Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills

OF THE NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE

Of Health.

NO MEDICINE has ever been introduced to the American Public, whose virtues have been more cheerfully and universally acknowleged, than the above named

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS.

To descant upon their merits, at this late day, would eem to be wholly unnecessary, as very few indeed who read this article, will be found unacquainted with the real excellence of the medicine But if further proof were wanting to establish the credit of this singular remedy, it might be found in the fact that no medicine in the country has been so

SHAMELESSLY COUNTERFEITED.

Ignorant and unprincipled men have at various places, manufactured a spurious pill; and in order more completely to deceive the public have made it in outward appearance to resemble the true medicine.—These wicked people could never pass off their worthless trash, but for the assistance of certain misguided storekeepers, who because they can purchase the spurious article at a reduced rate, lend themselves to this monstrous system of imposition and crime.

The patrons of the above excellent Pills, will therefore be on their guard against every kind of imposition, and remember the only genuine Agents in Pottsville, are Messrs. T. & J. Beatty.

The following highly respectable store keepers have been appointed Agents for the sale of

RIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS, FOR

The proprietor has every confidence in it, as a superior preparation for the purpose designed, it may be used without the least caution, and for pimples and other affections of the skin, it is a certainty. Price 50 cents per bottle.

The above named articles have been sold very extensively by the subscriber, for many years, and are conscientiously recommended to the public, as preparations of real value, and not to be ranked with the humbugs of the day, a single trial will convince the most skeptical, that their great qualities are not ever rated

"A Good Shave and Yet no Shave."

GLENN'S UNRIVALED SAPONACEOUS COMPOUND FOR SHAVING.

To Gentlemen who shave themselves, this article offered with the greatest confidence as equal, if not superior to any other Shaving Soap in use. For delightful and consistent lather, which will not dry upon the face or irritate the most delicate skin, for the ease and comfort it gives to the often troublesome operation of shaving, rendering it surpassingly easy, this compound can be safely recommended. It is equally effectual in warm or cold water, and after using it, the face is left soft and pleasant, and entirely free from the irritation and roughness often caused by the use of strong alkaline Soaps and Shaving Creams. The compound is pleasantly perfumed and put up in a neat china box, answering all the purposes of a shaving box, and on trial will be found very economical and convenient, during the few years that it has been before the public, the proprietor has sold 35,500 boxes of it, and the demand is constantly increasing as its merits become known. The agents are authorized to return the purchase money, where it does not give entire satisfaction.

"The Saponaceous Compound is composed of ingredients, so admirably compounded, that shaving with it, is an absolute pleasure."—U. S. Gazette.

"The Saponaceous Compound, is the best preparation extant for shaving purposes. It is extensively patronized, and deserves to be; every gentleman who shaves himself, should buy it."—Philadelphia Gazette.

"We beg to call the attention of the bearded portion of our subscribers, to the Saponaceous Compound. It is, without exception the best shaving soap, we ever used."—Philada. Transcript.

"The Saponaceous Compound for shaving, is the best —perhaps the very best article to use, for scraping the beard from the human face divine. What with a keen razor and this compound, you may shave your face in half the time, you are pronouncing the word. It is an anomaly in lather,—it is a very good shave, and yet no shave."—Boston Daily Times

This institution, founded on the Mutual Safety and Joint Stock principle, and embracing all the recent improvements in the science of Life Insurance, after having experienced the most marked success in Europe, has established offices in British America and various parts of the United States, where its principles are winning equal favour and approval.—Amongst the many advantages which it offers to all persons wishing to insure their lives, are 1st—its PERFECT SECURITY, arising from a large paid up and safely invested capital; 2d—its moderate rates of premium; 3rd—the participation of all profits by the insured, which (as the business of the Society in Great Britain and elsewhere, has become very extensive,) is of the utmost benefit and importance; 4th—the use given to the Assured of two thirds of the amount of their former payments, whenever required—thus obviating the objections against Life Insurances with those whose incomes are precarious, and who might dread the possibility of being in arrear with their premiums, and of thereby forfeiting their previous payments.

This delightful preparation is unequalled for beauty, purity, and fragrance; though somewhat analogous to Guerlain's Ambrosial Cream, and other similar compounds, it far surpasses them all by the emollient pasty consistency of its lather, which so softens the beard as to render shaving pleasant and easy; it possesses great advantages over the imported article, in being freshly prepared from the best materials, with the greatest skill, and is not only the best, but also the cheapest article for shaving. THE TOILERS.

"I saw a widow who was yet young—perhaps forty—but whose form, once fresh and healthful, had become exactly the reverse. It was now nothing but skin, sinews, bones, and no flesh.—She had three sons at work in the mills, and although they toiled incessantly, they could scarcely earn enough to keep the fiends of famine from the door."—English Factory Report.

Hark! 'tis the early bell—
Awake, my children awake!
Oh! would to God another hour
The weary ones could take!
But no, it cannot be—
Morn brightens in the east,
And I must rouse the sleepers
From their unbroken rest.

Again, the bell rings out
Upon the morning breeze—
And see the toilers rushing forth
Like startled human bees—
Like startled human bees, alas!
The honey of the hive
Is often wrung from youthful hearts
That wither as they strive.

Up, up, my sons, the lark
Is soaring to the sky—
Willie, my joyous little one,
Open your laughing eye!
Come kiss your loving mother,
Then whistle on your way—
Oh! that your father were here
To kiss you too to day!

Away, away they speed
To watch with faultless eye
Each spindle with its circling thread,
And ever break supply—
To watch within you upper grave
From dawn till welcome night,
Grave for the bud and bloom of youth,
For all that makes life bright.

How rosy once was I—
How smooth my girlish brow—
Health gushed and glowed in every vain,
Alas what am I now!
Kind fortune failed and then
Death took our prop away—
Oh! what a fearful blow was that—
How sorrow fraught the day!

Five years I toiled with them,
And often cheered them on,
Rated them when about to fall,
And smiled love's benison,
But now the faded cheek—
The cough—The ceaseless pain—
I feel that life is ebbing fast,
And yet I ne'er complain.

Oh! no, to HIM alone
Whose quick ear from on high
Bends down to catch the widow's moan,
And hear the orphan's cry,
My silent prayer I pour,
My sorrow I reveal,
While—God forgive me for the wrong—
From them I all conceal.

They know not of the worm
That eats my life away—
They dream not that their mother
Is dying day by day,
I would not vainly darken
A lot already drear,
And pour despair upon their hopes
Ere life's green leaves are sere.

Oh God! is it their doom,
From year to year the same,
To toil and toil thus wearily
To feed life's fitful flame!
And yet forgive me, Father,
For though to them 'tis given
Thus bitterly to earn their bread;
They will be thine in heaven!

THE GIFT OF THE GAB—LORD BROUGHAM.—The career of one man amongst our contemporaries has shown that eloquence has a potency as great as parchment pedigrees; that the owner of that talisman may storm the very stronghold of the exclusive; appropriate their rank, titles, dignities and turn their power against themselves; while by the agency of their own legalized formularies, he sways the supreme and even rules the rulers. Emerging from the comparitive obscurity of a provincial capital, as an advocate, he talks himself into the distinction of being talked about; thence he talks himself into the popular branch of the legislature, where, again he talks to such purposes as to become the mouthpiece of the most exclusive section of an exclusive aristocracy; arrived at this point, he re-appears on his old scene of action, and talks to the people with the new sanctions and powers which his parliamentary talking has obtained for him; he talks at meetings, he talks at dinners, he talks at mechanics' institutes, he talks to the men of the south, he talks to the men of the north, he talks to every one of every thing, till the whole land is filled with the echo of his voice; till with all England nay with all the world, for his listeners men wonder were next he will find an audience when lo! suddenly, incomprehensibly, as if by magical power, at a few more waggings of that overbrairing organ of his, the doors of the senate itself fly open and peers of ancient lineage crowd down to welcome him to his sanctuary of noble blood to usher him up even to the judgement-seat itself to make him lord paramount over themselves and their proceedings, the licenser of their thoughts, and the originator of their laws! Could the greatest triumphs in arms achieve much more? The hero who has served and saved his country in the field secures a higher and more lasting fame, and a reward in the gratitude of his countrymen; but in all the external and ostensible marks of honor such as constituted authorities can bestow, the heaped titles of the victorious warrior exceed the simple nobility of the successful orator only in degree; while the influence of the one culminates were that of the other declines, with the ascendancy of peace.—Frazer's Magazine.

NEW ENGLAND SCHOOLS.—A writer in a Southern paper, thus describes the Free Schools of New England:

"The poorest boy in the free schools, feels as proud as the son of the richest." "You do not mean," said Governor Barbour of Virginia, after visiting the superb free school at Boston, which he admired very much, "that these schools are free?" "Indeed I do," said the committee man. "You remember the boy that got the medal in the class we have just examined, and the boy that lost it? The first is the son of that woodsawyer there, (pointing to a man who was sawing wood in the street,) and the second is the son of John Quincy Adams, the President of the United States."—The Virginian started in astonishment at a spectacle like this, and no longer wondered at the prosperity of New England."

RAKING HAY WITH WORDSWORTH.—The following interesting anecdote, is told by the Boston Journal, in reply to an intimation in the last number of the Pen and Ink Sketches, (which we republished from the Boston Atlas, on Tuesday,) that the great modern poet was not hospitable to American visitors:

"A friend gave us, in conversation not long since, a description of an interview which he had with Wordsworth, a few years ago, and which a desire to do justice to the character of the greatest living poet, and one of the best men in England, tempts us to make known. He was travelling in England, and finding himself in the neighborhood of the poet's residence, and being a great admirer of his writings, determined to call upon him, albeit he had no letter of introduction. On application at the door of the poet's mansion, it being nearly noon, he was told that Mr. Wordsworth was in the field, assisting the hay makers, and the direction of the field was pointed out, towards which the American took his way.

On passing over a small swell of land, he saw before him a number of men busily employed in raking hay, and putting it into the cart, &c. Among them was an elderly man of fine countenance, dressed in plain costume, whom he at once presumed to be the individual of whom he was in search. On learning from one of the laborers that his conjecture was right, he advanced towards him, and introduced himself as an American, who was travelling in England, and entertaining much respect for the character and writings of Mr. Wordsworth, was unwilling to quit that part of the country without an interview with him. Mr. Wordsworth received him with great cordiality, and expressed himself much gratified by the act; but, said he, 'I have
