or the office, care-worn and weary, when your brow has been furrowed and your thoughts perplexed—when troubles of the present and anxieties of the future have crowded every peaceful feeling from your heart, how the troubles of your soul were laid to rest, and cares for the present and future dissipated before the pleasant words of your smiling children, and the gentle greeting of your wife.

Or, when the ire of your spirits has been roused; and indignant feelings have reigned, was it the whisper of a plasant word that restored calimness to your tempest tossed soul? Did the soft answer turn away wrath?

Reader, we might write a volume on this delegated to the soft artiful from the most scoptical.

Reader, we might write a volume on this delightful influence. Go where we will, abide where we may, we feel its power. Oh! learn this art yourselves, all ye that have felt its kindly influence from others. Speak pleasant words to all around you, and your path shall ever be lighted by the smiles of those who welcome your co-

LEIDY'S SARSAPARILLA D little stick in his hand, his-head as high as perhaps any Babel builder might have wished, and his eyes fastened on the wide spread plain, watch ing for the dusky speck on the horizon that would announce the approach of a flock of pigeons.-Then these sticks were ready with others of the Lind to throw over the threatened army, who, like wiser creatures, fearing where no fear is, stoop to the danger, and, dreaming of the hawk, the vulture, or the eagle, descend to shelter themselves in the fern at the foot of the trees, whose nets, bosened by other concealed watchers, fall over and take them. The barbarous captures then put the poor bird's heads in their mouths, and thus savagely terminate their existence.-Miss Bunbury's Rides in the Pyranecs.

SEETCH OF A GENTLEMAN .-- Moderation, de corum and neatness distinguish the gentleman --He is at all times attable, diffident and studious to please; intelligent and polite; his behaviour is pleasant and graceful. When he enters the dwelling of an inferior he endeavers to hide, if possible, the difference between their rank in life. Ever willing to assist those around him, he is neith-Ber unkind, haughty, nor overbearing. In the - mansions of the great the correctness of his mind induces him to bend to etiquette, but not to stoor to adulation: Correct principle cautions him to avoid the gaming table, inebriety, or any other fuible that could occasion him self-reproach .-Pleased with the pleasures of reflection, he rejoices to see the gayety of society, and is fastidious upon no point of little import. Appear only to be a gentleman, and its shadow will bring upon you contempt; be a gentleman, and its honors will remain after you are dead.

The moral perfections of the soul, the virtues of the rational mind, touched by the rude hand lot death, may perhaps, like the flower of the evening, close for a time their yet imperfect forms; but the gloomy night and darkness of the grave shall quickly pass; the morning of the resurrection shall arrive; they shall then expand their fragrant blossoms beneath the influence of brighter suns, and flourish in the possession of an eternal day.

In the grave to which we are hastening, and which will soon be the mansion of the rich and mighty, of the most accomplished and admired, as well as of the most ignoble and despised, none of the distinctions of this world remain. The splendid monument and the unlettered turf excite, in the pausing observer, the same humiliating reflection:- 'Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt re-

JOYFUL NEWS.

JOYPUL NEWS.

Mother, speak pleasantly to the little ones who cluster around you—speak ever pleasantly, and he assured that answering tones of joy and dispositions formed to constant kindness shall be your reward.

Sister, brother, or friend—would you render life all one sunny day—would you gather round you those who will cheer you in the darkest hour? Let the light of kindness rule your tongue, and your words be pleasant as the 'dew of Heaven, and as' the dew that descended on the mountains of Zion.'

Most Extraordinary Cure:—If any have doubts they may now dismiss them, and the most incredulous may consider Deafness as curable. Numerous cases of cures, and many of them very remarkable—by the use of 'Scarpa's Oil,' have been published, but this 'caps the climax'. Young or old may yet recover hearing. A lady in Smithfield, Pennsylvania, and now about 80 years of age had been gradually getting deaf for more than 40 years, so that it was next to impossible to make her hear conversation in the loudest tones of voice; Last winter she was induced to try 'Scarpa's Oil for Deafness.' It is only necessary to add that she has used two bottles, and that her hearing is perfectly restored—she is cured. ed—she iscured.

PURE WHITE LEAD. Whetherill & Brother,

MANUFACTURERS. No 65 north Front street Philadelphia, have now a good supply of their warranted pure white lead, and those customers who have been aparingly supplied in consequence of a run on the article, shall now have their orders filled. No known substance possesses those perservative and beautifying properties so desirable in a paint, to an equal extent with unadulterated white lead; hence now admixture of other materials only mars its value. It has therefore been the steady aim of the value. It has therefore been the steady aim of the manufactures, for many years, to supply to the public a perfectly pure white lead, and the unceasingdomand for the article, is proof that it has met with favor. It is invariably branded on one head—WETH-ERILL & BROTHER, in full, and on the other, WARRANTED PURE-allin red letters.

PORTER VE TRUES .- Somebody in the London Forget-Me-Not thus poetizes :

"O: were I a swan on the blue-bosomed lake, or asquirrel in Greenwood; sweet pastime to take, From the durance of walls I would set myself free, And—bound from this lattice to thee." To which a Wisconsin editor thus responds: "Though you're neither a swan on the blue-bosomed lake, in green wood, sweet pastime to take, Nor a squirre! in green wood, sweet pastime to take, The reflection may surely some pleasure produce, That at least you're a very respectable goese!"

ABSURD MAIL-COACH REGULATION IN GER-, MANY .- As we walked up to the inn-door the eilwagen, or mail, from the neighboring town of Ebach, drove up and paused a few moments to leave some parcels. It was a square, clumsy, old omnibus, built for six or eight passengers, but on this occasion perfectly empty. Two foreigners Frenchmen, I think, came up at the same instant and wished to proceed by it to some place through which it was so pass. 'Unmoglich, meine Herrn," replied the postillion: Impossible. I can'take up no one here. The travellers inquired why not. From the reply, it appeared that the door of the vehicle was locked and could only be opened by the postmasters in the different owns. So that, although the carriage was empty, and might, probably, remain so till it, reached its journey's end, these persons were prevented from proceeding to their destination. The reason of this extraordinary regulation is, that, if the driver were allowed to take up and set down passengers where he liked, he might possib'y pocket portion of what they paid him. To prevent therefore, the risk of postillions embezzling, a few tieuzers, the unfortunate inhabitants of the villages not possessing a post, are deprived of the benefit of the public conveyances, or compelled to walk to the nearest post-town, frequently some miles distant. A beautiful example of the paternal nature of German petty governments, the convenience of thousands sacrificed to avoid the possible loss of a few florins per annum.-Hood's Magazine.

THE LOVER'S LAST APPEAL.-We copy the following advertisement gratis, from the North Adams Transcript. If Sally don't 'go out to meet' her bridegroom now, she deserves to live and die an old maid. Norice. Sally Larrabee can have an interlew with the subscriber by writing to him where she may be found, or coming to his residence at Timothy Waters, in Whittingham, Vt., 13 miles from Jacksonville. I have been at a good deal of trouble to find her, and have got almost tired of it, and as I have had a good many chances to get married, and want to get married as soon as spring opens, I hope she will take no offence if I should be obliged to give up the chase, and have some one clse. I should be very happy to have her come over as quick as she could, as I cannot bear the thought of forgetting her forever, and can never love any body else as well as I do her:

DANIEL WALTERS.

Whittingham, March 15, 1845. Durling .- Two mosquetoes, one net on a leaf in a garden. Both were filled with the blood drawn during their last nocturnal depredations. They were silent, and dumpy," cross and savage. One of them ran out his sting, and pointe' t wards the first mosqueloe This was considered an insult. And so the offended in reque be steps up to the other and says:

Did you turn up your sting to me 17 The answer was-I ran out my sting; you can apply it as you choose.'

'Says,' the first, you are impertment, Answer-Sir, your remark savors of rascality. 'Ha!' exclaimed the other; 'a do sult ! No gentlemanly mosquetes will submit to such treatment without demanding satisfaction! Draw, villian, and defend yourself! They rushed together and, running one another through the body, died 'honorable' deaths.

INFORMATION WANTED .- The Boston Daily Mail asks the following questions Did you ever know a lady with white teeth to put her hand over them when she laughed?

Did you ever know a young lady who was too weak to stand up during prayer time at church, who could not dance all night without being tired. stall? Did you ever know or see a man with a shocking bad hat, a long beard, and a ragged coat, and parties ? SOMETHING PRETTY.-The New Haven Courier says-'A man of wit being asked what pleasure he ould find in the company of a pretty woman, who was a loquacious simpleton, replied— I love to see her talk!" This recalls to our mind a fact which happened in one of our public schools, not long since.-A boy about seven years old was called up and flogged by the teacher, for squeezing a little girl's. hand. After the punishment was inflicted, he was asked why he did it, when he replied- It looked so pretty I could not help it. Did not the teacher deserve a flogging for punishing the

MIGHT AND MAIN .- Lord Charles Somerset vas telling a long story about his walking in the woods at the Cape of Good Hope one day, when he came suddenly upon a huge shaggy lion .-Thinking to frighten him said the noble lord, I ran at him with all my might? his mane.' Just so, said his lordship:

THE DOCTOR'S RETORT UPON THE WARRIOR. -Zimmerman, so distinguished both as a physician and author was ordered to attend Frederick the Great in his last sickness. I I presume, said the king to him, you have helped many a man into another world.' Not so many,' promptly replied the physician, as your majesty, nor with so much honor to myself.

Dar HUMOR.—An Irish post boy, having driven a gentleman a long stage during torrents of rain the gentleman drily said to Paddy, 'Are you not very wet?' 'Arrah! I don't care about being very wet; but, place your honor, I'm very dry.

The N. O. Picayune has some original characters for correspondents. One of them who signs himself, 'Frank Markum,' gives the editor the following advice:-

If you ar a cingle man, Pick, talk my advice and stay so, or if you will marry-if you must hey a wyf-never permit yourself to be overcum'd by a widder! Them's the entiments of one who's tried and noes!

The See are now almost exclusively used in the Collieries, and on the Railways in Great Britian, and are found to be greatly superior to Hempenones, as segards safety, durability and economy.

The "patent Wire Ropes," have proved after three years service, to be still in good condition, where Hempen ones, of double the size and weight, never lasted longer than 9 or 10 months. They haqe been used for almost every purpose to which Hempen Ropes used for almost every purpose to which Hempen Ropes and chains have been applied. Mines, Railways, Heavy Granes, Standing Rigging, Window Cords, Lightning Conductors, Signal Halyards, Tiller Ropes &c. &c.: They are made either of Iron or Copper Wire, and in cases of much exposure to dampaess of Gaivanized Wire.

Testimonials from the most eminent Engineers in England, can be shown as to their efficiency, and any additional infomation required respecting the different descriptions, and application will be given by KIFRED F. KEMP, 56 Broads I. N. York, Sole agent for the United States.
