The proprietor seems determined to give the public every evidence of his desire to make it the first periodical of the day ; and we can safely say, that the present number, has never, yet been surpassed. The embellishments are three beautiful engravings, along with a plate of the Fechions, and among the contributors, we discover the names of some of the most talented witters in the country. The new volume of this msg zine, commences with the D.comber number, and it would be advisable for those persons in our neighborhood, who wish to subscribe, to call upon us for that purpose early.

Laun LAMES .- We have in our office a number of Neal's Prient Lard Lamps which are supefiot to anything of the kind we have ever yet seen. In one of these lamps, eight pounds of lard will equal one gallon of the very best sperin oil, and st the same time be destitute of the unpleasant Accompaniments' of the latter. No smell is stfached to the burning, and the smoke, proceeding from the lighted wick, does not blacken that with which it carees into contact.
