev. Levi S. Ives, D. D. of North Carolina, and acting for him, he administered the Holy Sacrament of the Eucharist, being assisted in the imposition of hands by the Rev. Messrs. Morgan and Drake.

Mr. Bourne, was at the same time admitted to the Holy order of Deacons.

The rite of confirmation was also administered to six candidates.

REPRESENTATIVE OF COLT.—Dr. Anthony, the spiritual adviser of Colt, has published a detail of all his interviews with that unfortunate man. The Dr. believes Colt to have been penitent to the last; but judging from the interviews a one, we are inclined to believe very differently. It is apparent to us that in all his argument and conversation with the Dr., he used great dissimulation, and it was with great difficulty he could be induced to reflect upon his own wrongs—his mind being continually employed on other subjects. As a further evidence of his insincerity, he had repeatedly declared to Dr. Anthony that he had not entertained the slightest idea of committing suicide, whilst every circumstance which has been elicited goes to prove the contrary.

COOPER'S NEW NOVEL.—This new and original tale, called the WISCONSIN WIFE, or LE FORT FOLLY, is now published in two volumes, at 25 cents each. The story is dated at the time of the French Revolution, and is as far as we can judge, from a happy reading through the eyes of the novelists of Cooper, and is infinitely better written. Cooper's forte is in the sea, and all who have read his work will acknowledge, and we should not be surprised if the work ranks first among his productions.

A number of copies are at this office for sale, where they can be procured upon early application.

STODOLY'S LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The opening lecture before this society was delivered on Saturday evening last, by John C. Neville, Esq. The address was well arranged, eloquently delivered, and admirably adapted to influence beneficially the character, mental, and moral, of those to whom it was directed.

THE MARY ROBERTS MYSTERY.—The fearful mystery which has for some time developed the fate of this unfortunate young girl was in a manner fully explained by the New York Tribune a few days since, and this paper it appears that Mrs. Looe, the woman who kept the refreshment house near the scene of her death, was fatally wounded by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of her son, and that before she died she sent for Justice Merritt and disclosed to him the following facts: On the Sunday of Miss Roger's disappearance she came to her house from the city in company with a young physician, who undertook to procure for her a premature delivery. While in the hands of the physician she died, and a consultation was then held as to the disposal of her body. It was finally taken at night by the son of Mrs. Looe and sunk in a pond on the land where it was found. Her clothes were first tied up in a bundle and sunk in a pond on the land of Mr. James G. King in that neighborhood; but it was afterward thought they were not safe there, and they were accordingly taken and scattered through the woods as they were found. It is not known whether the name of the physician was divulged or not.

Since the above explanation by the Tribune, Justice Merritt appears in a note denying that any such disclosures were made before him. The Tribune, however, insists that its statement is correct, with the exception of the name of the magistrate, and further adds, that if it should be true, it would be a most interesting case. This affair has created intense excitement in New York, and we hope that the whole mystery may be elucidated satisfactorily.

WAS ROBERTS & Co. Mr. H. Andrus, Esq., of the Editor of the Philadelphia Evening Express, in the official Tyler paper, has broken out with his confidants and is now issuing his prospectus for a new Loco Foco paper; he promises to make some developments in relation to the Tyler party, and says:

"Our recent accidental association with the Tyler administration, as Editor of the Evening Express," (the circumstances attending such connection, our motives and object, together with our voluntary withdrawal in disgust from the party, will be fully explained hereafter.) has enabled us to thoroughly understand and appreciate the peculiar principles of that branch of FEDERALISM known as the CORPORAALIS, or WICKED, CORRUPT and SANDWICH-LIKE SET OF SCOUNDRELS never before lodged together in the Republican country, as a POLITICAL PARTY, CLIQUE, CABAL, or FACTION."

The above is not improbable or extravagant, as would appear at first sight, for we by a subsequent paper, that Mr. Andrus, one of the present proprietors of the "Express," appeared before Recorder Vaux, upon a charge of perjury, and was held to bail in $1000 for a further hearing. There is also another charge against the said Mr. Andrus, of conspiracy, to defraud Mr. L. Johnson out of a quantity of 1000.

ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY.—One night last week, three scoundrels entered the dwelling of Judge Jones, near Manayunk—one of them armed with a gun, and the others with clubs. The noise they made in entering, alarmed the Judge, who armed himself with a blawed loaded whip, and met them on the staircase. He immediately knocked down one of them, and was falling himself, but fortunately made his escape, and gave the alarm, when the rascals made off. The gun was fired during the scuffle, but without effect. We since learn that all three have been arrested. The Judge was injured, but not very seriously. Booby was not fought the object, although none was obtained; this occurrence is one of the most daring and high handed attempts we have ever heard of.

FRANZIS.—Mr. and Mrs. Smith, an aged couple, residing on Long Island, were inebriated one night last week, by a German, who had been but a short time in their employ. The wretched used a stone hammer; the murderer became alarmed, and decamped without any booty, which it is supposed was his inducement to commit the murder. Mr. Smith being reputed to be worth $150,000. The villain was afterwards arrested in a barn in the neighborhood, where he secreted himself. He has been in this country a week; his country, such emigrants could well be dispensed with.

Col. Webb, has again pleaded guilty to the indictment, and is now in "the Tombs" awaiting his sentence, which, according to the laws of New York, cannot be less than two years confinement in the Penitentiary at Sing Sing. In consideration that the law has been long dormant, and only revived in this case through malice, all parties have united in a petition to the Governor for a full and immediate pardon, with the understanding that any further violation of this law will be visited with certain punishment.

The friends of John Buchanan intend holding a State Convention at Harrisburg on the 8th of January to nominate him as a candidate for the Presidency. Col. Johnson's tour appears to have completely died him up as a candidate. A large portion of the Locofoos seem to think that he is too honest for the party—and some how or other, where ever he goes he is generally entertained by the Whigs.

Among the extraordinary stories in New York, to prevent the execution of Colt, we noticed an appeal made to the sheriff, by the counsel of Colt, in which it was strongly intimated that (if the sheriff) would be guilty of murder, if he carried the sentence into effect. This was certainly a very questionable proceeding, to say the least of it. There are many who would consider it an outrage.

The papers throughout the country still contain very long leaders in criticism of Dickens' work. The editors have suddenly become severe and uncompromising moralists, and the tone with which they hurl their English aspersions, is rich in the extreme. Surely they ought to be highly indebted to Bos for affording them such fruitful capital.

GERMAN CLAY CLUB.—The German Clay Club in the city of New York, now numbers upwards of eight hundred members. Two-thirds of the members were attached to the Locofoos party nine months ago, but the advocacy of Free Trade by that party have opened their eyes, and they are now determined to battle for Henry Clay and Protection.

The National Forum will be enlarged on the first of January next. This paper is growing into favor every day—and its circulation is rapidly increasing. It advocates the best interest of the working men, and they ought to patronize it liberally.

Martin Van Buren, in a letter to several of his Locofoos brethren, in Philadelphia, declares that he has never declined being a candidate for the Presidency, and intimates pretty strongly that he would not decline.

Our friend, Mr. Byron Phillips, has a large assortment of Stores, &c., for sale at reduced prices, suitable for all purposes. Give him a call.

Sharpley Taylor, Post Master at Danville, Va., has been removed, and A. Best, heretofore an Anti-Mason, has been appointed in his place.

STAYS STOCK.—None of the State stocks which were offered for sale at the Exchange in Philadelphia on Wednesday morning were sold.

CHARITY.—When the inclemency of winter upon his trial, imprisonment, and the various annoyances in relation to the imprisonment of the convict, had for a long time been the theme of newspaper discussions, that were to publish all in relation to this exciting occurrence, it would fill our paper, if any of our readers are not aware of the whole transaction, it has been the principal subject of conversation in the community for a week past, and has been discussed in all its various and different views. Being related to some of the most influential families in New York, and the evidence which convicted him being partially of a sensational nature, a feeling was created in his favor before the day of execution which increased until it became one universal excitement, such as New York perhaps never before witnessed. The behavior of the prisoner during his confinement, and the crowning act which closed his guilty career, are all so well known to our readers, and we feel no desire to impute others in imitating to the morbid appetites of those who greedily seek after such tales of horror, by republishing the details of this tragedy. The following which we have taken from the N. Y. Tribune is just in its reasoning, and replete with a sound moral.

John C. Colt. The closing scene in the career of this wretched man occurred yesterday. All the desperate efforts of his counsel and friends to obtain a reprieve, or a mitigation of his sentence, having utterly failed, and his last hope of avoiding an immediate and shameful death being at an end, he was married yesterday at noon to his bride, the mother of his child. At 3 o'clock P. M. his brother and his wife took leave of him for ever, and at the same moment, he was allowed to pass his last hour. At a quarter before 4, when the Sheriff went to his cell to prepare him for execution, he was found dead, having driven a knife into his heart.

The life and death of this hapless being must afford a solemn warning to the Youth of our City and Land. Few of them are entering upon life with fairer prospects, with nobler opportunities, than were those of John C. Colt. Of a respected and influential family, possessing good talents and a winning address, enjoying and profiting by liberal opportunities for mental culture, he might fairly have looked forward to a life of usefulness and honor and happiness, closing at last in maturity in a death-bed, honored by the attentions of loving and sorrowing hearts. This might have been, but for the canker in the heart—the selfishness, pride and recklessness, which entered deeply into his character—a disposition to measure every thing by the standard of personal interest or gratification. On this road he has been wrecked; and now, after a career either exemplary nor happy, we see him, at the early age of thirty, following in ignominy and blood to the grave one victim of his fierce, ungodly, and leaving behind him a mother, far too pure to be plied, to a desolate widow, and a child, too innocent to be the orphan child of an infamously dishonored and wretched father.

The life and death of this hapless being must afford a solemn warning to the Youth of our City and Land. Few of them are entering upon life with fairer prospects, with nobler opportunities, than were those of John C. Colt. Of a respected and influential family, possessing good talents and a winning address, enjoying and profiting by liberal opportunities for mental culture, he might fairly have looked forward to a life of usefulness and honor and happiness, closing at last in maturity in a death-bed, honored by the attentions of loving and sorrowing hearts. This might have been, but for the canker in the heart—the selfishness, pride and recklessness, which entered deeply into his character—a disposition to measure every thing by the standard of personal interest or gratification. On this road he has been wrecked; and now, after a career either exemplary nor happy, we see him, at the early age of thirty, following in ignominy and blood to the grave one victim of his fierce, ungodly, and leaving behind him a mother, far too pure to be plied, to a desolate widow, and a child, too innocent to be the orphan child of an infamously dishonored and wretched father.

Human justice has been robbed of its appropriate sacrifice, yet to the Divine requirement the satisfaction is complete. The blood of the victim no longer cries from the ground for retribution.—Let the grave, then, cover his errors, save as they may be rendered lessons to the pathway of life.

We will hope that this tragedy, viewed in all its proportions, has done more to hasten the abolition of the Punishment of Death. We have refused to take any part in the efforts made to obtain a mitigation of Colt's punishment, for we felt that there ever was a case in which the public safety required a body expiation of crime, this was such a one. We do not believe that Colt premeditated the death of Adams; we believe he was killed in a frenzy of passion, with no intent of robbery or concealment. But we believe Colt was endeavoring to send away the books, which Adams had lent him, clandestinely, and in violation of the engagement that he should remain under the control of Adams until paid for. But Colt was proud and necessities, and he thought only of raising money for his immediate wants. Adams went to his room to reproach him with his bad faith, then Colt repelled his impositions and struck him, and then Adams clenching him to avoid further beating, Colt seized the hatchet which lay at hand and dealt blow after blow on his victim's skull any one of which must have occasioned death. The circumstances of the case are of a nature to excite the indignation of all who are not blinded by the false promises of the Locofoos.

CONVENT.—The friends of Gen. Cass held a meeting at Harrisburg on Monday last—only about forty persons took an active part in the proceedings of the meeting. One of the Locofoos speakers declared that unless the party would give Cass for the Presidency, they would be as badly beaten in 1844 as they were in 1840. This is certainly very consoling.

The Richmond Compiler says, that the "Black Driver" whom Dickens criticized so severely in his "Notes," is terribly aggrieved by the description given of him. He says, he never said "Jeddy" in his life—he said "steady steady" the Compiler thinks that if Bos ever gives the "Black Driver" a chance to haul him, he will surely upset him.

John Tyler has at length determined to set up for himself—and consequently a writer in the Madisonian, makes the following nominations: for President, John Tyler; for Vice President, David R. Porter!

A man by the name of Rockwell, has been arrested at Canaan, Connecticut, charged with murdering his brother; they had a quarrel a few days before.

It is said that the wages concerned in the late mock duel at Reading were woefully taken by the person they thought they were boxing—How is it, friend Knobb?

The trial of those men who have been arrested as having been concerned in the death of McCoy, commenced on Monday, at White Plains, Chester county, N. Y.

The Borough of Harrisburg has already received $5,000 of this plaster in violation of law. Those who will take them in this section deserve to lose every cent.

LANOE CAROL.—The Boat Blossom passed the weigh scale last week loaded with 60 Tons 8 cwt. of Coal. This is the largest cargo that has ever gone down the canal.

The subscription list of the "Harrisburg Chronicle" has been transferred to the Pennsylvania Telegraph.

The celebrated Mike Walsh is engaged as the Washington Correspondent of the "New York Aurora."

All sorts of Steam. (Original and Selected.) The stock of the Erie and Allegheny was sold at Mill Point, Kentucky, and also at Altoona, Illinois, on the 4th inst.

The New York Board of Aldermen, at a late meeting attached their signatures to the petition for the pardon of Col. Webb.

Queen Victoria has conferred a pension of £300 a year upon the poet Wm. Wordsworth. This is as it should be.

The Whigs have carried Florida, for the first time since its organization as a Territory.

The Coltragedy has started the discussion of capital punishment in New York.

Stephen's new work on Central America and Yucatan, is now in press and will soon be published.

Edwin Dorrin Dean—Hugh Hamilton Henry, Editor of the Bucks County Intelligencer died at Doylestown on the 16th inst.

Gray's Snow Storm.—Snow fell at Buffalo on Friday last to the depth of two feet—so says the Rochester Democrat.

The friends of Martin Van Buren have called a meeting in Philadelphia.

Nicholas Biddle is writing a series of letters on the subject of the State credit.

Relief Notes are quoted in Philadelphia at 11 a 16 cent discount. Minors' Bank at 7 1/2.

The Pennsylvaniaist will be published as a two cent cash paper after the first Monday of December.

VERY TRUE.—Thomas Jefferson used to say that those who patronized and paid for slanderous and scurrilous newspapers, were the real authors of the slander and scurrility.

Two of the leading Locofoos journals of Michigan have come out for John C. Calhoun, and run up the nullification flag to masthead.

The case of Colt continues to be a topic of excitement and conversation in New York. The Sheriff is much censured.

It is calculated that we have thirty enough in the United States to support comfortably, between two and three hundred millions of people.

Important. The following letter, was received in due course by the personal to whom it was addressed: Surveyor's Office, Philadelphia, Nov. 21, 1842.

Sir—I am instructed by the Collector to inform you, that your services as a Night Inspector will not be required after this night.

To Mr. JOHN ABEL. Now if Mr. Abel had abused his office, by mingling in party politics, we should have nothing to say about his removal. But he has not been guilty of that crime. But he is suspected of being a friend of Mr. Clay, and forthwith the thunders of the political Vatican are poured out upon him.

The administration of the General Government of the Republic of the United States of North America, being settled by the Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary of the Court of St. James, has issued for other weighty affairs, and in the potency of authority, and with all the vast machinery of a Democratic Republican Representative Government, turned a night watchman out of an office, whose salary was ten "penny bits a day!"

By the bump of Mahomet's camel, but the President is a great man.—U. S. Gazette.

RECIPE FOR MAKING GOOD BREAD.—James Roche, long celebrated in Baltimore, as a baker of excellent bread, having retired from business has furnished the Baltimore American with the following recipe for making good bread, with a request that it should be published for the information of the public:

Take an earthen vessel larger at the top than the bottom, and in it put one pint of milk-water, one and a half pounds of flour, and half a pint of malt yeast; mix them well together, and set away (in winter it should be in a warm place) until it rises and falls again, which will be in from three to five hours; (it may be set at night if wanted in the morning,) then put two large spoons full of salt into two quarts of water, and mix it well with the above rising; then put in about nine pounds of flour and work your dough well, and set it by until it becomes light. Then make it out in loaves. The above will make four loaves.

As some flour is dry and other runny, the above quantity, however, will be a guide. The person making bread will observe that runny and new flour will require one-fourth more salt than old and dry flour. The water also should be tempered according to the weather, in spring and fall it should only be milk-warm; in hot weather cold, and in winter warm.

The Boston Atlas of Friday, gives us the following election compared with that of last year. Neither candidate having a majority of all the votes, the Legislature will elect the Governor in January. The political character of the Legislature will not be decided until Monday, the 28th of the present month, when forty or fifty vacancies in the House will be filled.

Massachusetts Election.—Recapitulation of votes for Governor.—Complete returns. 1841. 1842. Davis, Morton, Sc'g. Davis, Morton, Sc'g. 55,974 51,367 3,699 64,661 56,159 63,426 So far as we have ascertained, the House stands thus: Whigs, 134; Locoos, 140.

The towns that can choose on the fourth Monday may yet save the State, if the Whigs do their duty. Berkshire has done well. The Whigs have gained three Representatives, and in three towns represented last year by Locoos, there has been no choice, making an aggregate gain of nine for the House of Representatives.

Massachusetts polled upwards of 72,000 democratic whig votes, in 1840, and can do it again in 1844.

AMERICAN PORT.—We see the following extract from the London Shipping Gazette, that attempts are being made to injure the credit of American provisions in the English market: Tariff Pork (so called).—We are informed that advantage has been taken of the admission of American Pork, which can be retailed of an excellent quality, at a very reasonable price, to get rid of a large quantity of old ship's provisions, which had become unserviceable for sea use; and that this half perished, dry, and unwholesome stuff, is offered for sale as the commodity we are in future to be supplied with from the United States. There is, of course, so palpable a difference between the latter and the article which is substituted as its representative, that once seen together, one cannot be mistaken for the other; but as the imposition should not be allowed to be successful, and as unseasoned pork is generally believed to be productive of disease, we would caution the poor people against the use of it. Good American pork is not discolored—that is, rusty, stale in appearance, or destitute of brine, which are the characteristics of condemned naval stores.

BOONER'S BROTHERS A TALE PROSE.—Of all Napoleon's relations, says Traut's memoir, his brother Lucian proved himself the most opposed to his views and plans. One day while they were disputing warmly on some subject, Lucian drew out his watch, and dashed it violently on the ground addressed to his brother these remarkable words: "You will destroy yourself, as I have done; destroyed that watch; and the time will come when your family will not know where to shelter their heads."

Geo. H. PROFFER.—The Richmond (Va.) Palladium says:—We learn from the Evansville Journal, that this gentleman made a speech a few days since in that place, at the conclusion of which he informed his constituents, that at the close of his term in Congress, he would lay down his trust at their feet, when they might elect whoever they pleased to serve them, as he was perfectly aware that now, he use his own classic language, "he could not get votes enough in the district to buy aigger's supper."

NATIONAL CONVENTION.—The Loco-Focos of Tennessee propose a National Convention of the party at Baltimore on the fourth Monday of November, 1843; but the Globe denounces, and proposes May, 1844. This latter suggestion will doubtless be adopted. It is policy to keep John Tyler out of the contest to the last moment possible.

The Whig Cause in your West.—Mr. Long, Editor of the Mass. Advertiser, however it is a blessing of a few months, returned to England, and with a determination to engage with renewed vigor in the Whig cause. He says:—Wherever we have been, and we have travelled over a large extent of the country, the Whig Whigs of 1840 is unbroken, firm and united—prepared to give noble battle when the day of trial shall come, under the same glorious banner that led them on to victory in the memorable contest of 1840. There is no more any defection in the Whig ranks. Those who were Whigs in 1840 are Whigs now; and, what is more, every Whig, to a man, is in favor of Henry Clay, as the Whig candidate for the Presidency. We have not met with a solitary exception in travelling over an extent of some two thousand miles in the "Great West." And there is nothing like indifference or lukewarmness on the subject; let in every boom there is a deep, and burning enthusiasm; let in every boom there is a ready and prompt response to the call for action; and when it comes, it will sweep every thing before it.

THE AMERICAN CUSTOM HOUSE OFFICE.—In all the public establishments of America the utmost economy prevails. Most of our departments are susceptible of considerable improvement in this respect, but the custom house, above all others, would do well to take example from the United States, and reader itself somewhat less odious and offensive to foreigners. The servile policy of the French officials is sufficiently contemptible, but there is a servile policy in the way of the custom house officers—that must and will long burst forth, and when it does, it will sweep every thing before it.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—A coroner's inquest was held at Northampton, Mass., on Thursday morning last, on the body of a young and beautiful German girl, named Sarah Dupoon, found drowned in the paper mill pond at Amesville. It appears from the testimony adduced, that a young man living at Factory Village had for some time paid his addresses to the unfortunate girl, and was her affection. He then basely deceived her under the promise of marriage—then left her, and paid his address to another. On the evening previous to her death, she retired to her room, and for a long time was engaged in earnest supplication at the throne of Grace for pardon and mercy. Having concluded, she threw herself into it, and was found the next morning as above stated.—Daily Courier.

We are anxious to know what estimate the Pennsylvania will put on the compliment to the recent appointment of Dr. Sutherland.—Philadelphia Gazette.

The Gazette, being Whig, should know more about the Doctor than ourselves; but if our opinion is required, "we are free to confess" that the appointment makes a very pretty climax to the previous things in the same quarter. The doctor will form quite a cement to conglomerate Tyrosianism and Snobism and all that sort of thing into its magnificent "third party." The Madisonian should see to it, or its friends may become too strong in this region, what with a "principle" and "interest."—Pennsylvaniaian.

A gentleman praising the personal charms of a very plain woman—Foote whispered him, "Why don't you lay claim to such an accomplished beauty?"

"What right have I to her!" said the other. "Every right by the law of nations, is the first discoverer," replied Foote.

A MAJOR TURNED, CORRESPONDENT.—It is said that Samuel G. Trowbridge, who, with others, has been arrested and imprisoned at Little Rock, Ark. for robbery and counterfeiting on a large scale, was recently Mayor of that city.

MATHIAS SCHWAB, a German of Cincinnati, is manufacturing one of the largest organs ever made in the U. S., for a church in Baltimore. The cost will be $4000.

The Rev. John Gregory represents elect from the town of Quincy, Mass., has been brought up and bound over to answer the charge of polygamy.

TO THE PUBLIC.—The unprecedented success which has resulted from the adoption of Dr. Blandin's Pills, during a period of upwards of sixty years; the numerous and extraordinary cures which they have performed upon hundreds of individuals, and the fact that they have been recommended by the most eminent of the faculty—justly Dr. BENJAMIN BLANDIN, the proprietor of this celebrated medicine. Merit in vernal and conscientiously recommending it to the special notice of the public. These Pills do indeed "assist nature" to all she can do for the purification of the human body; yet can do more than any other medicine; and all who are afflicted with any of the following diseases, or who are so much debilitated, that all that can reasonably be expected is a temporary relief, should at once commence their use. Dr. Blandin's Pills have been restored to health and happiness by their use. Dr. Blandin's Pills have been restored to health and happiness by their use. Dr. Blandin's Pills have been restored to health and happiness by their use.

MARRIED. On Saturday morning last, in Trinity Church, by the Rev. Mr. Morse, Mr. WILLIAM BRITTON, to Mrs. ELIZABETH JONES, both of Pottsville. On the 21st inst., by Rev. Joseph McCreary, Mr. SAMUEL WARREN, to Miss MARIA KELLETT, both of Pine-Grove.

OUR MARKET. CORRECTED WEEKLY. POTTSVILLE, NOV. 26, 1842. Wheat Flour, per bbl $5 00, per lb 61. Rye do do 4 50, per lb 51. Corn do do 3 50, per lb 41. Oats do do 2 50, per lb 31. Eggs do do 12 (Monthly) 41. Butter do do 12 (Monthly) 41.

ATHLETIC INSTITUTE.—Thursday evening, Dec. 1, 1842, question for discussion, "Which is the happiest, single or married life." Affirmative—Messrs. F. Post, Fogarty, Leib, and Keatner. Negative—Messrs. Palmer, Porter, Foster and Dudley.

The Ladies and Gentlemen of Pottsville are respectfully invited to attend. Room corner of Centre and Mahanogony streets, on Saturday, Nov. 26. CHAS. LEIB, Sec'y.

M. A. DOOLEY, ATTORNEY AT LAW, POTTSVILLE. HAS removed his office to the office of John C. Neville, Esq., opposite the Post Office. November 26.

STRAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.

STAY COW. CAME to the stable of the subscriber, residing in the town of Schuylkill county, Pa., a large RED COW, with a white under her tail, and a white blaze on her face. The owner is requested to come forward and take her away, otherwise she will be sold according to the usual course. November 26.