CONFIRMED.

Extraordinary cure of Asthma, by Steelling's Pulmonary Syrup, attested to by Capt. Somuel R. Buminell. merchant of Potter's Creek, Monmonth County, New Jersey, the father of the unfortunate young sufferer.

POTTERS CREEK, June 6th, 1844.

Dr. STEELING—Dear Sir:—I have the pleasure of being able to state that my daughter, who had been suffering undersevere Asthma for 5 or 6 years, has been suffering undersevere Asthma for 5 or 6 years, has been entirely cured of the painful disease, by the use of six bottles of your Palmonary Syrup. She was when first attacked with that complaint, only nine years of the period of near six years, having an attack about every three or four weeks! It was to all appearance, confined and inemovable—we tried many medicines without any relief, whatever. About this time, we heard of the superior efficacy of year Palmonary Syrup and determined to give it a trial—we procured a dozen boatles, of it; the first bottle reflexed her very much, and by the time she had taken six bottles, she was perfectly caucily! It is now three three years since them and she has not had the slightest attack of the Asthma. She suffered so much when latoring under those attacks that we could hear bir breath distinctly over the whole house—the was frequently near sufficiently, and we hadquite despaired of her recovery.

I give you the above statement of facts, that others POTTERS CREEK, June 6th, 1811.

I give you the above statement of facts, that others who may be afflicted with this awful disease, may make use of the same means, and we feel assured that with the blessing of Previdence, they will find permanent relief.

You'rs respectfully,
SAMUEL R. BUNNELL. A loud voice from Philadelphia!!!!.

Philada., July 10th, 1831.

Dr. Steelling—Sir:—I feel much gratified in being able to say to you, that the Pulmonary Sympy ou send, has been used by several persons with great success.—The first person who took it, had been confined in her bed for some time with a 'severe couph—after liking only one bottle, she was almost entirely cured. A Sailor was greatly distressed with a cough, and could not find nothing to releve him.—He took one bottle and called to say that he was catterly extent? It?—A member of my Church, was taken with the prevailing influenza—He took six of your Actibilious Pulls, and a bottle of Symp, and felt almost entirely restored to his wanted health. While at Woodston, N. J. gr short time since of found Mrs. S.W. labouring under a secret cough, and searcely able to sit up through the day—I felt confident that the Symp would relieve her; accordingly I sent her a bottle—within a few days. I heard that she was greatly benefited, and in a fair way-for a speady recovery. I can truly say, that almost every one that has taken it, has been more for best benefited, and I can cordially recommend it to all who are in any way afficied with a cough. Yours &c.

The following is from a distinguished Councellor at Law in Bridgion, N. J.

Four or five of the young known to Michael, to be ready lest anything should happen. Michael himself, with a zembil containing a not of charcoal, a few eggs and a flask of oil, in one hand a frying-pan, and a small lantern in the other, closely enveloped in his dusky capote, proceeded smiling to his task. The tomb of the Turk consisted of a marble cover taken from some ancient sarcophagus, and sustained at the corners by four small pillars of masonry; the top was not higher than an ordinary table, and below the marble slab there was an empty space between the columns. The night was extremely dark and cold, so that the friends of Michael, familiar as they were with their native city, lantern through the mass of ruins Athens then presented. As they approached the tomb, they perceived that he had already lighted the charcoal and was engaged in blowing it vigorously, as much to warm his hands as to prepare for his cooking operations. Creeping as near him as possible without risking a discovery, they heard, to their amazement, a deep voice apparently proceeding from the tomb, which exclaimed, "It must be a cold night for mankind." "You need not care," said Michael in a careless tone, but nervously proceeded to pour a whole bottle of oil in the frying-pan. As soon as the oil was boiling and bubbling, the voice from the tomb again exclaimed, "Infidel, what are you doing here? You appear to be cooking-fly hence, or I will cat my supper of thy carrion." And at the instant a head, covered by an enormous white turban, protruded himself rom under the tombstone with open mouth. Michael; either alarmed at the words and the appariion, or angry at the suspicion of a premeditated trick on the part of his companions, seized the panful of boiling oil, and poured the whole contents into the gaping mouth of the spectre, vocifer-

The friends of Michael ushed forward, but the lamp had fallen to the ground and was extinguished in the confusion Some time elapsed ere it was found and lighted. The unfortunate figure was drawn forth suffocated by the oil, and evidently in a dying state, if, indeed, life was not already extinct. Slowly the horrible truth became apparent. Nerio had seperated himself from the rest of the party unperceived, disguised himself, and gained the tomb before the arrival of Michael, who thus became the murderer of his sister's lover,

POLITICAL:

A WORKING-MAN'S LETTER. Mr. Thomas Chrystal, a journeyman shoema ter of this City, attended and addressed the late Locofoco mass meeting at Belleville, and his remarks were highly commended in the Plebeian Newark Post, Sober Second Thought, &c. I cems however, that his soher second thought averse to the great affirmative measure of the party with which he has always hitherto acted, and, being more recently urged to address a Polk and Dallas meeting, he replied as follows:

New York, August 12, 1844. GENTLEMEN-I received a formal invitation which I accepted, to address the association c which you are the committee, from one of you number, upon the political questions which now agitate the country. It would give me pleasure to do so, but I could not advocate the election of Polk and Dallas; therefore, I suppose, it would not be agreeable to you to hear me : If it would ! will meet you cheerfully. If any of you heard my remarks at the Democratic meeting at Belleville you will recollect that I took occasion to say that my views upon the annexation of Texas differed from those entertained by the democratic party They are desirous of making that question the is sue in the coming election; and with them a man's democracy depends upon the stand he takes in relation to this subject. I, being opposed, can no longer act with the: The rank and file of the Democratic party, you will recollect, had with almost unparalleled unanimity, long before the meeting of the Democratic Baltimore Convention nomnated Mr. Van Buren as their candidate for the Presidency. I was among that number. His letter appeared; in that he took ground against annexation, and for that, the expressed will of the people was disregarded, and Mr. Van Buren was sacrificed for honestly expressing his opinion; and that, too, by a clique,—the meanest and most despicable-who, by their midnight deeds, proved that they were bent upon his political destruction They nominated in his stead a man who was known only for his blind adherence to party, irrespective of right, and who has neither talent nor worth, nor in fact any of those qualities that distinguish the statesman. He was nominated because he endorsed mad John Tyler's views of an nexation; and now that they have nominated Mr. Polk, they demand of the people unqualified obedience and support. It remains to be seen whether the great mass of the Democratic party will con-They meet together in the evenings and amuse sent to have their candidate thrown aside and themselves in a very agreeable way. There are times in the history of all partie when it is necessary to refer to old landmarks-to revert to old principles, for the purpose of secing what change had taken place, and if any, wheth er they were beneficial or otherwise. Men, by continued adherence to party, are apt to become bigoted, are apt to delegate the right of thinking to their leaders, believing that they can do no

The sham ery of "Democracy and the dear people" are words familiar to those warm weather, expedient loving patriots—I mean the leaders of the democratic party :- their false speeches, fillmen promised to follow at a little distance, un- ed with love for the laboring classes, I have heard until they ceased to be musical. By such means they have succeeded in lulling to sleep thousands of honest, well-meaning men. I trust this foul plot to annex Texas to this Union will be the means of awakening them from their slumbers. Can it be possible that they are in favor of adnitting that territory into our Union, saddled as it is with a debt of $22,000,000, which this country will have to assume, thereby creating a nation-I debt, and that too by the very party who have been most clamorous against one; besides we shall annex several Slave States to the Union. Modern Democracy and slavery go hand in hand—but it is not pure democracy; it is a spurious article. found some difficulty in following him without a Add to that a war with Mexico, aided, as doubtless she will be, by other foreign powers. The horrors of war are at all times to be avoided, if it can be done consistent with national honor; but to battle in defence of an open wrong, the thought is intolerable. The annexation plot was conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity-for foul, base, political purposes-to retrieve the fortunes of a fallen party; fullen by the wickedness of men who labored only for personal aggrandisement; and who to attain their object, are ever ready to appeal to illiberal prejudices, or to suborn as auxiliary to party strife the evil spirit of animosity between the rich and the poor. I believe in no such prejudices, nor will I be party to them longer. I am a mechanic, and have no other interest in the election than that the Gov ernment shall be administered wisely and justly. The Democratic party has been, and is, troubled with too many Pharisces who have as the re ligious Pharisce of old, proclaimed that they only were holy, and they now rule the party as with a rod of iron. It is useless for the Democrats to attempt to triumph with their present Pharisiacal leaders. For the honest-for those who are in favor of the perpetuity of our country and her inating-"If you are so hungry take the oil, son of stitution .- there can be nothing in the democratic party, as at present organized, that accords with their views. For myself, I here renounce them, and pledge myself to the Whiz cause. FRIENDS OF THE TARIFF. The pretended riendship of the Locofocos for the Whig Tariff, is very humorously illustrated by the following an_ ecdote, related by the Hon. Mr. Greene, of Kentucky, in a recent address to the Clay Club of Washington city:---"The Locofocos, (said Mr. G..) after swearing dlegiance to a man who has declared from the house tops his advocacy of free trade, have the hypoerisy and impudence to call themselves the friends Pennsylvania they call Mr. Polk a friend to proof that measure, and deny that the Whigs are .-They remind me, said Mr. Greene, of a story I search of food; the times being hard, she remained out longer than usual, and when she returned of a very suspicious appearance. 'Why, you don't LOOK like a woodchuck-you don't TALE like a woodchuck-and what is more, you don't SMELL like a woodchuck"-and therefore the woodchuck kicked him out. So it is with the political Polksits, said Mr. G., they don't look like tariff menthey don't talk like tariff men-and they don't smell like 'em."

GERMAN WHICE IN CIRCINNATI. - The German Whigs in Cincinnati are doing good service to the land of their adoption, by convincing those of their countrymen, who have been trapped by the aumning devices of the Boco Fecosithat their interests and the success of Whig principles are identical. Hundreds of Germans, who have heretofore voted the Loco Foro ticket in that city. have renounced that party &c., are now using their influence in favor of the Whigs. The Cincinnati Straightout, on this subject, says:

Until recently, according to the statements of the German Loco Foco stemp orators, there were not one hundred and fifty Whigs of that class in this city. How is it now? We see their meetings crowded—five or six hundred names enrolled on the books of their German Clay Club, and an enthusiasm pervading them that is as warm and heartfelt as is evinced by the most ardent of our American friends. The are is spreading among them; it will spread until it REVOLUTION-IZES HAMILTON COUNTY.

TESTIMONY OF MR. BYCHANAN. - In a speech delivered by the Hon. James Buchanan, before the members of the Pennsylennia Democratic State Convention, in August $40, when speaking of the nomination of General Harrison over Mr. Clay he says: - The Whig mity had in Mr. Clay candidate of whom they may have been just'y proud a man of hold and fearless heart -a man of high and commanding cloquence, and a man of distinguished ability. Although opposed to his political principles, yet have ever felt for him the highest regard." .

A DAMERR.-It is slight by one of the Cincinnati papers, that when the case was making his speech in that city he exclaimed, Who would you rather suppose Play or Polk!' 'Clay! Clay! Clay! TRACICAL AND ROMANTIC .- The village of Syracuse, N. Y., has recently been the the tre of a novel and fatal love affair. About six years ago there arrived there from Germany, a young man and woman, who during the voyage, had formed a mutual attachment, and had resolved upon a matrimonial connection. Owing, however, to their ignorance of American manners and other equally foolish causes, they were not married according to the laws of the State, but lived together as husland and wife in a small-house erected by the high. In this way they had of the tariff. Net only so, but in New York and lived together for six wars, until some three weeks since, although the mas was frequently urged by cetion.
