GOOD BREEDING. produce any personal advantage.

"An Englishman making the grand tour, to wards the middle of the last century, when travellers were more objects of attention than et present, on arriving at Turin, sauntered out to see the place. He happened to meet a regiment of infant-ry returning from parade, and taking a position to see it pass, a young captain evidently desirous to make a display before the stranger, in crossing one of the numerous water courses with which the city is intersected, missed his footing, and trying to save himself, lost his hat. The exhibition was truly unfortunate; the spectators laughed and looked at the Englishman, expecting him to laugh too. On the contrary, he not only retained his composure, but promptly advanced to where the hat had rolled, and taking it up, presented it with unaffected kindness, to its confused owner. The officer received it with a blush of surprise and gratitude: and hurried to rejoin his company. There was a murmur of applause, and the stranger pass-

"Though the scene of a moment, and without a word spoken, it touched every heart-not with admiration for a mere display of politeness, but ity which never faileth. On the regiment being consideration, in glowing terms related the circumstance to the colonel. The colonel immediately mentioned it to the general in command; and when the Englishman returned to his hotel, an aid-de-camp waited to request his company to dinner at head quarters. In the evening he was car. ried to court-at that time, Chesterfield tells us, the most brilliant court in Europe-and was reegived with particular attention. Of course, during his stay at Turin, he was invited every where; and on his departure he was loaded with letters of introduction to the different States of Italy. Thus a private gentleman, of moderate means, by a graceful impulse of Christian feeling was enabled to travel through a foreign country, then of the highest interest for its society, as well as for the charms which it possesses, with more real distinction and advantage than can ever be derived from the mere circumstance of birth or fortune, even the most splendid."

Giving Satisfaction .- We remember a story o Incledon, the once famous vocalist, that hits an 'Affair of Honor' most capitally. Poor Incledon was one of the unsophisticated, and said that he did a great many things out of sheer simplicity. that he had much better left unsaid and undone, Something of this kind gave offence to a gentleman with whom Incledon happened to fall in company, and the offended party resolved upon satisfaction. He sought out the singer, accordingly, bottle of port one afternoon, at a hotel.

Mr. Incledon, said the waiter, 'a gentleman wishes to see you.

Show him up, then,' said Includon. Bir,' said the visiter,' in a towering passion, am told you have been making free with my name in an improper manner, and I've come to demand entisfaction.'

After some parleying, Incledon rose, put on his hat, and planting himself at one side of the room, began warbling 'Black-eyed Susan,' in his most delicious style. When he had finished, he turned to the gentleman, sonable fellow I ever met with."

A Hearenly Chart .- I was one day standing in the shop of my master, behind the counter, when an old sailor entered, and looking seriously at me, accested me thus:

'Young man, I want a chart.' 'Yes, sir,' I replied, 'you shall have one; do you want St. George's, the Bay of Biscay, or round Ireland, or the Mediterranean, sir?'

Stay, young man, stay!' 'youth is always in a have mentioned; they are useless to me. I want a chart which shall guide me to heaven, for I have lost my old one. Now, young man do you understand/me?'

I immediately conjectured that he wanted a Bible; so I took down a few and showed them to him; and he selected one, evidently much pleased at my readiness to serve him; inquired the price, and paid the money. After a few moments pause, he turned around suddenly, and asked me whether I understood that chart? I told him that I could read it and did so often.

'Of that,' said the old man, 'I have not the least doubt; but recollect that is not sufficient; you must have it in your life and conversation; before you receive any benefit you must love this chart, you must make it your sole guide through life's maze and in entering into the dark and narrow, and to many thousands, dreadful strait of death, you will find it beneficial-then it will be found indeed a treasure and joy .- London Pilot.

Man's Love-An Extract .- And don't you think that men can love as well as women." Agnes laughed outright.

'What can you mean, Agnes!' asked Mag-

I mean, she replied, that when a man finds his house in disorder, and wants somebody to put it to rights, he calls this love; when he is alone too, and things don't go pleasantly and he wants somebody to complain to and find fault with, and lay the blame upon, he calls this love. When no one cares for him, and he gets put down in society, Road in Wynn's addition to the borough of and wants to bind himself for life to some being Pottsville, Schuylkill county, containing in front who will flatter him, and admire his very faults, this too he calls love. Man's love, indeed!

. 'What do you call an 'impression?' asked a young lady of a typo.
'This,' said he, kissing her, 'bcautifully registered too.'

'Then take that as a token of thanks,' she replied slapping him in the face.
'Pray don't batter my form,' begged poor typo. Then keep it locked-ap,' retorted the miss.

No Quackery!!! No Deception. In setting forth the virtues of this truly great edicine, we have no desire to deceive those who are labouring under affliction, nor do we wish to eulogize it more than it justly deserves. Yet when we look around and see the vast amount of suffering and distress occasioned by many of the discases in which this medicine has proved so highly successful, we feel that we cannot urge its claims too strongly, or say too much

Such indeed are the SURPRISING VIRTUES

Of this Balsam, that even in the advanced stages of Consumption, after all the most esteemed remedics of physicians have failed to effect any change, the use of this medicine has been productive of the most astonishing relief, and actually effected cures after all hopes of recovery had been despaired of.

THE POCAHONTAS, OR INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS

THE remedies prescribed for the cure of diseaser, have correctly been divided into classes according to their operation upon the human system. Thus we have one class which causes the stomach to eject its contents, called emetics, another inducing perspiration called decophoretics and a third which evacuates the atomach and bowels, denominated cathartics, &c. Catharties or purging medicines, have in every age and country been the favourites of the physicians for the cure of the most obstinate and alarming ma-ladies. The wonderful success attending this mode of treatment will readily be understood when we reflect that the stomach and bowels have assigned to them, the important function of digestion, or the conversion of food into blood, that vital fluid intended for the growth and nourishment of the whole system. It follows that whenever the digestion organs become depraved or disqualified for the healthy performance of their duty (and this occurs daily in civilized society):

impure blood, and consequently disease are the It has been remarked, that whenever the stomuch is not usefully employed it is always of mischief. That individual who would deny that the most formidable diseases are daily cured by the use of Pills compounded and for sale in almost every hamlet of our country, would certainly risk his reputation for veracity. The Pocahontas, or Indian Vegetable Pills cleanse the stomach, purify the blood and retrieve inflamation, and have proved commently useful in curing billions from hitten challes inflammation of the bilions lever, viitous cholic, inflammation of the liver, rheumatism, dropsy, jaundice, plcurisy, costiveness, &c. &c. Females of sedentary hab costiveness, ac. a.o. remaies of sedentary had its and subject to indigestion, flatulency, headache, depression of spirits and uncasiness, will find relief from the use of these pills. There is not a disease attended with a full period, a dry skin, and a coated tongue, that these pills will not relieve. The following simple narrative will show the benefit derived from these pills in a very common disease : CERTIFICATE,

Having been cured by the use of the Pocahon. tas Pill of an alarmitity disease of the liver of several years standing. I deem it a duty to make my case known to the public, for the benefit of others. I had taken various remedies which afforded only temporary relief, after using two boxes of these pills, my disease yielded, and I have enjoyed good health for the last six months.
