BY SOL. SMITH. On my way to the North, in 1835, in company with several gentlemen of New Orleans, it happened that the stage in which we were passengers, stopped for supper at a small village, situated between the towns of Columbus and Zanesville, on the Cumberland road, in the State of Ohio.

There was a great gathering of militia Captains, Lieutenants, Ensigns, Sergeants, and Corporals, with a considerable sprinkling of privates, all of whom had been exhibiting their patriotism during the day, by marching no and down the road, shouldering arms, carrying arms, presenting arms, and charging bayonets, preparatory to intended hostile operations against the neighboring State of Michigan, the authorities of which and those of the Ohio, were at open war—almost—about boundary.

For the purpose of amusement, it had been agreed that the stage-driver should be informed, confidentially, that I was Anos Kennati, Post Muster General of the United States, travelling in disguise, and assuming the very common name of Smith, in order to discover abuses in the transporting department. With many mysterious hints and under strict charges of secrecy. Jehu was made uninted with the awful fact, that he was actual ly driving the important individual above named The reins almost fell from his hands! 'What, Mr. Kindle! Amas Kindle!' exclaimed the astonished diver-"it can't be possible!" 'It is possible, answered the gentleman who was imparting the information, and who was enjoying an outside seat; 'and it is his wish to be entirely private, in order to swoid the attentions that would otherwise be lavished upon him.' The driver promised the most inviolable secrecy, and proceeded to curry down his horses. We had not been long in the hotel where ou supper was being prepared, before it was plainly perceptible that something was going on; curious clances were thrown into the Bar-room where we were sitting -militia officers flitted about or collected into groups—the landlord and his family be gan to spruce up; in brief, it was evident our secret had been confidentially imparted to half the

The first demonstration that was made, consis ted of an invitation to my friends and myself to accept the use of a private parlor. This being at once agreed to, the landlord ventured to suggest that, if not disagreeable to me, my fellow-citizens of the village would like to pay their respects to me, and take me by the stand.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION And the lest Medicine known to Man for the cure of Asthma, of every stage, Liver Complaints, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Coulds, Beeding of t.e. Lungs, Shortness of Breath, pains and weakness in the side, breast, &c., and all other diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Pulmonary Organs.

A VERY important disease over which this 'Balsam'
A exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a DISEASED LIVER. In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long and severe, suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedics, and when MERCURY has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the LIVER to a healthy action, and in many instances effected PERMANENT CURES, after every known remedy had failed to produce this effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the disease above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensivety used with decided success, even in cases of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but ASTIMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success, even in cases of years standing.

It not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended. It is not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mystery, or in any way, deceive the public by overrating its virtues; on the contrary, I shall simply endeavor to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will emble me to furnish such poors of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous, that Consumption may and 'CAN BE CURED,' If this medicine be resorted to in time.

Poughkeepsie. N. Y. Sept. 18, 1845.

Mr. Seth W. Fowle:

Dear Sir:—The character of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is so well established throughout the country, and especially in the State of New York, that any further testimony would seem to be unecessary. Yet I have derived so much advantage from it that I am happy to communicate through you to the sick and afflicted, what it has done for me and I consider it a privilege and duty to do so. I have been troubled with weak lungs for four years; had a cough more or less every winter. I was confined to the house all last winter with a severe cough, pain in the side and breast; raised blood several times. I consulted a physician, but have never taken any medicine which has done, and see much good as WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILLIAM B. SWARTS.

OPINION OF A REGULAR PHYSICIAM.

OPINION OF A REGULAR PHYSICIAN. Exter, Me., Sept. 30, 1845.
This certifies that I have recommended the use o WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for disea see of the Lungs, for two year past, and many bottles to my knowledge have been used by my patients, all with beneficial results. In two cases where it was thought confirmed consumption had taken place, the Wild Cherry effected a cure.

E. BOYDEN, Physician at Exter Corner.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION! All published statements of cures performed by this medicine, are, in every respect, TRUE.

Beware of Counterpeits and Imitations.—The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended, curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing, has effected a large and increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures, of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam.

Be careful and get the genuine DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. None genuine unless signed by I. BUTTS. Address all orders to SETH W. FOWLE, Boston, Mass.

This is to certify that some two or three weeks siace, two of my children were attacked with Worms—I tried every remedy that I knew or heard tell of, but without any effect, they still growing worse and worse, until the disease had obtained an alarming and FATAL character; so much so, that I and all who saw them felt satisfied that DEATH would all who saw them felt satisfied that DEATH would be styles before the other tailors, who buy Worms—I tried every remedy that I knew or heard tell of, but without any effect, they still growing worse and worse, until the disease had obtained an alarming and FATAL character; so much so, that I and all who saw them felt satisfied that DEATH would close the scene if relief was not immediately obtained. One of the children presented a fearful picture of diseases and euffering, she was literally alive with worms; her countrannee had a pallid and death-like hue; her breath was extremely offensive her frame wore away to a mere skeleton, and all the symptoms attendant upon worms were of a highly aggravated character. To such a fearful extent did he disease arrive; that she actually passed worms of from her nose, followed by copious, and alarming bleeding. It was at this time that I applied to you and obtained a bottle of your Worn Syrup, and a must say, with but little hopes, but wonderful to say, alter a lew doses, a great change was perceptible, and in a few days, to my utter astonishment, the two children passed a large wash basin full of worms; since that time they rapidly recovered, and are now perfectly cured. since that time they rapidly recovered, and are now

DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYR-UP OF WILD CHERRY. Another wonderful cure of Consumption!

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept., 20, 1845.

Dr. SWAYNE—Beat Sir: -I feel called by a sense of duty I owe to the suffering humanity, to acknowledge my grateful thanks for the wonderful effects of your. Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry' on me, after having suffered months after months, with the most afflicting of all diseases, Consumption, with scarcely a ray of hope or a beacon light,' to guard me against my own horrible forbodings. The circumstances which first led to this awful state of debility, was from taking a very heavy "cold," which seemed to fix itself upon the lungs, which cradually grew worse, with profuse night sweat, a backing cough, oppression in the breast, spitting blood a hacking sough, oppression in the oreast, spitcing show with great general debility. My constitution seemed broken down, and nervolts system very much impaired with all the symptoms of confirmed Consumption. I went to Philadelphia, and was treated there by physiwent to Philadelphia, and was treated there by physicians of the highest respectability, but still grew worse, until they gave me up as incurable, and advised me to go South, but being very por after losing so much time from my work, and having spent all my money on the various "Patent Medicines," which were recommended so high through the medium of the press. I was unable-lotake their advice. Being a memher of the order of Odd Fellows, they supplied me with money gratuitously to send me to my friends in Saco, Maine. I was treated by physicians of the highest standing there, but received no benefit whatever from them, but gradually worse; until my physicians and myself gave unally worse. uniously to send me to my triends in Saco, Maine. I was treated by physicians of the highest standing there, but received no benefit whatever from them, but gradually worse; until my physicians and myself gave up all, hopes of my ever recovering, and I felt like one who is about to pass through the valley of the shadow of death. At this 'awthil juncture,' I heard of your "Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry," and knowing you to be a regular practicing physician in Philadelphia; anye me more confidence in the medicine, so I conduded, as a last resort, to make a trial of it. I sent to your agent in Boston, and purchased one bottle, which relieved me very much.—I then produced two bottles more, which I am happy to say entirely cured me, and I am now enjoying better health than I ever have before in my life. It seemed to have a beneficial effect at once. I cained strength rapidly, although reduced to a mere skeleton, and I feel satisfied from its salutury effects in my own case, that Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry will cure any case of diseased Lungs, it taken according to the prescribed rulea contained in the pamphites accompanying the medicine. Even the physicians who witnessed my case are highly recommending it in similar cases—and I wish you to make this public, so that others who are suffering saI have been, may know where to procure a requely at first, which will teach their disease, before tampering with and ruining their constitutions with the many "quack nostrums" with which the whole country is flooded, prepared by persons who have no knowledge of the scienge of medicine in theory or practice, but are got up meetly with a mercenary view.

I am a Scarlet member of the Hope Lodge of I. O. of O. F. in Providence R. I., and will be happy to give any information in regard to the efficacy of your medicine, and can give ample proof that my case is not exagging a test in the least.

FRUITS AND FRUIT TREES Passing through the village of Flushing, famous Fassing through the village of r justing, famous for its Nursery Gardens, some weeks since, we learned with pleasure that the business there predominant is very rapidly extending on every hand. The demand for young Fruit and Shade Trees, for cuttings of the Vine, &c. &c. has so greatly increased on every hand that new and extensive plots of ground have recently been planted, and still the demand for Trees pressed hard upon the means of supply. A friend encaced in gardening means of supply. A friend engaged in gardening at Brooklyn casually remarked, some time since, that all the Vine plants or cuttings in this vicinity are not equal to the demand for them, and that those set out are usually a year too young for that single reason. Of course, the Nursery men are reaping fair rewards for their outlay and industry. Yet the number of Trees and Vines hitherto planted is nowhere in this country one-fourth what it ought to be and must be. Where land is so chesp and abundant as with us, it is a shame that a single dwelling out of the great cities is destitute of its Vines and Fruit-Trees. Fruit is the cheapest, and most palatable, and used in moderation and at proper seasons, one of the most wholesome articles of tood. A day's toil will procure a cartload of it, where the bargain is struck directly with mother Earth; though the buyer at second-hand often gives the product of a day's labor for a hundred. dreth part of the quantity. A single acre, judi-cious devoted to trees and vines, will furnish onefourth of the food of a pretty large family in a year while its daily fare is rendered much more varied, healthful and desirable by this element. No family-is so rich that it can properly afford to be without fruit of its own growing; none ought to be so poor as to remain destitute of it.

Our food is notoriously too gross and unvaried. Stop at a country tavern, in a region where the choicest fruit grows almost spontaneously if allowed to, and you will be regaled on tough steak or rusty bacon for breakfast, with bread (that's what they call it) and so so coffee. For dinner, meat again—probably pork—and for supper, bread and butter with cold meat or smoked beef. Our average farmers' fare is no better. Now all are aware that this is wrong—that animal food ought to be eaten sparingly, especially in the warm season; and that for children and others who do not perform much rugged labor, it were better eaten seldom if at all. But all must eat to live, and if they can't obtain the bast, they must cat such as they can get. The first mistake made is that of forget-ting that Fruits are truly food. Half the people eat them at other than meal-times-often in the evening—when they are positively hurtful.—Nothing is wholesome when nothing is needed. But fruits, properly prepared, in due variety and season, would soon be preferred to meats by two-thirds of the human family if they had a fair chanco to become acquainted with them. And immense s the waste of life and heatlh which would be prevented by a general infusion of fruits into the common diet of our people. But this can never be done until Fruit Culture is rendered far more general and thorough among us, so that each dwelling shall be surrounded by its Apple, Pear, Cherry, Peach and Plum Trees, Grape Vines, &c. and every month, both of summer and winter, have its bundant supplies of fresh or preserved fruits .-The wise and pilantrophic must help to extend the taste for these blessings among the poor and

We wish it were possible to imbue every man, but especially every young man, with the desire of having a nome of his own-a home to be adhered to through life. Next to the home itself, an earnest; over-ruling desire for one would be a greater blessing. There are few vigorous young men of fair capacities who have not missed opportunities o save the cost of a cottage and piece of ground by the time they are respectively twenty-five years of age. After that, with a family growing up, it generally seems and often is impossible to save the first dollar. But within a mile of us there are thousands of young men now in destitution, cursing their hard employers or hard fortune, who have already squandered in idleness and dissipation the cost of such homestead. Many have fooled it away on theatres, liquors and tobacco alone. We know that there is another side to this picture-that the Poor suffer much that they cannot avoid, yet which might be obviated. Let us sider both sides always. But the deplorable

We wish our Mechanics, Clerks, &c , would very where take to heart the importance of owning a Home; we hope our young Farmers and Artisans of the Country will steadfastly regard it. man who owns the roof that shelters him and the soil from which he draws his subsistence-and few acres are requisite for that—need not envy any Nabob's great fortune. The country mechanic who owns his cot and his fertile acre is well off. especially if the latter be studded with fruit-trees. But our landholders also ought to see the advantage of planting trees vigorously and continually. A house and lot (where the land is not too costly) ought never to be considered complete without it trees any more than though the house were without a roof. A place well stocked with fruit-trees is worth far more than without them and will rent for more. Young men! plant now for your riper years and your children; old men! plant for posterity and with a laudable anxiety to leave the world something better for your living in it. He who leaves to those who survive him only a few trees cannot be said to have lived wholly in vain. -N. Y. Tribune.

Nonle Sentiments .- The following is a porion of the remarks of Gov. Briggs, of Mass., at the Cattle Show in Northampton on the 16th of "Recurring to the happing condition of the farner, I want, says the Governor, to see the day when man's highest ambition will be to be a farner:-I want to see the day when he shall eturn from College and spend his remaining days farmer, content with that condition, and conscious of its inate dignity. In enumerating the advantages of a farmer's life, he observed that he had more leisure than men of any other profession of calling. The doctor has half read his page, and is summoned by a ring at his bed to attend a sick bed-the lawyer is denied rest by his constant efforts to still the waves of contention—the divine has enough to absorb his whole attention in the sacred duties of his calling-and the mechanic has no rainy days and long winter evenings, which cannot be profitably employed in his workshops. But the farmer who keeps his work before and does not suffer it to lag behind, has many leisure days. And the leisure of a farmer's life cannot be too highly appreciated, for it affords him an oppor-tunity to cultivate his mental and immortal part, and unless we clevate ourselves as MEN, our improvement of farming of stock is of valueless im-

I want, continued the Governor, to see respectibility of labor appreciated—the misfortune this country, that there exists some who think that labor is low or menial, but the highest point of good sense is to consider labor as honorable.

In conclusion, the Governor said, I despise the idea of considering one class of men better than another, unless it be that they have a higher moral character, adding as a finale, in honor of the farmer, the well known lines of Goldsmith: Prince and lords may flourish or may fade;

A breath has made them, as a breath is made, But a bold TEOMANRY, their country's pride Whence once destroyed can never be supplied.

CUTTING AND KEEPING GRAFTS .- Many experienced orchardists suppose the best time for cut-ting grafts to be immediately on the fall of the leaf in autumn: That time, however, is long past, and such as have not already secured such scions of fine fruit as they may wish, should do it immedi-ately. Grafts should be cut in mild weather, when the wood is entirely free from frost. Select the outside limbs and the last year's growth of wood. Phose who take grafts this year, should be especidly careful in examining the condition of the wood; for the late warm weather last fall gave a second flow of the sap, which, being overtaken by cold weather, has damaged the fruit trees, at least n this region, very much.

Too much care cannot be observed in keeping he varieties seperate. Tie up in bundles and mark the names of each kind as soon as cut. A moment's carefulness may save years of vexation. -Indiana Farmer,
