MONTGOMER'S, THE POET .- Professor Durbin, in one of his interesting letters from England, writes :-- The day I left Sheffield, at 5 o'clock P. M., for Manchester, Dr. Newton, and Mr. Jones, his host, were so good as to afford several of us the great pleasure of spending an hour or two in the company of Mr. Montgomery the post .--It was at the dinner table at Mr. Jones's. Conference business required that the company should sit down to dinner early, and it chanced to be before Mr. Montgomery arrived. As soon as he was seen through the window approaching the door, Mr. Jones rose and went out to meet him, and led him into the room. All rose, and stood while he passed round the table, haking each one by the hand, and then took his seat with Mr. Nowton between him and myselves. The conversation was interrupted but a moment; and the intelligence, vivacity, and plety of the poet, instantly diffused a glow and elevation of thought and feeting which true consecrated genius only can inspire. The topics were various; grave, .gay, amusing, sometimes witty--but always marked with great propriety, and often with deep piety. He is now quite advanced in years, and nervous, his health not being good; yet in company he is very cheerful. He is exceedingly easy, agreeable in manner; and his whole bearing very gentlemanly. No Quackery !!! No Deception. In setting forth the virtues of this truly great medicine, we have no desire to deceive those who are labouring under affliction, nor do we wish to cologize it more than it justly descrives. Yet when we look around and see the vast amount of suffering and distress occasioned by many of the diseases in which this medicine has proved so highly successful, we feel that we can-not urge its claims too strongly, or say too much marble, rosin, tar, pitch, had been despaired of.

In the first stages of the disease, termed "Ca tarrhal Consumption," originating from neglected COLD, it has been used with undeviating success, and hundreds acknowledge they owe the restoration of their health to this invaluable redicine alone. In that form of Consumption so prevalent amongst delicate young females, commonly termed debility, or

"GOING INTO A DECLINE," complaint, with which thousands are linger ing, it has also proved highly successful, and not only possesses the power of checking the prog-ress of this alarming complaint, but also strength ens and invigorates the system more effectually than any medicine we have ever possessed. Besides its surprising efficacy in Consump-tion, it is equally efficacions in Liner Complaints,

Asthma, Bronchitis, and all affections of the Lungs, and has cured many of the most obsti nate cases, after every other remedy had failed. Li For particlars see Dr. Wistar's Treatise on Consumption, to be had of the agents.

The Extraordinary Success

Attending the use of this medicine in discuses of the Lungs, and the many singular cures it has effected, having fully established as efficacy, and as we have already published numerous cer-tificates from the highest authority, which prove its virtues beyond all doubt, we consider it un-necessary to exhibit a long list of them in this lace, and will only mention a few cases, to show what it has done.

WHILE LIFE REMAINS WE HAVE STILL SOME HOPE.

A SURPRISING CURE .- Among the many singular cures which this medicine has effected. there is perhaps none in which its powers are so wn as in the case of Mrs. Austin. This ludy had been consumptive for several years, and during the greater part of this time had received the best medical attention, and triged with blood, and step by step this fearful dis-ease continued its course, until all hopes of a re-covery was entirely despaired of While in this distressing situation, lingering upon the very verge of the grave, she commenced the use of this Balsam, which to use her own expression, opand a small pension from the government and expectorated freely, the cough was gradually suppressed, and every day appeared to add fresh vigour to her looks, and now, in the place of that. emaciated form withering to decay, she is seen mingling in society, in better health than she has enjoyed for years,
