

POTTSTVILLE.

Saturday Morning, May 8, 1845.

VOJNEY B. PALMER, At his Real Estate and Coal Agency, No. 106 Pine Street, Philadelphia, No. 18 State Street, Boston, and No. 100 South Street, Baltimore.

DECLINES.—JACOB REED, Esq., has authorized us to state that he declines being considered a candidate for Chief Burgess, on the Native American Ticket, at the election on Monday next.

ALEXANDER SILKMAN, has also authorized us to state that he declines being considered a candidate for Auditor, on the Native American Ticket, at the Borough election on Monday next.

WHIGS OF POTTSTVILLE! On Monday next important officers are to be elected. You have honest and capable men in the field—

Remember that the business of voting will occupy but a very few minutes; and, as this is the first election, any considerable interest in this Borough since the Presidential contest, and the first election in which your old opponents, the Locofocos have run a full party ticket, go to the polls harmoniously and in your strength—demonstrate your attachment to Whig principles. Apathy and indifference now, would be culpable in the extreme.

The Oregon Question.

The intelligence from Europe by the California has furnished matter for speculation to the press, and the Oregon question, with its contingencies of peace or war, is at the present moment very properly engaging a large share of public attention.

The decided language of the British government is echoed by the English press, and there is no room to doubt that she is prepared to, and will maintain her claim to Oregon by arms, if necessary. A large proportion of the people of this country are equally well convinced of the justice of the claim put in for the territory by the United States government, and regarding Oregon as our property, are disposed to maintain their right to it as promptly as the claim has been explicitly avowed.

The dispute is at present almost valueless. The question between the two governments is simply a question of honor, and neither will concede a jot from their claim. England offers arbitration, it is the imperative duty of our government to accept the offer; and if it refuses to do so, it at once admits a want of confidence in its own claim to the territory in dispute.

It is admitted on all hands that peace is essential to the interests and prosperity of both countries. Peace, preserved by treaty or concession, is better than war, and would more secure to us the territory in dispute—we look upon the occupation of Oregon as a thing of course, but we regard it as a question of time, and believe that if left to time it would gradually but certainly become ours by the settlement of our emigrants in the country.

Suppose the United States insists upon its extreme rights, and Congress meets and passes a bill for the immediate occupation of Oregon, what follows? War, with all its train of crowding horrors, and to-be-dreaded evils.

In what condition are we at present to go to war with such a power as England? We have not any fears as to the final result of a war with any power in the world; our resources are ample for any emergency, but they require to be developed—

Our friend Jennings, advertises that he will supply our citizens with Milk and Cream twice a day, and Ice Cream every afternoon, during the warm weather. This is an excellent arrangement—the Ice Cream part of it—our countrymen are fond of it.

The Native Republicans.

The Native Republicans are unquestionably honest in their efforts and purposes, and have entered into the organization of a third party, with the hope that they would be able to effect a redress of the grievances which have grown out of the nature and mal-administration of the existing naturalization laws.

The papers of the city of Mexico and of Vera Cruz continued to be occupied almost exclusively by the subject of Annexation. The official paper, El Diaño del Gobierno, of the 31st instant, announces that it is in possession of certain memoranda on the part of the Government of a warlike character, which it is constrained to withhold from the public, as secrecy is the soul of military operations.

OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS.

The horizon at present shows a speck of war. With England, we have controversies which may result in hostilities. We have gotten ourselves into difficulty with Brazil, which must be settled by negotiation, and adds materially to the embarrassment of our foreign relations.
