BY JAMES T. PIELDS. O swift we go o'er the fleecy snow, When muonbeams sparkle round:
When hoofs keep time to music's chime,

As merrily on we bound, On a winter's night, when hearts are light, And health is on the wind, We loose the rein; and sweep the plain, And leave our cares behind.

With a laugh and song we glide along, A cross the fleeting snow; With friends beside, how swift we ride On the beautiful track below. O the raging sea bas joy for me,

When gale and tempest roar; But give me the speed of a foaming steed, And I'll ask for the waves no more !

CLIPPINGS.

THE LUXURY OF A SHREZE -- Some peripateti philosopher thus gives us a delicious essay of ansezing :-

The chespest luxury we know of is a goo hearty energe. It stirs up the inner and outer man-it enlivens the brain-it brightens the eyes wit electrificathe nerves, and gives the whole system a shock, to which the voltaic pile is as nothing. We say this is a cheep luxury. So it is -One pinch of snull will compass it ell. People may imagine also, that if you choose to take your coat off, and while heated, sit in a draft of air, it is full as cheap. True, you will sneeze then, from a cold : but what a difference is there between an unhealthy and healthy sneeze! In the former case, your eyes are full of water-a sert of " repentant tears;" and between the paroxysms you come nearer swearing than is good for the soul-In the other, you laugh-you look about you with glances of delight-you seem to have a sixth saure, opening to you a world of wonders, and learning you to contemplate the possession of a thousand delicate nerves before unthought of. When the series of "sneezes" are over, you half regret it. You look up at on angle of forty de. grees-or get into the sun or recollect your last succes, until presently the titilation begins again, and away you go-sneeze!

FLYING POST .- On the morning of the 6th inst., a pigeon carrier, quite exhausted, fell down in the yard of the Boar's Head public house, High street, Lynn. An unsealed letter was fastened by a silken string to one of its legs. The letter, which was written in the German language. was dated Dresden, Nov. 4; and addressed to the Earl of Haddington, London; and after being disengaged from the pigeon's leg, was enclosed in an envelope, redirected, and sent by post to London. The pigeon was carefully attended to, was placed in a convenient cage, well supplied with food, &c., and appears quite cheerful and contented, being placed in Mr. Tuddenha, i's fish shop in the High street. The shop is from time to time visited by persons who, having heard of the above rather novel circumstance, are curious to take a particular look at this winged letter carier .- Cambridge Chronicle.

THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS .- Mr. Cushing recently made a speech in Congress in which he sulogized Gen. Jackson with all the zeal becoming a new convert to Jacksoniam. After he had concluded, Mr. Christopher H. Williams addressed the Speaker as follows:

a Mr. Speaker, I only desire to remark that more than twenty years have elapsed since the battle of Now Orleans, and, inasmuch as the gentleman opportunity to eulogize the hero of that day, I submit it as a point of order that the gentleman is now barred by the statute of limitations." ADVICE GRATIS .- Shut your eyes to the faults of your neighbors, and open them very wide upon your own. Stop your ears while gossips and slanderers as git betther but for the thought of having nowhere

Baltimore girl during service, alsoped a strange gentleman's face because " he vinked his winker at her." We are ready to exclaim with Mr. Sampson Brass, "and this is a world-which turns on its axis, and has lunar influences, and makes revolutions round the heavenly bodies, and comes various games of that sort !" If we cannot be accounted to live but at such times as we enjoy ourselves, life will be found to be very short, since were we only to reckon the hours we pass agreeably, a great number of years would not make up a life of a few months.

To delicate minds the unfortunate are always objects of respect; as the ancients held sacred those places which had been blasted by lightning, so the feeling heart considers the afficted as touched by the hand of God himself.

A man of exceedingly contracted mind, was one day complaining to an acquaintance that he had a very acute pain, not bigger, seemingly, then the point of a pin. " It's amazing strange," he continued, " don't you think it is? what do you suppose is the cause of it?" " Why really I don't know," replied the other, " what part of you should be liable to so very minute a pain, unless it be your soul."

COMMON ABSURDITIES .- To sak a tradesmen if the commodity which he offers to sell is of the first quality.

. To suppose you please your visitors by sharing your infant children to them. To tell a man of whom you wish to borrow money, that you are in a great want of it, To immure a man in prison who owes you money and has no means of paying it, except by his industry.

To suppose the cider which you buy at two dollars a bottle is champagne. Por a monkey to suppose when he returns from his foreign travels, sensible people will take him for a lion. To occupy the attention of a dinner party with anecdotes of yourself. THE LEGITIMATE DRAMA.—The following is clipped from Bannister's benefit bill, in Uncions-

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS.

Of the North American College of Health. Of the North American College of Health.

This extraordinary medicine is founded upon the principle that the human frame is subject to only one Diskase, viz. Corrupt Humors, or in other words Impurity of the Blood, and nothing save vegetable cleansing, is wanted in order to drive disease of every description from the body.

If the channels of our mighty rivers should become choked up, would not the accumulated waters find new outlets, or the country be inundated!—Jour so with the human body; if the natural drains become closed, the accumulated impurities will most assuredly find vent in some form of disease or death will be a certain consequence.

while the interest of the product free carain consequence.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are eminently calculated for carrying out this gaans pressive from the pressive fragseries ibecause they are a purgative medicine so, justly balanced and withal so natural to the human constitution, that they cannot possibly injure the most delicate; at the same time, if used in such a manner as to produce free evacuations by the bowels, and repeated a few times, it will be absolutely impossible for pain or distress of any kind to continue in the body. A single twenty five cent box of the continue in the body. tinue in the body. A single twenty five cent box of the above named Indian Vegetable Pills will, in all the above named Indian Vegetable Pills with main cases, give relief, sometimes even beyond the power of words to describe, and if persovered in for a short time, there is not a malady in the whole course of human ills that can possibly withstand their astonishing and wonderful influence. WRIGHT SINDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are a certain cure for
