SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 23

For I love to play in the noontide ray, And bask in a blaze from the throne of day,

I love the land where the mountains stand Like the watchtowers high of a patriot band— For I may not hide in my glory and pride Though the land be ever so fair and wide; Where fuzury reigns o'er vuluptuous plains, And fetters the free born scul in chains.

The land of the Higrims ever free,
And I ne'er wilf roam from the haunts I love,
But watch, from my sentinel track above,
Your banner free, over land and sea,
And exult in your glorious destiny.

Oh, guard ye well the land where I dwell Lest to fature times the tale I tell.
When slow expires in smouldering fires
The goodly heritage of your sires.
For Freedom's light, rose clear land bright
From fair Columbia's beacon height.
'Till ye quenched the flame in a starless night.

Then will I tear from your pennon fair
The stars we set in triumph there!
My clive branch on the blast I'll lauuch,
The fluttering stripes from the flag staff wreach?
And away I'll bee, for I com to see
A craven race in the Land of the Free.
