CAMP DE KALB.

According to a promise made in last Saturday' Journal, we proceed to describe the occurrences of the past ten days; and in commencing, we would say that our Borough never before witnes sed so great a concourse of people, or experienced so tremendous an excitement, as that had her during the week of the Encompment. Indepen dent of the volunteers, our Hotels and dwellings were thronged with visions from almost every portion of the country—the miners left their employment, and gathered in to witness the display -the pickpocket, the gambler, and the courtezan. (all gratuitious importations) were busy at their various avocations of vice; and some of our sober-minded citizens concluded that Military Encampments were no great acquisitions to a district, particularly in a moral point of view. However it is impossible for the most provident to avert such consequences, and, dismissing this disagreeable subject, we will go on to chronicle the events of the Camp. The First Battalion, composed of the First Troop Mineraville Artillerists - National Light Infantry-National Greys of Orwigsburg-Independent Blues, and Washington Yagers, met on -parade in Market street, at 10 o'clock, on Wednesday morning, and proceeded, after forming, to , the Camp Ground, where they took possession of their tents, and entered immediately upon the duties ofthe field. Gen. R. H. Hammond arrived early on Wednesday, from Minersville, and was escorted to Penna. Hall by the Artillerists of that place, from whence he proceeded to the Camp Ground, and took possession of his marquee, as Commander in Chief of the Troops. Nothing ocsurred of any importance until 10 o'clock in the ovening, when information was received in the Camp that the Hamburg Artillerists had arrived, and a detachment was immediately sent out to escort them. The evening was very dark, and the effect of their entering the Camp was wild and beautiful. The lights of the guides gleaming upon the burnished uniform of the military, as they wound up the dark looking path which leads as an entrance into the ground—the line of tents bursting suddenly into view as the body of men emerged from the side of the mountoin into the broad space of the Camp-the mutrance, who stood with presented arms as the of them. military passed through, all made up'a scene not easily to be forgotten or difficult to appreciate.

On Friday, the several companies composing the Reading Battalion, and the fine company of Pinegrove Guards arrived, and were escorted to the Camp ground, by the Battalion from Schuylkill county. They were introduced formally to their quarters, which they took possession of, and all appeared upon the Dress Parade of the same evening. The Reading Battalion came up under Locser, who is a good efficient commander, and "every inch a soldier." The Minersville Blues also came into Camp on Friday morning:

Adjutant General Adam Diller reviewed the Troops on Saturday morning, and the parade was one of the most brilliant of the whole period. After the review the Brigade was divided off into Capt. Wynko p-the Artillery, Capt. Loeser -fle, Capt. Doerflinger. The effect of the various separa e portions of the ground, with the General near the centre, was inde-cribably beautiful. The ular, all moving as one man; and we heard Col. Dean say that he could drill such a body of men for one week without tiring.

On Sunday morning the drum was beat at eight o'clock, for the companies to form in their streets, preparatory to service, and a few minutes this country to such a rate, that Protective Duties agement. afterwards they all moved out to a slow march will be unnecessary to enable us to compete with from the Band, and formed in front of the flag | the manufactures of Europe. staff at the General's Head Quarters, where a beautiful and appropriate sermon was delivered to them by the Rev. R. T. Thomas, of this Borough. Throughout the day, in accordance with the particular request of Gen. Hammond, the strictest sobriety and order was preserved in the Camp, the silence of which was only broken by the morning and evening gun, and the music accompanying the Dress Parades.

On Monday morning, news having been received that Major General William H. Keim had arrived, the Troops were all drawn up in order of review, and Captain Wynkoop's company of Schuylkili County Cavalry was sent down as an-Borough, preceded by Generals Hammond and Keim, with their respective Staff, and after parading for some time through our streets, returned to the Camp. This was the period arranged for the target firing, and at about 3 o'clock the Artillery who were to open the "Ball," wheeled their different pieces upon the ground, and prepared for the contest. The mark was placed at the distance of 450 yards, and the shots were fi red across the canal and the river into the Sharp mountain. It was arranged that each cannon - the medal. The first shot was placed in the target by the Minersville gun, which was about 27 firing, in all nine shots, was most excellent, all of number perfect in beauty and finish: the balls being placed within the circumference of ten feet.' Judges, who were present, expressed the greatest surprise at the skill manifested, and predicted rather bot quarters for an enemy should they ever be unlucky enough to be brought before the said companies.

the Washington Yagers. The presentation of the Infantry medal was made by Col. James Page of Philadelphia, who in company with Major Fritz and Captain Loeser, composed the judges of the firing. Col. P., in making the presentation, did so in a very happy and appropriate speech which was listened to with the greatest espect and attention. The Artillery medal was sented by Major James H. Campbell-the Cavalry medal by Col. Wm. F. Dean, and the Rifle medal by Major F. M. Wnykoop.

After the morning parade on Tuesday, Camp was disbanded, and the visiting companies were all escorted into town by the Schuylkill County Battalion, from whence they took their departure regularly for their respective points of

We are happy to state that throughout the olding of the Encampment, great attention to order and discipline was displayed, and that much fewer excesses than generally occur at such plases were committed, either within or without the precincts of the Camp. CANAL COMMISSIONERS .- From frequent conersations with persons in this district, we notice disposition to prevent the numerous frauds and enormities which have occurred in the Board of Canal Commissioners heretofore, by placing upon the nomination good business men, without regard to party bias or feeling. From all we have learned, we are of opinion that the Convention of the 6th of September, would carry out the desires of the people by nominating such a ticket. We have heard Mr. James Clark spoken of, who, although a Locofoco, is known among all parties to be a trustworthy, honest man; he was driven out of the Board for his opposition to the Porter robescort to accompany him upon the ground. After the review, the whole body moved into the of the majority by reinstating him, slong with two good business Whigs at the coming election. The danger ettending a party Board would thus be avoided, and the check which one party would hold on the other, would be a perfect assurance of fidelity to the trust. The time is fast approaching when some choice must be made, and we, in common with the mass, wish to sec staunch and TENNESSEE. We feel happy in announcing to our friends hat the democratic whig victory in this State is complete. Jones is re-elected Governor by about 1000 majority, and the whige have a majority three in the Senate, and five in the House of Representatives. This secures a majority in the United States Senate for the next two years, and prevents Tyler and his Locofoco allies from carrying out any of their destructive measures.

August Election

INDIANA. The Congressional delegates from this Stat will stand 7 locofocos to 3 whigs, being a Locofoco gain of 3 members, but not of Locofoco votes The election turned more upon local questions than general politics. There is a clear whig majority in this State of 5000, and the Presidential election will show it.

KENTUCKY. In this State the Congressional delegates will stand five Whigs to five Locos. This result was owing to the Whigs running two candidates in two districts, which lost us two member of Congress, and in another district, a popular Locoloco secured his election over a less popular Whig, by declaring for a National Bank and a Protective Tariff, and his determination to vote for Henry Clay for the Presidency, in case the eection should go the House, and he receive a majority of votes in the district. Eight of the ten Congressional districts polled whig majorities .-In the Legislature there is a whig gain over last ILLINOIS.

The result in this State gives one whig Representative to six Locofocos. In the Joe Davies District, Walker (whig) had 500 majority when he arrived at the Mormon settlement-but the Mormon vote was sufficient to elect Hoge the Locofoco candidate. In another district the contest was very close. ALABAMA.

As usual, has gone for the Locofocos. The higs will, as heretofore, have only one member of Congress from this State--although if they had turned out in Dixon H. Lewis' district, he would ave been defeated.

The results in these states are quite satisfactory as regards the prospects of the whigs at the next Presidential election-while on the other and, the most sagacious of the locofoco leaders such as Ritchie of the Richmond Inquirer, cautions his party to unite at once, and candidly admits that there is danger shead. We rather think that they will have to let "that tall boy" pass. NEW METHOD OF TAKING THE WEIGHT OF BOATS .-- We have had exhibited to us a perfectly new and complete method for weighing laden boats; which, whilst it is cheap and simple, pos sesses the additional advantage of accuracy and durability. The plan is thus -a circular tube is fastened in the centre of the boat, opening alongside of the Kelson, and penetrating into the wa ter on a line with the bottom—a buoy, with a rod f a certain length attached to it, floats in the tube, which rises or falls as the vessel descends or ascends. The rod is marked at the light float of from your ways into the path we have so long the vessel, and then gradually downwards, ton up- followed. Our heart bleeds for you Corporal! it on ton, until the extent of her lading is marked does! - Simon bring us that pocket handkerchief upon it. It is contended by the Patentes, that, after this rod is once regulated, it will serve cor rectly as long as the boat shall float; as any vari ation in the light weight can be easily discerned on the guage, and the difference may be then either added or substructed as may be desired. The great advantage of this patent consists in the so curity which it gives to shippers and consignees Thus-a boat is loaded here down to a certain mark-the quantity is particularlarized in the Bill of Lading-the guage is then locked down in a box prepared for it, and is not disturbed until the cargo is handed over to the consignee, who immedi ately compares the rod with the Bill of Lading, and if any coal is pilfered, detects it immediately. Mr. George H. Potts, one of our most extensive dealers, has become so convinced of the utility of this invention, that he Las arranged them on a new and superior article of steel pens, manuerseval of hisboats at present, and intends to have factured in this country, which in point of flexibilthem generally used.

CANAL COMMISSIONERS. We observe statenents going the sounds of the papers, showing the increase of tolls over the expenditures on the line of the Public Works. This is the old game practised for several years past, for the purpose blinding the eyes of the people about election imes. Our readers must not forget that the same Canal Commissioners caused a fraudulent state ment of the receipts on the Canals to be published which the receipts for the whole year was given, and the expenditures for only nine months. This infamous fraud was exposed at the time, and of course, no further statements emanating from that source can be relied on. If the tolls on the Canal so largely exceed the expenditures, why is it that | saw one poor fellow and his horse roll over and the State debt is increasing nearly TWO MILve have a State Tax, amounting to nearly a milion of dollars, and even the interest remains unpaid? FASHION. - Willis, in his latest lefter to the Vational Intelligencer, savs "I was honored yesterday by being called in to private view of the fall fashion of and, lying at present perdu in tissue paper, and notito be visible to the promiscuous eye till the letter September. I ventured modestly to suggesting improvement, but was told, with the solemning of conviction, that the batters had decided upoh the fashion, and the blocks were cut, and the hate made, and there was no appeal. It is rather a Liwer crown than has been worn, slightly bell, brien a thought wider, and very much arched undernath. Tho English hat that comes over now havery small and narrow brimmed, and the Parisas is shaped like an inverted cone truncated at the base. Of course we have a right to a fashion of our own; but a hat is, more than any other article of dress, matter of whimsy, and any inhabrably style vithout reference to particular physiogromy, seems to me somewhat in the line of the bed of Procrustes. I recollect hearing the remark made abroad that Americans could always be known by their anmitigated newness of hat. Certain it is that the hatters in this country are a richer class, and many pegs higher in tradesman dignite, than those of France and England. Tant mieut, of course."

Cuntous Relie. - Dr. P. B. Noran of Niskayune, has left at our counting room; where it may be seen for a few days, what is supposed to have been an Indian war club. It is of same, formed of the solid rock, into the shape somewhat of an old fashioned rolling-pin, only more tapering at the ends-and is a little less than two feet long. It is a formidable weapon, the weight of which in falling would crack the toughest econce, and required a stalwart arm to wield it it differs in hape and in length from the Indian stone pestle, and is no doubt what it is conjectured to have. been, on instrument of savage warfare. If there. can be any doubt about it, the place where it was found is sufficient perhaps to solve it. It was dug out of a sand hill, on the routs of the Troy and Scheneciady roil road-a locality maled as having . been au Indian encompment during the old French war, and for the Indian sculls and other characteristics of a burial ground found there .- Albany Argus.

A PILFERING CLERK CAUGHT tean, a merchant of St. Louis, after missing repeatedly sums of money from his drawer suspected his book-keeper of dishonesty, and made a ploto prove his suspicion. He loaded a pistol, placed it in the cash drawer in such a manner that it would discharge it the drawer was open, related. the circumstance to his sale clerks, whom he in-. structed to watch from a secret/place, and both withdraw. They were out a short time, when , the report was heard, and on returning they met Bray, the thieving clerk leaving the room, his face blackened with powder from the discharge of the i pistol-the drawer open, with its bottom knocked . out, and the money scattered over the floor. This is the substance of the witnesses testimony. Bray is respectable in appearance, boje unexceptionable character previously, and might have lived a life of respectability had he resisted temptation.

FROM THE OREGON .- The Mithodist Missionary Society have received advices from their mission establishment in Oregon to the 1st of April, brought by the Hudson's Bay Company's Express, via Montreal. The prospects of the mission were good, and the mission family were in rigation, on the Western waters, from 1816 to the enjoyments of health. Rev. Mr. Frost, one of the missionaries, with his family, had left for the United States, vis the Sandwick Islands. Some time in March, Mr. Olly, a member of the mission, a carpenter, was drowned in the Columbia. He had gone up the river for the gurpose of culting timber, and while on his return the cance was overturned in passing the falls, Mr. Olly was an Englishman by birth, but for some time previous to his entering the mission had resided at Troy. He was married the evening before he left New-York for the Oregon, some six years since.
