From the N. O. Picayune. A CAMP-FIRE STORY.

EARLY MILITARY DISCIPLINE IN TEXAS-A capital story was told one night by Capt. H. while a party of us were lying on the windward side of a mess fire at a camp high up on the Wichita. It ran something in this wise :

Some six months after the famous battle of San Jacinto, and while the tide of emigration was rapidly setting towards Texas, numerous were the acditions made to the population of the new Republic from Western Tennessee and Northern Mishave witnessed its effects, that none has proved elesippi. Among the emigrants from the former as succes ful as this. Such indeed, are the was Col. S. He had been honored, while in Tenpassee, with the commission of captain in the regular militia, an office which, as he thought, he of Consumption, after all the most esteemed rem had filled with no little credit to himself. He was moreover exceedingly proud of his title, and looked with not a little scorn upon any one who might chance to address him without giving the military prefix to his name its longest, loudest and broadest sound.

Arrived in Texas, where at the time there was hardly a man below the rank of Lieutenant, our here was of course anxious for military advancement. At an election for regimental officers, which shortly after took place in the section in which he had located, Capt. S. was exceedingly officious, not only with storics of his military performances, while in command of a small fraction of the nation's bulwark in Tennessee, but also with a barrel of corn whiskey which he had purchased for electioneering purposes, and of which he freely and cordially invited every voter to partake .- A man who talked so much of his own military talents, and who was so very liberal with his whiskey withal, was "bound to win" in an election and on counting the votes after it was over it was found that he had been duly elected Colonel of the regiment by a large majority. Here was a long step towards the high summit of his amoitious hopes, and the head of Col. S. was now elevated and carried back in a degree corresponding with his advancement. He really knew just as little of military science as a monkey does of sacred psalmody a but neither Julius Casar nor Napolean Bonaparte could have convinced him of the first by all the arguments they could have mustered. He had read an abridgement of some work upon military tactics, had "trained" his company on sundry occasions while in Tennesice, and was therefore the retically and practically conversant with the art and science of war upon the most approved principles. But a few weeks after his elevation he called Tiles, fowling pieces, muskets and double barrelled guns - good locks and poor locks, flint locks and rated large quantities of matter occasionally tin percussion locks. He formed his men into lines, platoons and squares, such as they were; but it is doublful whether the manœuvring of the men who distressing situation, lingering upon the very followed Peter the Hermit in his crusade for the verge of the grave, she commenced the use of recovery upon more scientific military princi-

There were two or three officers present at the time, who well understood the science of which Col. S. knew so little-men who had seen much service, and p fore whom Col. S. was extremely anxious to " show off" to the best possible advantage. To do this more effectually, he finally bethought him a Tetter plan would be to give the officers above mentioned a specimen of the manner in which his men could fire a general volley. He accordingly, after much " geeing" and hawang," formed them into line directly in front of a large field of corn. In order to make more sure of their firing in a boly, and all as nearly at the same moment as possible, he next made them a short and pithy address, something in the following style : - of some of her bravest officers, my eyes are upon you. Englan I expects every man to do his duty -I expect that you will do yours. Fellow so gers: just imagine that field of corn yender to be alughtering, tomahawking, and blood-thirsty Mexico, let Joose upon you in full blast - hoagine yourselves to be Texas, drawn up in proudest kind of array to give your grim enemy particular and unequivocal "goss." Upon the result of the volley you are about to shoot depends the very existance, now and forevermore, of your beloved, devastated and fertile country. If you short altogether, so that the report of your well tried arms may sound even as one general, decided and all-at-once kind of crack, then are we saf, and our h arths and j ims remain unpollated—if you don't we are gone -plumb used up sure. I will now give the word -make ready, take aim, fire!",

"Fellow Sogers: -The eyes of Taxes, the eyes

Phiz, pop, badg, snap, crack went the diff reni implements of war in the hands of Col. S.'s men - one at a time, and in no kind of order. - Each soldier manif. sted a zeal truly commendable to get his gun off at some time, although they appeared entirely to have forgotten the emphatic injunction of their commander to fire as nearly together as possible. Some who had flint locks that missed fire, picked their flints or rubed the brims of their wool hats against them and snapped again. Some fresh primed their guns, while those who had percussion locks put on new caps if they missed fire, and gave a second trial. In this way the rattle was almost incessant tor several minutes, dur ing which Col. S. was horrog-stricken at the result of a trial which he had fondly hoped would redound to his glory. He awaited patiently the cessation of the firing, and as the last report of a musket, which had been primed twice and the flint of which had been three times picked, died away, he raised his hands as though in agony and exclaimed, with much emotion, " Texas is bal I'm d-d if she aint!"

NATURE'S OWN PRESCRIPTION. A compound Balsamic preparation of the Prunus Virginiana or "Wild Cherry Bark," combined with the Extract of Tar; prepared by a new chemical process, approved and recem-mended by the most distinguished physicians and universally acknowleged the most valuable medicine ever discovered.

No Quackery!!! No Deception. In setting forth the virtues of this truly great nedicine, we have no desire to deceive who are labouring under affliction, nor do we wish to eulogize it more than it justly deserves. Yet when we look around and see the vast a mount of suffering and distress occasioned by many of the diseases in which this medicine has roved so highly successful, we feel that we cannot urge its claims too strongly, or say too much in its favour.

Various remedies it is true have been offered and puffed into notice for the cure of diseases of the Lungs, and some have no doubt been found very useful, but of all that have yet been discuy-

SURPRISING VIRTUES Of this Balsam, that even in the advanced stages edi-s of physicians have failed to effect any change, the use of this medicine has been pro-ductive of the most astonishing relief, and actoally effected cures after all hopes of recovery and been despaired of.

In the first stages of the disease, termed " Ca tarrhal Consumption," originating from neglected OOLD, it has been used with undeviating success, and hundreds acknowledge they owe the restoration of their health to this invaluable medicine alone. In that form of Consumption so prevalent amongst delicate young females

"GOING INTO A DECLINE," complaint with which thousands are linger ing, it has also proved highly successful, and not only possesses the power of checking the prog-ress of this alarming complaint, but also strenghens and invigorates the system more effectually han any medicine we have ever possessed. Besides its surprising efficacy in Consumpion, it is equally efficacious in Liver Complaints. Asthma, Bronchitis, and all affections of the Lunga, and has cured many of the most obstinate cases, after every other remedy had failed. For particlars see Dr. Wistar's Treatise on Consumption, to be had of the agents.

The Extraordinary Success Attending the use of this medicine in diseases of the Lungs, and the many singular cures it has effected, having fully established its efficacy, and as we have already published numerous certificates from the highest authority, which prove its virtues beyond all doubt, we consider it unecessary to exhibit a long list of them in this lace, and will only mention a few cases, to show

> . WHILE LIFE REMAINS WE HAVE STILL SOME HOPE.

A SURPRISING CURE.—Among the many sin-gular cures which this medicine has effected, there is perhaps none in which its powers are so fully shown as in the case of Mrs. Austin. This lady had been consumptive for several years, and during the greater part of this time had received the best medical attention, and tried all the most valuable remedies, yet nothing could be found to arrest its progress. She became subject to violent fits of coughing, expecto ged with blood, and step by step this fearful disease continued ils course, until all hopes of a recovery was entirely despaired of. While in this this Balsam, which to use her own expression, operated almost like a charm. In a few days she expectorated freely, the cough was gradually suppressed, and every day appeared to add fresh vigour to her looks, and now, in the place of that emaciated form withering to decay, she is seen ningling in society, in better health than she has enjoyed for years.

DISINTERESTED TESTIMONY .- Having witner. sed the surprising efficacy of Dr. Wistar's Bal-sam of Wild Cherry, in the case of Mrs. Austin, cheerfully acknowledge the above statement to be true and correct.

Nassna Principle of Water-ProvingCloth

BY this method the pores of the Cloth are left open as before, by which the insensible perspiration can freely escape; and at the same time it is rendered Water-proof for all practical purposes. The process is both simple and cheap. It is adapted to every trade and occupation, in which Cloth of any description is or can be used. Cloth having passed through this process is for-ever after safe from Mildew and Vermin. Sail very simple and cheap. Ooe Thousand yards of Cloth may be rendered Water-proof at an expense of One Dollar. Water proof Flannel worn next to the skin is a sure preventive and Cure for the Rheumatism. The following is an extract of a Report on the subject, from a Committee of the Common Council: "The Committee on Arts, Sceinces, and

Schools, to whom was referred the Petition of F II. Pettis, asking for a consideration for an invention which the Petitioner claims as his, rendering Cloth of every description Water-proof beg leave to Report : that they examined several pieces of Cluth which they tested, and found the same impervious to water, except from a pressure beyond that of ordinary rain, and believe that persons clad with garments made from Cloth thus prepared, would be secure from usual exposures in rainy weather. The advantages of this, above that of India Rubber will be perceived, when i is known that the porce of the Cloth are not closed, allowing the free escape of the insensbile perspiration, which is important to health. The Committe are assured by the Petitioner, that the beauty or luntre of the Cloth is not terneshed, that its quality is not injured, that it is not less suple; but on the contrary, the beauty, duality and supleness are preserved; and for many pur poses rendered more lasting. The cheapness of the application brings the advantages of the im-

The committee feeling disposed to treat the Petition with all fairness, and as far as they investigated the improvement, finding it to meet such a trial of its merits by the public, as will more fully test its utility." Signed
