We have generally known tarred rope used for this purpose, the size of the rope about three inches in circumference, and a ball of tow, bound with soft leather, attache i to one end, so that the end might be as large as an ordinary hen's egg.

We have often seen cattle relieved from choking.

by the piece of potatoe or turner which occasioned the difficulty, being with this rope pushed into the stomach. From its flexibility, and the yield-ger of rupturing the gullet, as is often done in the barbarous practice of running down sticks, such select a soil, neither still clay nor loose sand, but of good rich, deep mould, inca position where the midday sun will never reach. Plant your bushes three feet apart each way, train them into heads at least two feet from the ground, let the heads be-formed nearly round and open-after the head is once formed, attend to the bush, from the time the whenever a branch is pushing forward to make.

wood, nip the end with the fingers, thus throwing all the juices into the formation of the fruit, be-not to break them, but yet to keep the earth looso and moist. As often a once a week, from the time the fruit sets until tipe, wate, with liquid unanure, upon the soil, and use the hoo directly after it. In pruning, let it be barne in mind that the Gooseberry produces fruit on the wood notonly of the preceding summer's growth, but also on spurs from old wood. Should any appearance of mildew become visible, sprinkle the bushes with weak lime-water, and scatter lime and sulphur underneath upon the ground. Western Reserve Mag-

COLD WATER KOR-SUMMER .-- The following is a simple mode of rendering water almost as cold as ice; let the jar, pitcher or vessel used for water be surrounded with one or more folds of coarsocotton, to be constantly well. The evaporation of the water will carry off the heat from the inside and reduce it to a freezing point. In India and other tropical climates where ice cannot be produced, this is common. Let every mechanic or laborer have at his place of employment two pitchers thus provided, and with lids or covers-- the one to contain water for drinking, the other for evaporation-and he can always have supply of cold water in warm weather. Any person can test this by dipping a finger in water, and holding it in the air of a warm day : and after doing this three or four times, he will find his finger uncomfortably brated French chemiat, M. Dumas, M. Schalter man says he finds by experiment, that the application of sulphate of Iron, or Green Copperas, at once fixes the ammonia, flying off from_ putrefying manures, and destroys their odor. It will have almost instant effect upon the foulest faccal

It is applied either in solution or solid. It will not only preserve the contents of sewers, cesspools, public privits, &cc., in the most valuable state for agriculture, but render these inocuous, both while being filled and in the process of emplying. The.

action of copperas is so energetic that M. Schaltermerchant commenced the painful tesk of going JOYFUL NEWS. Night after night did he labor in his solitary cosn-tiog house, to look for the error, but every exam-ingtion confirmed the correctness of the clerk, "until the old Scotchman began to believe it possible that he really was worth 'sax thousand pounds." Stim-ulated by this addition to his wealth, he soon felt a desire to improve the condition of his household, and with that view, made purchase of new furnidesire to improve the condition of his flousehold, and with that view, made purchase of new furni-ture, carpets, and other elegancies, consistent with the position of a man possessing the large fortuue of six thousand pounds. Painters and carpenters were set to work to tear down and build up; and in a short time the gloomy-looking residence in Stone street was renovated to such a degree as to attract the curiosity and envy of all his neighbors. The doobts of the man, however, would still ob-trude themselves upon the mind, and he determin-ed once more to make a thorough examination of bis accounts.

On a dark and stormy night he commenced his labors with the patient, investigating spirit of a man determined to probe the matter to the very. bottom. It was past the hour of midnight, yet he had not been able to detect a single error; but still he went on . His heart beat high with hope, for he had nearly reached the end of his labor. A quick suspicion scized his mind as to one item in the account. Eurcka! He had found it ! with the frenzy of a madman, he drew his broad-brimmed white hat over his eyes, and rushed into the street. The rain and storm were nothing to him He hurried to the residence of his clerk, in Wall street, reached the door, and seized the handle of the huge knocker, with which he rapped until the neighborhood was aroused with the floud alarm." The unfortunate clerk poked his night cap out of an upper window, and demanded, 'Who's there ?' 'It's me, ye dom scoundrel!' said the frenzied merchant, 'ye've added up the year of our Laird among the pounds." A cit who some months ago drove a horse in harness that could 'pop' everything on the Shell Road, but who has since got wofully under the weather, was yesterday met by one who knew him in his 'better days.' After an exchange of greetings, the man of 'sulky' celebrity, was asked by his friend, "Well, George, got your favorite stud yet, eli?" "Not a bit of it,' said George.

'Sold it, then-got good price, eh?'

"No," said George, who, notwithstanding his reverses had still a little of his original humor left, 'no, but in sending my shirt to the washerwoman I forgot to take it out, and she seized on both for her bill. George well knew what his friend was driving at, but he affected to believe that he spoke of his bosom ornament instead of his crack pacer. A fellow said to a Jew : "Do you know they hang Jews and jackasses together in England ?' "I didn't," replied the Israelite, "but if it is true, it is fortunate that you and I are not there.'

The Richmond Star chronicles the following effusion of a poor editor, out somewhere, who, failing into the hands af the Philistines, broke fort:

in the following pathetic appeal :---Sheriff, stare that press
