SHORT PATENT SERMON. NEW SERIES-NO. 218.

The words of my text are as follows : When first an infant draws the vital air Officious grief should welcome it to care. My hearers - I suppose you will all allow that, if there were no human beings in the world, there would be no inrquity; and that every habe born into the world is but another wicked grease-spot upon the fine carpet of creation—another stain upon the little that is left of earth-ave, a big blot upon the clean blank book of existence. Every habe that we find dropped upon the shore of being, we may look upon as a fresh shovel-full of manure for the field of vice; whither Satan wil be sure to remove it, in process of time, notwithstanding we may place it, and endeavor to keep it. in the garden of virtue. A child is begat in corroption, like a magget in spoilt meat, and more or less of corruption it must always contain, even though you were to fill it every day with a strong lye of pious precept, give it several severe. shakes of admonition, and then rinse it out with the pure water of religious advice.

My frierds-instead of running wild with joy, when a babe is born unto you, you ought to grieve to think how its advent must increase your cares and anxieties-how soon it will become stained with sin-how soon the red, poisonous berries of _temptation will invite it into the serpentine pathof vice that wind among the mountains of misery, far, dangerously far, from the flowery lawns and green valleys of peace and happiness. Without constant and painful watchfulness these little embryo of error will not only dirty their faces, frocks and pantaletts, but daub their young souls with the filth of the world. As soon as they begin to run, they take to evil, just as naturally as ducks take to a mud puddle; and as fo keeping their inclinations confined in the channel of holiness, you might as soon think of making a hop vine twine to the right, or confining a cock reach in a hen coop.

Young husband-you are presented with a little bundle of sin in the shape of a baby. You dance for joy-almost die with delight-run about fulf mad, proclaiming the blessed circumstance, and seeking for congratulation. Yes, you dive 1 ito public houses, where flows the wine, that addeth madness to mirth, exclaiming, Sarah has got a baby !-I'm a delighted daddy and a happy man !- What'li you take to drink ?' Don't be too joyful, exhilerated but inexperienced father .-Don't burst your breeches with swollen pride nor tear your linen in a moment of exstacy. Pause and consider for a moment, whether it were not fitter to sigh than to sing on the occasion. You are blest, as you think, with a baby-a fine, fat, beautiful boy-weighs as much as a 'geese,' and worth a million of it. In him you behold a minature picture of vourself-a few drops of the essence of your own existence, and in him are centred half of your hopes, not a few of your joys, and no small amount of pleasing expectation. Now, the chances are even that this bud of beauty and fondness, upon which you so much doat, is blighted by the frost of death ere it has fully expanded into bloom. Then you will blubber and moan like a white bear for her slaughtered cubs; 'Oh, why did I so frantically rejoige over the mere lone of a toy that was permitted to be played with for a brief hour only, and then snatched away forever? Nature's brightest diamond! scarcely had she shown the brilliant gem to my ravished eyes before she closed the casket, and left me povertystricken in spirit! Your boy, my dear young father, even should be live to arrive at the age of manhood, must meet with all sorts of trials, tribu_ letions, sorrows and accidents. He will give you trouble, pain, uneasiness-perhaps, night after night, rob you of your pillow of peace, and place a bundle of thorns instead. He may be led astray by abandoned and profficate companions; and instead of your seeing him, as you hoped you one day might, running a candidate for the Presidency or filling some high office of trust under government. you may be inflicted with the horror of beholding him peeping through the grates of a prison. At any rate, doaling parent, that child of yours, if he live long enough, must cut his fingers, bump his head, bruise his body, probably bread his limbs, and escape breaking his neck bythe narrowest of chances. He is born to trouble, pain, care grief and disappointment, as 'the sparke fly upward,' as said my deceased friend Job; and you should grieve to think, as you look upon him in the cradle, how soon he must be tossed about, without mercy or favor, upon the billows of life's . - .-> tempestuous sea.

My friends-babies are delicate and troublesome vessels. There is so much alloy in their compo sition, that like pewter medals, they are bright only for a short time; and they need constant rubbing to make them exhibit anything like their primitive polish. You may imagine that they are filled with the over-pure, and sparkling liquid of virtue and innocence; but, my dear friends, there is a thick sediment of sin at the bottom which passion's gust and time's rough tempest soon shake up, and render muddy and turbid those chrystal waters of the soul, that looked as though they might easily be kept limpid forever. If all the sin that lies buried in the bosom of a habe could be brought out and exhibited on the surface, it would present a worse spectacle than a patient with the small pox-there wouldn't be a spot of purity on its skin but might be covered with a sixpence. I say unto you again, you might as well mourn as be merry when first an infant draws the vital air;' for, if it lives, it must five to be molested by care, trouble and sorrow and if its first creep should happen to be into its grave, you will wish that it had never been bern. It is a hard thing to have so entertaining and handsomaly printed a little book scaled up by an angel from the throne of God, before you scarce had time to read the preface through, never more to be perused till He, who brake the seven prophetic seals, shall open it again. Therefore, my phetic seals, shall open it again. Therefore, my brethern, I recommend you all to join the Shallers, and have no babies to care for. So mote it will be sold cheap for cash, by application to the subscriber at the York Ftere.

" A Good Shave and Yet no Shave." GLENN'S UNRIVALLED SAPONACEOUS COM-POUND FOR SHAVING.

TO Gentlemen who shave themselves, this articles of offered with the greatest confidence as equal, ea not superior to any other Shaving Soap in use. For delightful and consistent lather, which will not dry pon the face or irritate the most delicate skin, for the case and comfort it gives to the often troublesome operation of shaving, rendering it surpassingly easy, this compound can be safely recommended. It is equally effectual in warm or cold water, and after using it, the face is left soft and pleasant, and sharrely free from the irritation and roughners, soft caused by the use of strong alkaline scaps and shaving Creams. The compound is pleasantly perfuned and put up in a near chiral low, answering all the purposes of a shaving box, pound is pleasably performed and put up in a near chi-na box, answering all the purpos as of a shaving box, and on trial will be found very eccennical and conve-nient, during the few years this article has been before the public, the proprietor has sold 35,000 boxes; of it, and the demand is constantly increasing as its merits become known. The agents are authorized to return the purchase money, where it does not give entire sat-isfaction.

the purchase money, where it does not give entire satisfaction.

The Saponaceous Compound is composed of ingredients, so admirably compounded, that shaving with it, is an absolute pleasure. —U. S. Gazette.

The Saponaceous Compound, is the best preparation extant for shaving purposes. It is extensively patronized, and deserves to be; every gentleman who shaves himself, should buy it, "Philad-lphin Gazette.

We beg to call the attention of the hearded portion of our subscribers, to the Saponaceous Compound. It is, without exception, the best shaving soap, we everused.'—Philada. Transcript.

The Saponaceous Compound for shaving, is the best—perhaps the very best article in use, for scraping the heard from the human face divine. What with a keen razor and this compound, you may shave your face in half the time, you are permouncing the word. It is an anomaly in language—It is a very good shave, and yet no shave. No Quackery!!! No Deception.

In setting forth the virtues of this truly great medicine, we have no desire to deceive those who are inbouring under affliction, nor do we wish to enlogize it more than it justly deserves. Yet when we look around and see the rast amount of suffering and distress occasioned by many of the diseases in which this medicine has proved so highly successful, we feel that we cannot urge its claims too strongly, or say to much in its favour Such indeed are the SURPRISING VIRTUES Of this Balsam, that even in the advanced stages. of Consumption, after all the most exteemed rem e it is of physicians have failed to effect any change, the use of this medicine has been prodictive of the most astonishing relief and actually effected cures after all hopes of recovery had been despaired of.

In the first stages of the disease, torined "Catarrhal Consumption," originating from peglect ed OOLD, it has been used with undeviating success, and hundreds acknowledge they owe the restoration of their health to this mealuable medicine alone. In that form of Consumption o prevalent amongst delicate young females, monty termed debility, or "GOING INTO A DECLINE A complaint with which thousands are lingering, it has also proved highly successful and not only possesses the power of checking the progress of this alarming complaint, but also strenghcas and invigorates the sy-tem more effectually than any medicine we have ever posses ed.
