> BARVITY THE SOUL OF WITS-Colonel S-----e, of the Royal Marines, was always distinguished for the perspicuity and brevity of his speeches, of which the following is a specimen, which was delivered when going into the battle of the Nile :-- Sir James Saumarcz, who commanded the man-of-war to which he belonged, had, in a lengthened speech, wound up the feelings to the highest pitch of ardor for the night by reminding them of the duty they owed to their king and country; and though last, not least, he desired them to call to mind their families, their parents and sweethearis, and to fight as if the battle solely depended on their individual exertions. He was answered by looks and gestures highly expressive of their determination ; when sturning to our hero, he said, "Now S_____e, I have you to speak to the few weeks, and remains well to this day.
