Miss HELEN MATHEWS, from the popular Concerts at the Philadelphia Museum.

Mr. MOSSOP, Comedian and Vecalist, from the Chesnut st. Theatre, and all the Principal Theatres, in the Union.

Mr. QUAYLE, Conductor of the Museum Concerts, and Mr. A. G. Emerick, Professor of Music, who will proside at the Piano Forte. They will produce nearly all the Music of the Celebrated Opera of the Bohemiai Girl.

The production of this Opera last Season, in London, created a sensation never before experienced in that great metropolis. It became at once, immensely popular, and was repeated for upwards of one hundred nights, to crowded and brilliant audiences, and the public became so delighted with the music, that it was played and sung in every drawing room and street in London. The music by BALFE, one of the first Composers and Singers in Europe, author of those two first played and sung in every grawing room and street in London. The music by BALFE, one of the first Com-posers and Singers in Europe, author of those two favorite and heautiful Songs, "The Light of Other Doys" and "Rapture Dwellings," It has created quite as great a sensation in New York and Philadelphia, being in fact one of the most popular Operas ever produced.
