Punch detailing the misery of the unfortunate work-women. The following communication has been dropped into the letter-box of our Divan. It was accompanied by a note alctailing the equal misery of the hapless men-about-town, who have not a shirt to sing about, but supply its place by a front or "dicky;" which is described as a species of linen breast-plate tied on with strings; and with 7the aid of a waistcoat, calculated to deceive the eye of the most wary into a belief that the wearer is enabied to go the entire corazza.]

In a garret airy and high, With features seedy and sad, Stood a gent in ungentle attire, For never a shirt he had. Scrub! scrub! scrub! Working away like a brick, he Wash'd his front in a tub, Singing the song of a dicky.

Singing the song of a dicty.

Scrub! scrub! scrub!

This washing is aught but a treat,
Scrub! scrub!

Ere I can appear in the street.

The fine to be a swell,
In Chesterfield wrapper so flash,
But the misery who can tell

Of having a dicky to wash?

Oh! men that admire my air. Oh: then that admire my air.

And think me exactly the thing,
It is not a shirt that I wear,
But a dicky fied on with a string.
Swell: swell: well:
On poverty hunger and dirt,
Still do I try to be a swell,
Although I have never a shirt.

Scrub! scrub! scrub! Scrub! scrub: scrub:.
Alas, for a long black stock,
Or a gent's new vest with a double breast,
Which at prying eyes would mock.
Frill and buttons, and tape,
Tape and buttons and frill,
Have got to dry, and be iron'd ere I
Can hear Juilien's quadrille.

Oh! that a shirt entire
I could on my shoulders fix,
The "egriped regatta" at two-and-four,
Or the long-cloth at four-and-six,
Or even the onific alico,
At a shilling, would make me glad;
But naught have I, even that to buy,
And credit cannot be had.

In a garret airy and high,
With features seedy and sad,
Stood a gent in ungentle attire,
For never a shirt he had.
Scrub! secub!
Working away like a brick, he
Wash'd his front in a tub, Singing this song of the dicky.

THE OLD WOMAN'S SPEECH. Hon. George N. Briggs, now Governor of Mastachusetts, delivered a temperance address some time since, in the course of which he related the following anecdote, with thrilling effect :

Mr. Briggs said this question (of the introduc-tion of intoxicating drinks,) assumed somewhat of a practical form, last spring in a thriving borough in Pennsylvania. The inhabitants had assembled, es was their usual custom, to decide what number of licenses the town should petition from the county Court, from whom they were issued. There was a very full attendance. One of the respectable magistrates of the borough presided, and upon the platform were seated, among others, the clergyman of the village, one of his deacons, and the physician.

After the niceting had been called to order, one of the most respectable citizens of the borough rose, and after a short speech, moved that the meeting petition for the usual number of licenses, for the ensuing year He thought it was not best to get up an excitement, by refusing to grant li-censes. They had better license good men and let them sell. The proposition seemed to meet with almost universal favor. It was so excellent a way to get along quietly, and one and then another, in turn expressed a hope that such a course would be adopted. The President was about to put the question to the meeting, when an object rose in a distant part of the building, and all eyes were instantly turned in that direction. It was an old woman poorly clad, and whose careworn countenance was the painful index of no light sufferings. And yet there was something in the flash of her bright eye, that told she had once been what she then was not. She addressed the Presitent, and said with his permission, she wished to say a few words to the meeting.

She had came because she had heard that they were to decide the license question. You, said she, all know who I am. You once knew me the mistress of one of the best estates in the borough. I once had a husband and five sons; and woman never had a kinder husband; mother never had five better, or more affectionate sons. But where are they now? Doctor, where are they now? In yonder burying ground, there are six graves Doctor, how came they to be drunkards ? No would come and drink with them, and you told them, that temperate drinking would do them good. And you, too sir, (addressing the clergyman) would come and drink-with my husband and my sons thought they might drink with safety. because they saw you drink. Deacon, you sole them rum, which made them drunkards. You have now got my farm, and all my property, and you got it all by RUM. And now she said, I have done my errand. I go back to the poor house, for that is my home? You, reverend sir, you doctor, and you do no. I shall never meet again, until I meet you at the bar of God, where you, too, will meet my ruined and lost husband, and those five sons, who, through your means and influence, fiff the drunkard's grave! The old woman sat down. Perfect silence preto put the question to the meeting-"Shall we petition the court to issue licenses to this boroug for the ensuing year!" and then one unbroken "NO!" which made the very walls reecho with the sound, told the result of the old woman's ap-

THE COMMON SCHOOLS-BY BISHOP DONE .-"We utterly repudiate, as unworthy, notrof freemen only, but of men, the narrow notion that there is to be an education for the poor, as such. Has God provided for the poor, a coarser earth, a thinner air a paler sky? Does not the glorious sun pour down his golden flood as cheority upon the poor man's hovel, as upon the rich man's pal-ty cannot repress it. Difficulties do but stimulate its vigor. And the poor tallow-chandler's son that sets up all the night to read the book which an apprentice lends him lest the master's eye should miss it in the morning, shall stand and treat with kings, shall add new provinces to the domain of science shall bind the lightning, with a hempen cord, and bring it harmless from the skies. The Common School is common, not as inferior, not as the school for poor men's children, but as the light and an are common. It ought to be the best school; because it is the first school; and in all works the beginning is one-half. Who does not know the value to a community of a plentiful supply of the pure element of water. And infinitely more than this, is the instruction of the Common Schools, for it is the fountain at which the mind drinks, and is refreshed and strengthened for its career of usefulness and glory."

the sense of all the freshness, verdure, fragrance, melody, and beauty of luxuriant nature, as the pale sons of Kings? Or is it on the mind that God has stamped the imprint of a baser birth, so that the poor man's child, knoys, with an inborn certainty, that his lot is to crawl, not climb?

It is not so. God has not done it. Man cannot do it. Mind is immortal. Mind is imperial. It bears no mark of high or low, of rich or poor. It heeds no bound of time, or place, of rank or circumstance. It asks but freedom. It requires but light. It is heaven born, and it inspires to heaven. Weakness does not enfeeble it. EDWARD VARDLEY, Nork Store.

P. S.—From the fact of my having a person in the City, whose time and attention, is devoted to the selection of the articles I propose selling. I have no hesitation in saying that I can furnish goods as cheap, as any in Pottsville. Call and judge for yourselves.

Pottsville, Sept. 23, 1843, 39—

E. Y.

To the Military.

A 8 the period is fast, approaching for the election of A. Officers to the several Battalions, and of the New Brigade, and as it is generally, although erroneously, believed that a good uniform cannot be procured out of the city, the subscribers, would therefore notify all successful candidates of the fact, that they are prepared to furnish MILITARY OUTFITS, of any rank, from Major General, to Corporal, in as correct, elegant and cheap a manner, as any other establishment in the state—for the truth of all which they can give high and satisfactory evidence.

LIPPINCOTT & TAYLOR,

Corner Mahantangò and Centre streets. Removal.

THE subscriber takes this method of informing his customers and the citizens of Pottsyille generally, that he has removed his FLOUR AND FEED STORE from Centre street to the corner of Norwegian and Rail Road streets, where he will be pleased to merit a continuance of their patronage.
