How can thy chin that burden bear,
Is it all gravity to shock?
Is it to make the people stare,
And be thyself a laughing stock?

When I beheld thy little feet
After thy beard obsequious run,
I always funcy that I meet
A father followed by his son.

A man like thee scarce e'er appeared;

A heard like thine where shall we find it? Surely thou cherishest thy beard, In hopes to hide thyself behind it!

A YANKEE IN HAVANA .-- A correspondent of the New-Orleans Picayune, writing from Havana, tells the following story :

"An amusing affair happened here some da since that has tickled the Spaniards a good deal. It seems that an American just arrived, in his rambles over the city, strolled into the Palace, and passing the different sentinels, who never interrupt approach to the Captain-General during the day, proceeded to the anti chamber, where an officer, met him and asked what he wished. 'Why, I guess I want to see the Governor.' 'Can I not communicate your wishes to his Excellency?' said the officer. Well, I guess not—I want to see him.! Telling him to wait a moment, the officer disappeared and shortly returned, beckoned our adventurer, and ushered him into the presence.— In he marched, stiff as a drum-major, 'Wail, Governor, how d'ye du ! I'm a free American citizen—I've shuk hands with six Presidents and being as how as I was here, I didn't like to go away without seeing on yer. Got an amazin' fine house here: how much does it cost ver! Captain General, in the meanwhile, looked at himand at last getting an opportunity to speak, while the Yankee took breath, addressed him very blandly, 'Why, my friend you see I am very busy just now, but if you will call to morrow at one o'clock we will have a talk.' Obecertainly-don't let me interrupt you. I'm a free born American and know the true vally of time. Good mornin', Governor.' Good morning, sir.' The Yankee did not call again he had probably met something that was more novel to him, then the Governor would have been."

THANKSGIVING GOESE .- Turkeys are the general market standard for thanksgiving day, but sometimes a goose is preferred. In a neighboring city a gentleman was attracted by the sight of plump, extra sized, well eleaned goose.

Is it a young one? said he to a bony, rosy beeked lass.

'Yes sir, indeed it is,' was the ready reply. And how much do you want for it?' A dollar, sire?

That is too much. I think; say 871 cents, and here's your money.'
Well, sir, as I would like to get you for steady customer, take it away. h it was found difficult to carve, and when cut up, so tough as to be uncatable. The gentleman wentto market again, on the following day, as usual, and there met his fair poulterer.

Did, you tell me that goose was young, which Yes sir. I did, and it was. Don't you call me a young woman? I am only 19.

Yes I do. Well, I have heard mother say, many a time, that it was nearly six weeks younger than me.-

THE TEMPLATION .- Wilson, in the Pianters' Banner, says, that when Martin's painting of the Temptation of Adam and Eve was being exhibited in New Orleans, which represented our maternal ancestor-one of the most beautiful of created things-in the act of presenting the forbidden fruit to Adam, with the serpent looking intently with glaring eyes from among the branches of the Tree of Knowledge, each night the exhibition room was crowded with spectators, and the utmost silence prevailed in the absorbing contemplation of this masterly creation of art. I these occasions, two Kentackians, who occas pied seats in the rear of t. e audience, were overheard to hold the following soldoquy :-I say. John, it was a damation unfortunate thing for us that the old fellow eat that arple.

*Unfortunate! Well, may be so; but how in the could be help it? Darn my buttons if I wouldn't a swallowed the bloody state and made no bones on't, if that 'ere gal had a asked

A WITTIGISM .- A schoolmaster, who resides within ten miles of N--in Norfolk, having, by his exertions in the school-room, made himself rather thirsty, opened his desk, to refresh himself with an apple, which he had not long deposited there. To his disapointment, it was gone. Conjecturing that his wife had purloined it, he instantly despatched to her the following .--

Your mother, Eve an apple stole ; But ate it not alone; She gave a part to that dear soul Of whom she was the bone. I'd have my Eve at least as kind; I therefore bez, dear madam, You will another apple find, -And send it to your Adam."

LIQUIDATING THE "OLD BOY'S" DENAND. Quite an excitement was caused at Madrid, a short time since, at the Theatre del Circo, by an accident which happened to Madame Guy Stephan e very popular danscuse, who once paid a visit to this country. She was playing "The Devil in Love," and in the last act was executing a nas in the infernal regions, when one of the devils wh surrounded her spill d some of the blazing spirits out of his torch, upon her light gauze dress, and she was immediately surrounded by a very appropriate, but uncomfortable blaze. One of the dev ils tore the flaming fabric from her person, and thus saved her life and beauty. So soon as she had recovered, she was waited upon by her preserver, who sent into her room the message, that there was "the devil to pay outside." He was instantly presented with a valuable diamond ring. -Ex. Paper.

Webster had a brother Ezekiel, a man of noble triumphantly sustained. It has only to be used and its effects will fully sustain all that is said of its wanderful expelling power. ANECDOTE OF DANIEL WEBSTER. - Daniel walks of life, and contented himself with the reputation of being an excellent prudent man, and a sound lawyer, without trying his fortune in the thorny path of politics. The brothers were allowing anecdote, characteristic of their different temperaments and habits, is told of their childhood. Money had been given to each of them, to go out and share in the festivities and parade of the fourth of July. When the boys returned at night, their mother said, "Well Daniel, what did you do with your money?" "I bought powder, and fireworks, and cake and beer," answered he. "And what did you do with yours, Ezekie!?" 'Lent it to Dan," was the brief reply.

NATIVE ANERICAN THUNDER. - The Vicksburg Intelligencer recal's the story of a quiet but enthusiastic Yankee, who, some years since, was travelling in a mail ceach with two Englishmen who annoyed him very much by running down every thing they saw in the country, and freely determining that every thing in England was decidedly superior. Jonathan bore it, but impatiently. After some time, a thunder storm broke over hom-the horses dashed off in starm, and the Engli hmen were nearly dead with fright, when suddenly a bolt of lightning struck the two near horses, killing them instantly and arresting the stage, which, in the sudden plunges of the leaders, upart. Jona'h n was the first to come out and as the Englishmen crawled out, badly hurt and half dead with fear, he exclaimed, "There, gaul darn ye, have ye any better thunder than to business. Give us a trial."

"BETTER TAKE SOME OTHER YARE."-There is a hymn in one of the New England Puritan "collections" commencing "Purge me with hyssep, make me clean," which was given out one Sunday morning. The preceptor set the hymn to a wrong tune, a fact which he did not discover, until he had twice or thrice endeavored to "exccute" the first sentence, "Purge me with hyssop," &c. At length out of all patience, an old maid

HAAS' EXPECTORANT. FOR THE CURE OF Consumption, Coughs, Colds, &c. TO THE PUBLIC!!

IN PRESENTING this valuable medicine to the public as a remedy for Consumption, and Pulmonary Diseases in general. I have been actuated solely by the great success attending its use in my own immediate neighbothood, and a desire to benefit the afflicted, I shall simply endeavor to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and fatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous, that CONSUMPTION may and "CAN BE CURED," if this medicine is resorted to in time. As Consumption, however is a disease which differs much in the severity of its sympoms, and the rapidity of its progress, and has long haffeld the skill of physicians it cannot be supposed that this or any other remedy is capable of effecting a cure in every case and in every stage of the disease; on the contrary, we must expect it to fail sometimes, a circumstance which occurs daily, with all the most valuable remedies we possess, for the most simple diseases. The proprietor submits the following testimonials in its favor from citizens of this County, well known to the public.

in its favor from citizens of this County, well known to the public.

Mr. W. J. Haas.—Having been afflicted for the last thirty years with Consumption, and having had the advice of some of the most eminent Physicians, and was given up as incurable. I was induced to make trial of your invaluable Expectorant, and an happy to say that I am entirely cured, and am attending to my daily occupation as though I had never been afflicted. Previous to taking your EXPECTORANT, I could not, if I had been so disposed, do anything at my trade. I have since recommended it to several of my friends, and particularly one case of CONFL MED CONSUMPTION, and am happy to state that in every instance it had the desinderfect.

Larmer's Department.

FATTENING SWINE .- One of the most important duties demanding the farmer's attention this month, is the fattening of his swine. The practice of some at the north is, to commence one month later; but this is very bad economy, for all animals will fat much faster in mild weather than in cold. Besides, there is a good deal of stuff about a farm which is never so valuable as in this month: and if gathered up and cooked, is the best food which can be given for the commencement of the fattening process. We would name small potatoes and roots of all kinds, cabbage, turnips, pumpkins, apples, and unripened and imperfect ears of corn-After these have been fed a month or so, commence with a mixture of the different kinds of meal, or corn alone, and shove the animals as fast as possi-ble, getting them ready for market by middle of December to the first of January. If delayed longer than this last mentioned period, however cheap ood may be, or high pork may sell, fattening swine s a losing process.

The logs should be allowed to exercise a little in the open air, and have charcoal and rotten wood to eat twice a week, and whatever they may wish to drink. Some contend that they will not fat as fast for this, but that remains just to be proved by careful experiment. At any rate we know that the meat is much superior when fatting primals have a moderate degree of exercise, and plenty of fresh air and water. If closely confined they become feverish, and their meat is not only flabby and tasteless, but positively unhealthy Another thing. Sufficient attention is not paid to the cleanliness of swine. Depend upon it, no animal pays better for keeping him clean than the nog; and after all, he is not half as dirty a beast as he is usually set down to be. No creature en-

The following experiment was recently tried in England Six pigs of the Norfolk breed, and of nearly equal weight, were put to keeping at the me as to food and litter for about seven moke. Three of them were left to shift for themalves as to cleanings: the other three, kept as clean as possible by a man employed for the purpose, with curry comb and brush. The last conumed fewer peas by five bushels than the other three, yet they weighed more when killed, by sev-

Northern farmers may talk as they please but they don't understand, or rather carry into effect, any thing like so good a system of fattening swine as those do at the West. There they commence feeding early in September, in a nice grass pasture with plenty of shade trees, and a clear stream run-ning through it. Here Master Porktous daily washes his sleek sides, eats luscious roasting ear drinks and walks about or sleeps at his pleasure and the way he contrives to extract the fat from acres, crowning the rich bottoms of the West on one side of a fence, and a little herd of two or three hundred lusty grunters making away with it on 537 hogs in one herd. Talk about pork and corn

Agri. Construction of Ice-Houses .- A writer in the last number of the Cultivator, gives the tollowing plan for constructing Ice-Houses, which, as we deem it an excellent one, we lay it before the rea-

Our plan for building an ice-house in any situation, is this .- Lay a good stone foundation in time mortar, as you would for any other building, raising it about 18 inches above the surface of the earth-10 feet by 15 feet is large enough for the necessities of atmost any private family. Have your stude 12 inches broad by 2 inches thickratters the same-10 feet from the sills to the plates. Run a partition around the corner, that the entrance may be about 5 feet square-doors 21 leet wide. Fut the space within the foundation wall 3 or I menes above the top of the sill, with tan back, so that it shall be at least two feet deep atter te ne well stampel down. Then board the insple 13ht with well seasoned boa de, roof and sides; nail on a board all around the outside and till the space with tan bark well jambed in, and so proceed all you arrive at the ridge, making every space and vacancy tight with the bark. Afterward shingle and clapboard as you like. Thatch well put on, would probably be the best, but shingles are well enough. The partition should be double, and a space of 6 inches tilled with tan bark The doors should be so constructed as to be till d four mones thick with bark. The whole, except the doors and castings, may be of rough hemlock tuniber.
