Co the Lark. To the Welsh of Dafydd ab Gwilyn, a bard inf the Fourteenth Century.

Bentinel of the morning light! Reveller of the spring! How sweetly, nobly wild thy flight, Thy boundless journeying; Far from thy brethern of the woods, alone, A hermit cloisterer before God's throne;

H. Oh! will thou climb the heavens for me -You rampait's starry height-Thou interlude of inclody Twist darkness and the light; And sees, with heaven's first draw upon thy crest My lady love, the moon beam of the west!

: III. No woodland earoller art thou Far from the archer's eye, Thy course is o'er the mountain brow, Thy music in the sky; Then fearless float thy path of cloud along, Thou earthly denison of angel song !

inchesioner - --DESPERATION.

The following is a passage from the laughable tale of desperation, one of the rich articles which are embraced in the literary remains of the late Willis Gaylord Clark. It is only necessary to premise that the writer is a Philadelphia studentwho, after a stolen fortnight amid the gareties of a Washington season, finds himself, [through the remissness of a chum] at Baltimore on his way frome, without a penny in his pocket. He stops at a fashionable hotel, nevertheless, where, after tarrying a day or two, finally, at the heel of a grand dinner, fomnesolus' in his private apartments flanked with abundant Champaigne and Burgundy, resolved to disclose all to his landlerd. Summoning a servant, he say ,

Ask the landlord to step up to my room and bring his bill.

He clatters down stairs, giggling, and shortly thereafter his master appeared. He entered with a generous smile, that made me hope for the best his house afforded, and that, just then was credit. 'How much do I owe you,' said I. He handed me the bill with all the grace of private expec-

"Let me see-seventeen dollars. How very reasonable ! But, my dear sir, the most disagreeable part of the matter is now to be disclosed. I grieve to inform you that at present I am out of money, but I know by your philanthropic looks that you will be satisfied when I tell you that if 1 had it, I would give it to you with unqualified pleasure.

But you see my not having the change by me is the reason I cannot do it, and I am sure you will let the matter stand, and say no more about it. I am a stranger to you, that's a fact; but in the place where I came from, all my acquaintantances know me, as easy as can be.'

The landlerd turned all colors. 'Where do you live, any how !'

'In Wushing-, I should say Philadelphia.' His eyes flashed with angry disappointment.-"I see how it is, mister; my opinion is that you are a blackleg. You don't know where your home is—you begin with Washington and then drop it for Philadelphia. You must pay the bill.'

RESPECTFULLY unnounce to the citizens of Schuylkill county, that they have commenced business in the Sotte recently occupied by Walliam C. Leib, one door south of the Post Office, in the Borough of Pottsville, where they than a just opened a new and carefully selected stock of But I can't.

"Then I'll take your clothes; If I don't blow one tight,"

... 'Scoundrel!' said I, rising bolt upright, 'do it if you dare! do it! and leave the rest to me l' There were no more words. He arose deliberately, seized my hat and my only inexpressibles, and walked down stairs.

Physicians say that two excitements can exist at the same time in one system. External circumstances drove away, almost immediately the confusion of my brain.

I arese and looked out of the window. The snow was descending as I drummed on the pane What was I to do ! An unhappy 'siins cullotes' in a strange city, no mone,, and slightly inebriated. A thought struck me.

I had a large, full cloak, which, with all my other appointments, save those he took, the landlord had spared. I dressed immediately; c'rew on my boots over my fair drawers, not unlike small clothes, put on my cravat, vest and coat; laid a du Arivelling cap from my trunk jountingly over my forehead, and flinging my fine long mantle gracefully about me, made my way through the hall in. to the street.

Attracted by shining lamps in the portico of a new hotel, a few squares from my first lodgings, I entered, recorded some name on the books, an ! bespoke a bed. Every thing was fresh and neat; every servant attentive; all argued well. I kept myself closely cloaked, pulled a cigar, and retired to bed to mature my plot.

Waiter, just brush my clothes well, my fine fellow,' said I, in the morning, as he entered my room. Mind the pantaloons; don't spill any thing from the pockets; there is money in both.'

'I don't see no pantaloons.' The devil you don't! Where are they ? Can't tell, I'm sure; I dou't know, s'elp me · Go down, sir, and tell your master to come up here immediately. The publican was with me in a moment.

I had arisen and worked my face before the glass into a fiendish look of passion. 'Landlord,' exclaimed I, with a fierce gesture, I have been robbed in your house—robbed, sir, robbed! My "EINDIAGS & SHOEMAKER'S KITS, Half Bleached and Grain Thread, Pees, Sparables, Awls, Hammers, Knives, Pincers, Bristles, Rubbers, Rapes, Shoulder Stecks, Brass Heels, Welt Keys, Men's Weenen's, Bey's and Children's Lasts, Boot Trees, conversions boards, all of which will be sold cheap for pantiloons and a purse, containing three fifty doltar notes are gone. This is a pretty hotel. Is Reading, Aug. 31 this the way you fulfil the injunctions of scrip. ture? I am a stranger, and I find myself taken in with a vengeance. I will expose you at once, if I am not recompensed." Pray, keep your temper,' said the agitated pub. lican. I have just opened this house, and it is getting a good run; would you ruin its reputawho has robbed you, and I will send for a tailor to measure you for your missing garment. Your in exchange for the one hundred and forty dollars which you give me, their contents are yours." The next evening, with new inexpressibles, and one hundred and forty dollars in my purse, I called on my guardian in Philadelphia, for sixty dollars. He gave it, with a lecture on collegiate dissipation, that I shall not soon forget. I enclosed the money back to my honorable landlord, by the first post, settled my other bill at old Crusty's, the first publican, and got my trunk by mail.

INDIAN VEGETABLE ELIXER & LINIMENT.-A Cure for Rheumatic affections. This article penetrates to every nerve and sinew of the person using it, and it has attained a reputation unequalled by any other article in Rheumatism. This will cure the most seer article in Rheumatism. This will cure the most server cases—extend contracted muscles, and bring feeling and sensibility to limbs long paralyzed and useless. We only need refer to some cases below to obtain the confidence of the public for these articles.

The following are two respectable, and the gentlemen too well known to require comment. Let them be read. I have been afflicted most grievously since 1832 with Rheumatism and zontraction of the cords of my legs, caused by the cramps of the cholera, which I then had in its most severe form. After trying many remedies in vain, I have found relief—had the cords of my legs relaxed—the swelling reduced—and am greatly benefitted by the use of one bottle of Liniment, used internally and one bottle of Indian Vegetable Elixir, used internally at the same time. I can now walk with ease fin positions that I could not a week ago endure at all.

IAMES G. REYNOLDS,

114 Chrystie street, corner of Delancey street. Reynolds, was a few days ago at the office, where this remedy was obtained in full health and perfect possess in of his legs and feet, and though over sixty years old, stood upon his toes repeatedly to show the spectators how complete he was cured. This remedy reaches and soothes the nerves, and allays pains most effectually and ispeedily Rheumatic pains, than any other application, and by a few repetitions removes more effectually and speedily Rheumatic pains, than any other application was ever known to do. Its ere cases-extend contracted muscles, and bring fe han any other application was ever known to do. It flects are powerful and immediate. Let those afflict cherts are powerin and immediate. Let those aniacy cit ry it but once, and they must be convinced.

The Liniment is much counterfeited as to externa ooks, and the only text-of-geniness is to find the fasimile eichature of Comstock & Co. If that cannot be found it is counterfeit. Buy only at Comstock's Brand House, No. 2, North 5th street, Philadelphia, and Pottsville of Feb. 17, 7—ly J. S. C. MARTIN.
