JOBBING OFFICE

IN connexion with our Establishment, we have open a large Jobbing Office, for the printing of

Books,	Large Posters,
Pamphlets,	Handbills,
Bills of Lading,	Bill Heads,
Blank Permits,	Circulars,
Cards,	Time Books, &c

Together with all kinds of Fancy Printing, all of which will be executed at short notice and in a beautiful style.

His stock of Type for Jobbing is very large, which was selected with a view to give effect to hand-bills—and his type for Book and Pamphlet Printing, is equal to any used in the cities.

As he keeps hands expressly for Jobbing, he flatters himself that his facilities for executing work is greater than that of any other office, and that the public will find it to there advantage to give him a call.

☞ All kinds of Books printed, ruled, and bound to order, at short notice.

Book Bindery.

We are also prepared to bind all kinds of books, in the most durable manner, at short notice.

Blank books always on hand—also made to order, and ruled to any pattern.

Philadelphia.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

E. C. & J. BIDDLE,

No 6, South Fifth street, Philadelphia.

PUBLISHERS of many School and Classical books, extensively used in Pennsylvania and other sections of the Union, keep on hand a large and general assortment of books and stationery, for sale at low prices, and to which they would invite the attention of country Merchants, Teachers, and others, before purchasing elsewhere. Among E. C. & J. B.'s publications are the following:

Cobb's New Spelling Book, and series of Reading Books.
The United States Arithmetic, by Professor Vodges.
Tregn's Geography of Pennsylvania.
Oswald's Etymological Dictionary.
Johnson's Moffat's Natural Philosophy.
Johnson's Moffat's Chemistry.
Controller's Copy Slips.
Peale's Graphics; or drawing reduced to its most simple principles.

The above are used in the Public Schools of Philadelphia

Fiske's Manual of Classical Literature, from the German of Eschenburg.
A Text Book, in Harvard University, the University of Pennsylvania, and most of the Colleges in the United States.
Gummere's Astronomy.
A Text Book in the University of Pennsylvania, Union College, &c., &c.
Maury's Navigation,
The Text Book of the U. S. Navy,
Dunlap's Book of Forms. For use in Pennsylvania.
The works of Thomas Dick, L. L. D., 8 vols., 12 mo.
The Library of Oratory; comprising Select speeches of eminent American, Irish, and English Orators, 4 vols., 8 vo.

TO CAPITALISTS & OTHERS.

Pennsylvania Coal & Iron Lands, For Sale.

1671 ACRES 19 Perches and allowance of 6 per cent. of first rate farming Lands, located in Jenks Township, Jefferson county, finely Timbered and Watered, and having several Mill sites upon them. Two main roads run through the lands and improved Farms adjoin, while Saw and Grist Mills are in the immediate neighborhood. This land was selected by a gentleman of experienced judgment, and is considered by judges to be one of the best tracts in the county. Its proximity to the Clarion and Allegheny rivers, and numerous navigable streams, and the proposed Railroad to Pittsburg and Erie, renders it highly desirable as an investment at present prices.

Abounding in Iron Ore and Bituminous Coal of fine quality, it is believed to present one of the most advantageous locations for Iron Works in West Pennsylvania. The present owner purchased with a view of erecting such Works, but engagements in another quarter obliges him with great reluctance to forego his intention. Maps will be shown, and every information given by the undersigned. The lands are patented, and the titles and quality will be warranted, and sold free and clear of all incumbrances.

Centrifugal Blowing Wheel.

THE subscriber is now prepared to furnish Founders, Forges, Pudling Furnaces, Iron Works, &c. with this new and improved Patent Blowing Apparatus, acting upon true principles, founded on natural philosophy by which the air can be condensed to any pressure required, with less power than any other now in use, without making any unpleasant noise. The subscriber is also ready to furnish this apparatus complete for smelting furnaces, as an eminent engineer of long practical experience and scientific acquirements on this particular subject will give his attention to the work.

Read below the certificate from Messrs. Bush & Lobdell.

JOSIAH KISTERBOCK,
Agent and Manufacturer, 467 Market st., Philada.

We do hereby certify that we are now using one of the Patent Centrifugal Blowers, made by Josiah Kisterbock, 34 inches diameter and 3½ inches on the periphery of said wheel, which makes sufficient blast for two cupolas at the same time, and melting from 3 to 4 tons of iron per hour, with the same power formerly used in blowing one cupola, with the common Fan Blower of 36 inches diameter, and 12 inches wide on the periphery. OFFICE OF THE Spring Garden Mutual Insurance Company.

THIS Company having organized according to the provisions of its charter, is now prepared to make Insurances against loss by Fire on the mutual principle, combined with the security of a joint stock capital.—The advantage of this system is, that efficient security is afforded at the lowest rates that the business can be done for, as the whole profits (less an interest not to exceed 6 per cent. per annum on the capital) will be returned to the members of the institution, without their becoming responsible for any of the engagements of liabilities of the Company, further than the premiums actually paid.

The great success which this system has met with wherever it has been introduced, induces the Directors to request the attention of the public to it, confident that it requires but to be understood to be appreciated.

The act of Incorporation, and any explanation in relation to it, may be obtained by applying at the Office North-east corner of 6th and Wood sts., or of B. BANNAN, Pottsville.

EXAMPLE:—A person aged 20 years next birth-day, by paying the Company $1 31, would secure to his family or heirs $100, should he die in one year; or for $13 10 he secures to them $1000; or for $18 60 annually for 7 years; he secures to them 1000 should he die in 7 years; or for $23 60 paid annually during life he provides for them 1000 whenever he dies; for $65 50 they would receive $5000 should he die in one year.

JANUARY 20, 1845.

THE Managers of this Company, at a meeting held on the 27th December ult., agreeably to the design referred in the original prospectus or circular of the Company, appropriated a Bonus or addition to all policies for the whole of life, remaining in force, that were issued prior to the 1st of January, 1842. Those of them therefore which were issued in the year 1836, will be entitled to 10 per cent upon the sum insured, making an addition of $100 on every $1000. That is $1100, will be paid when the policy becomes a claim instead of the $1000 originally insured. Those policies that were issued in 1837 will be entitled to 82½ per cent, or $87 50 on every $1000. And those issued in 1838, or $87 50 on every $1000. And those issued in 1838, or $87 50 on every $1000. And those issued in 1838, will be entitled to 71 per cent, or $75 on every 100, and in ratable proportions on all said policies issued prior to 1st of January, 1842.

The Bonus will be credited to each policy on the books endorsed on presentation at the Office.

It is the design of the Company, to continue to make addition or bonus to the policies for life at stated periods.

B. W. RICHARDS, President.

JOHN F. JAMES, Actuary.

☞ The subscriber has been appointed Agent for the above Institution, and is prepared effect Insurances on Lives, at the published rates, and give any information desired on the subject, on application at this office.

This institution, founded on the Mutual Safety and Joint Stock principle, and embracing all the recent improvements in the science of Life Insurance, after having experienced the most marked success in Europe, has established offices in British America and various parts of the United States, where its principles are winning equal favour and approval.—Amongst the many advantages which it offers to all persons wishing to insure their lives are 1st—its PERFECT SECURITY, arising from a large paid up and safely invested capital; 2d—its moderate rates of premium; 3d—the participation of all profits by the insured, which (as the business of the Society in Great Britain and elsewhere, has become very extensive, is of the utmost benefit and importance; 4th—the use given to the Assured of two thirds of the amount of their former payments, whenever required—thus obviating the objections against Life Insurances with those whose incomes are precarious, and who might dread the possibility of being in arrear with their premiums, and of thereby forfeiting their previous payments.

Pamphlets containing the Society's rates and every other information, may be obtained on application to the Agent, at No. 68 south Fourth street, Philadelphia, of Charles De Forest, West Branch Valley, and at the office of the Miners' Journal, Pottsville

Coleman's French Cement

UNEQUALLED for mending broken Glass, China Queensware, Ornaments and Fancy Articles of every description. The superiority of this Cement over all others is acknowledged by every one who has ever used it, and such is the confidence of the proprietor in its properties, that if it fails to answer the purposes for which it is recommended the money will be returned. Articles mended with it may be exposed to considerable degree of heat, and will resist the action of boiling water sufficiently long for all ordinary purposes. The manner of using this cement is so simple that the most inexperienced cannot fail of success. Each bottle accompanied with the particular directions for use. B BANNAN Ag't

The Sepulchre.

There manhood lies! Lift up the pall!
How like the tree struck down to earth
In its green pride, the mighty fall.
Whom life hath flattered with its worth!
Life is a voyage to our graves;
Its promises like smiling waves,
Invite us onward o'er the seas,
Where all is hidden treachery.

What stained beauty slumbers there!
But mark those flowers, pale as the brow
Which they have wreathed; if death could spare
A victim, he had pitied now:
To-day she hoped to be a bride—
To-day, 'twas told her lover died!
Here Death has revell'd in his power,
The riot of life's fairest hour.

Look on that little cherub's face
Whose budding smile is fixed by death;
How short indeed has been its race!
A cloud sail'd by, the sun, a breath
Did gently sweep across a bed
Of flowers—its spirit then had fled,
A morning star a moment bright
Then melting into Heaven's own light.

Behold the picture of decay.
Where nature wearied sank to rest!
Full fourscore years have pass'd away,
Yet did he, like a lingering guest,
Go from life's banquet when a child,
That he, alas! so soon should die.
Our youth has not desires so vain;
As creep into an age of pain.

But there how mournfully serene
That childless widow'd mother's look!
To her the world a waste has been,
One whom it pitied, yet forsook,
Calm as the moon's light, which no storms
Racing beneath it can deform,
Did her afflicted spirit shine
Above her earthly woes divine!

Thus Death deals with mortality,
Like flowers, some sweet withered in their prime,
Others when scarcely said to be
Just numbered with the things of time;
With life worn out some grieve to die,
To end their griefs here others fly.
Life is but that which woke it, breath—
Look here and tell me, what is death?

FOR THE MINERS' JOURNAL.

TO PARENTS.

Are you aware how much your own happiness, and the happiness of your children in after years, depends on their education in childhood? I speak not of the education of the mind, but more particularly of the heart. By no means neglect the former. It is the great lever by which man is governed, and the world enlightened—enlarge and strengthen it, but neglect not the moving power—that great moral engineer, the heart, which gives motion and direction to the immense machine for the accomplishment of its own purposes, and which, alas! seaks evil as naturally as the "sparks which fly upward." How much sin and misery are you not accountable for from this neglect! Have you not felt its bitter experience? Your child treats you coldly; he is lost to all feeling of love and esteem; dreads your look; shuns your society. He is dissipated, and spends his days in the company of the vicious—his nights in debauchery and disgraceful revelry—your threats and frowns seem only to drive him to deeper desperation, and greater madness. You reproach him, call him cold-hearted, and not endowed with common love and feeling. True—It may be so—But young heart? Did it not yearn towards you? You caressed not. It sought your sympathy—You returned coldness. It looked for approbation, encouragement and confidence—It met reproach, reproof and distrust. It would have cast its childish honors at the feet of him whom God created for its esteem and love—You spurned them—disregarded its childish affection—nipped its budding ambition by your frowns, punished its youthful indiscretion in anger and with unnecessary severity. You ruled with the iron rod of despotism, and crushed that young heart in agony. Home became home no longer. In desperation, he sought the deadly bowl, became the debauchee and drunkard, and you are unintentionally the author of your own misery.

I knew a young man, endowed by nature with gifts of mind and heart, which fitted him for a station in society, and a happiness which he never experienced. His childhood and youth were passed under the despotic rod. A father's frown was always before him—a father's smile, never. He met no return for his affection, no encouragement for his ambition, no smile for his prizes, no reward for his diligence and attention; but he became soured by the severity of his punishments, mistrust succeeded confidence; love turned to hatred; mutual reproaches and quarrels followed, and long before youth reached manhood, he was an outcast from his childhood's home. He sought abroad that sympathy it never offered—and in all the recklessness of youth, dashed to the intoxicating bowl for oblivion. Alas! he found it but too soon. Every sense became deadened—disease prostrated his once noble form, and he fell a victim to a desperation caused by a parent's severity. In the mania of drunkenness, he died—a father's curse upon his head—the yell of frenzy on his lips! This picture is not overdrawn—many and many a once noble heart has thus met its degradation and death, from neglect in cultivating the tender affections in childhood.

But this is not always the end of the victim of neglect. Suppose his Creator has endowed him with sufficient power of mind to foresee the ruin of the course to which anger and his evil nature would prompt him, and a strength of will to overcome his propensities, do you think that he does not feel the evil effects of this neglect? Aye! that he does, and bitterly too. Before he has reached this age of reason, they are sufficiently manifest. The well of his affection is dry—the buds of love were nipped in childhood. He looks around and sees families bound together by affection—sympathizing with each other—seeking each other's happiness and living in each other's love. How bitterly does he lament the want of those feelings! How vainly does he seek for that sweet chord of sympathy towards his brothers and sisters with whom unconsciously he associates the cold dreariness of his childhood's hours! Alas! his is the winter of the heart, and years will roll along before its spring will blossom again. Perhaps it may never return. Parents! again I say, nip not the tendrils of love, cast no mildew over the young affections—cultivate them, foster them by all the means in your power and your own happiness will be the reward.

ONE WHO HAS FELT.

COSTLINESS OF RELIGION.—Christians, in this land of civil and religious freedom, where every one can do as is right in his own eyes, sometimes complain of the calls upon their purse for the support of religious worship at home, and the diffusion of its blessings abroad; but Christianity, compared with any of the numerous forms of heathenism is a cheap religion, apart from its healthful influence on all the social and domestic interests of man. Let any one who doubts this, read Rev. Mr. Kincaid's description of the pagodas in Burmah, found in the 'Missionary Memorial,' from which the following is an extract:

"It was near evening when we came before Mengoon, the largest pagoda, or temple, in the empire. The grandfather of the present reigning monarch of Burmah reared this vast pile. In the centre of the enormous structure, (covering many acres,) in a room twenty cubits square, are placed images of each member of the royal family, made of pure gold; and the amount of gold in each image is equal in weight to the individual for whom it was made; and also images of each nobleman in the empire, of pure white silver, and the silver weighed against each man. Every thing about this pagoda is on a scale of vastness almost overpowering. As a specimen, the two lions that guard the massive stairs leading from the river up to the sacred enclosure, though in a couchant posture, are ninety feet high!"

SERMON.

Delivered in the Protestant Episcopal Church in this Borough, on the 22nd inst., in commemoration of the Birth of Washington, by the Rev. W. C. COOLEY, in presence of the Marion Rifle Rangers.

"He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and He that ruleth his Spirit, than He that taketh a city."—PROVERBS 16 CHAP. 32d VERSE.

BRETHREN:—It is ever well for the living to commemorate in a suitable manner and on proper occasions, the virtues and greatness of the dead. In so doing we pay a tribute justly due to those who have advanced our improvement and augmented our happiness, and afford the highest encouragement to others to travel the same exalted, useful and honorable path. And especially does it become a religious duty thus to honor those who are equally great and good—those who are distinguished alike for their patriotism and their piety, their devotion to their country and their God—Nor is any event in such ones history more worthy of being thus commemmorated than their birth.—For as we
