LUDICROUS CINCUMSTANCES IN CHURCH. Speaking of the first impression at church brings to my mind a lufficrous circumstance that happened some fifty or sixty years ago, at-The rector, though a man of profound learning and a great theologian, was of such eccentric habits, as often to create a doubt among the vulgar whether he was at that time compos mentis.— Having remarked for, several successive Sundays, a gentleman, who was no parishoner, invariable using a seat in a pew next to that in which a young willow lady sat; he constantly eved them and at one time detected the young gentleman slyly drawing the lady's glove from off the back of the new where she was accustomed to place it, (ber hand and arm being delicately fair) and put ting in it a small neatly folded note. By and hi the lady's prayer book fell-of course accidently -from the ledge of her pew into the gentleman's; he picked it up, found a leaf turned down, and he hastily scanned a passage, which evidently caused a smile of complacency.

Our minister saw all their proceedings, and continued to watch them for two successive Sundays. On the third, as soon as the collections were made, and while the beadle yet waited to attend the chancel, our eccentric pastor, in a strong distinct voice, said: "I publish the bans of marriage be tween M. and N. [deliberately pronouncing the name of the parties], if any of you know just cause &c." The eyes of the congregation were set on them, the lady of suffused blushes, and the gentleman crimsoned with anger-she fanning

LETTER PROM THE REV. R. JACKSON. New York.

DB. SWAYNE -Dear Sir :-- Permit me to take the lib erty of writing to you at this time, to express appropriation, and recommend to the attention of familie-and others your valuable medicine—your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. In my travels of late, I have seen in a great many instances, the wonderful effects of your medicine in relieving children of very obstinate complaints, such as conghing, wheezing, choking with phlegm, asthmetic attacks, &c. I should not have written this letter, however, however at present, although I have felt it my duty to addemy testimony to it for some time, had it not been for a late instance where the medicine above alluded to was instrumental in restoring to perfect health an only child, whose case was almost hopeless, in a family of my acquaintance. I thank heaven," said a dotting mother, "my child is saved from the jaws of death" CINCINNATI, FFD. 15, 1846.

Dr. H. Swayne: "Dear Si: "Being for a length of time afflicted with a very violent cough, with a pain in my sidu and brenst, koreness of the Jungs, shoriness of breath loss of appetite, night sweata, &c. I made trial of various remedies, which were recommended highly in the papers, but gradually grew worse. The violence of my cough was such, that the blood rushed profusely from my nostriffs when the paroxysms of coughing came; upon me. Indeed my whole system seemed prostrated, and the hour of my departure scemed close at hand. seemed prostrated, and the hour of my departure scemed close at hand.

At this time you recommended the use of your COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, which immediately began to southe, confort, and allay the violence in my couch, relieved the pain in my side, strengthened and healed my lunes, &c. I continued the use of it, but now, thanks to God, and to the effect of your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, I am cured and able to pursue my driv labors.

I think it an invaluable medicine in couchs, colds and discase of the dures, and one that should be known to all afficied. If persons would purchase the original and centine article, as prepared by you, and not tamper, with the many spurious and worthless preparations which are attempted to be palmed of on the reputation of yours, it might be the means of saving many valuable lives! Dicking at the nose, offensive breath, pain in the joints of limbs, grinding of the teeth during sleep, voracious appetite, leaness, bloated stomach of imbs, a ripings, shooting pains in various parts of the hody, a sense of something rising in the throat, liching of the anus towards night, bleeding of the nose, gnawing sensation at the stomach, flashes of heat over the surface of the hody, slight chills or shiverings, head-ache, driving us leep with fright and screaming, cough, feverishness, fits, pallid hue, thirst, bad taste in the mouth, driftcult breathing, fatigue, squeamishness, musea, frequent desire to pass something from the bowels, and sometimes discharges of slime and mucus. And should they have any of them, simmediately obtain a bottle of Hobonsack's Veretable Worm Syup, which is so pleasant, that every child willery for it after it has once had a laste, and remember it is warranted to cure, or the money is returned, and $500 is offered to any person that will produce a case of Worms, which it will not cure. We have in our possession several Worms of various kinds and amonest them one 336 inches in length which it brought from Jacob Schweifenbiser in Lancaster county, Pa, who had suffered from early infancy, and he and his friends, as well as many of the most eminent physicians pronounced his case a gradual decline, being as they thought that abominalue the gentleman crimsoned with anger—she fanning herself with vehemence, and he opening and shutting the pew door with rige and violence, the minister meanwhile proceeding through his duties with the same decorum as if innocent of the azitation he had excited.

Beyond all doubt, Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry is the most valuable medicine in this to any other country. I am certain? I have winessed morp than one hundred cases where it has been attended with complete success. I have used it myself in an obstinate attack of Bronchitis, in which it groved effectue in an exceedingly short time, ordinately of the ease. I can recommend it in the sulce and breast. I can recommend it in the sulce and many should be without it; is very pleas and, and always beneficis! worth double and often ten mes its price. The gublic are assured there is no usakery, about it.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

From Jamaica, Long Island.

Doctor William Wright:—Dear Sir,—It is with great satisfaction that I inform you of my having been entirely cured of dyspensia of five years' standing, by the use of your Indian Vegetable Pills.

Previous to meeting with your celebrated medicine, I had been under the care of several physicians, and had tried various medicines, but all to no effect. After using one 25 cent box of your pills, however, I experienced so much benefit, that I resolved to persovere in the use of them, according to directions, which I am happy to state has resulted in a perfect cure. In gratitude to you for the great benefit I have received, and also in the hope that others similarly afficted may be induced to make a trial of your extraordinary medicine, I send you this statement, with full liberty to publish the name if you think proper. From Warwarsing: N. Y.

Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for several years with inward weakness and general debility, accompanied at times with pain in the side, and other distressing complaints: After having tried various medicibes without effect, I was persuaded by a friend to make trial of Dr. Wright's Indian Vegetüble Pills, which I san happy to state have relieved me in a most wonderful manner. I have used the medicine as yet but a short time, and have no doubt, by a perseverence in the use of the medicine according to directions, that I shall, in a short time, be perfectly restored.

I mo-t willingly recommend said pills to all persons similarly afflicted, and in the full belief that the same beneficial results will follow their use.

I remain yours sincerely.

In 1811. I was prostrated with the congestive fever, in East Florida, and often have been ill with the first attack and a severe relapse, I was necessiated of the propriety of the rehovery of my health, being mirch debilitated. I tried different physicians, and as many medicines, but all ton purpose. I found my liver much affected, and dispepsia setting in with its worst form. I began to think my case was hopeless. I concluded to resort to travelling. Accordingly, I lett the city of Albany, N. Y., for Cincinnati, Ohio. On my way through New York state I chanced to come across one of your agents at Newark, on the Eric Canal. I read one of your advertisements, purchased a box of pills, and to my utter astonishment I und myself partially recovered; on my arrival at Buffalo. I purchased some of your Agent there; at Clevelann, Ohio, visited your gent, the dry goods merchant—alked with him, and took several boxes; I soon found myself aveil man, and concluded to return to my profession, namely, a Travelling Methodist Preacher.

Farmers' Department. ON THE PREPARATION AND USE OF

MANURES. BY THE LATE WILLIS GATIORD, OF OTISCO, N. T.

Preparation and use of Compost .- The labour of preparing compost, it is true, is much greater than merely drawing it from the yard, but the quantity is so much increased, and the quality so much improved, that it is the most economical in he end. The only method that can compar with it, is to place these matters over the yard, and let them be composted or fermented in that place; but there will always be great weste inthis way, and where turf or vegetable mould is used for composting with the animal manure, the compost heaps can frequently be made where they are to be used, and the labour of drawing materials greatly lessened. Bommer's patent manure is only compost made in a scientific and accurate manner, every part of the process so managed as to produce a perfect fermentation, without the loss of any of the valuable parts of the constituents used. From a knowledge of the processes employed by him, we are able to say that where his directions are followed, a powerful and valuable manure cannot fail to be produced. The fundamental principle upon which composts have been made, is that of impregnating the earths used in the process with the soluble saits and the gases. which, in the ordinary methods of rotting, are wholly or partially lost to the farmer. The discussions which have been carried on, as to the propriety or impropriety of burying manures in the soil, have arisen from not stating the kind of manure to be used. The solid and soluble parts of manures have a tendency to sink into the soil; the gass evolved in fermentation a tendency to rise. The true principle, then, is to bury the unfermented matters no deeper than is necessary to secure the moisture required for fermentation, while the fermented or decomposed dung, having no lertilizing gass to lose, may be mixed at once, with the surface earth. Some of the greatest crops of Indian corn ever grown in the United States, have been produced by placing a heavy dressing of unfermented manure on turf land, and turning it under with the plough. The surface is then rolled to press the sod close upon the manure, and afterwards harrowed, to loosen the earth for the reception of the seed. Into each hill, a small, portion of fully rotted manure or compost is put at planting. This promotes germination, gives the young plant a vigorous start, and by the time the roots have penetrated, beyond this, active fermentation has commenced in the long manure, and thus fertilizing matters are furnished in the greatest abundance when most wanted by the plant.

Use of Lime.—()f the mineral manues used, lime is the most important, and under all its forms, is extensively used in Europe and in this country. The German farmers of Lancaster, Chester, and the adjoining counties of Pennsylvania, use lime more extensively than in any other part of this country. Considerable discussion has been had at different times as to the comparative value of limes that contain magnesia, or such as are free from it; but the value of lime as a dressing for soils, seems to be everywhere conceded inthose districts where it has been used. It appears as the result of experience that lime produces the best effect on what are called stiff loams, or loams inclining to clay, and in which a good proportion of decayed organic matter is found. It is found, 00, that it operates more favorably on soils natural to oak and its kindred trees, such as walnut, poplar, &c., than on those where the beech, elm and maple constitute the principal timber. It is singular that the richest limestone lands, as they are called from being based on this rock, are frequently those on which heavy dressings of lime operate like a charm. If used as a top dressing, inne is usually applied to the sod in the fall; but the practice most approved, is to lime the corn ground in the spring, on the inverted sod. Man-are is applied to the wheat crop after lime. The quantity of time used varies much. There is no doubt it has sometimes been used in excessive quantities: and when used on soils nearly destitute of vegetable matter, can produce no good effect. On a medium soil, fifty bushels per acre, may be considered an abundant dressing; but three or four times that quantity is sometimes rused. The best method of using I mo, is to take it from the kiln, unslacked, and deposit it in heaps n the field where it is to be used, not more than three or four bushels in a place; and either slack it by pouring water over it, or, which is better, by overing each pile with earth, and letting them slack by the moisture thus furnished. When sufficietly fine, the earth and the lime are mixed by shovelling over, and the mass is then scattered over the land to be dressed. The soil should be well harrowed after the application of lime, to incorporate it more completely with the surface of the carth. Necessity of Munuring .- It is obvious that the THE BLOOD?

THE blood is that principle by which the whole system are inspure, a general defrangement of the system must ensure, and give rise to Coughs, Colds, Influenza. Therefore on the first appearance of any, of these manuring of a farm should only be limited by the ability of the owner. On a plentiful supply of. successors a worn out farm If he returns as much as he receives, his farm will retain its original fertility only; but the true farmer will scarcely be content with this. To increase its fertility, and the amount and quality of the crop taken from the soil, should be the aim of the husbandman.-This done, his labour is lessened, his profits are greater, his farm is worth more; nor must the pleasure arising from beautiful field, golden hervosts, fine animals, and accumulating prosperity, be omitted in making up our estimate of the advantages of successful culture. Manure may be a homely subject, but on its preparation and use every thing is depending. Without it, the deep green of our pastures, the golden yellow of our corn-fields, and the fine beef and white loaf of our tables could not exist. To the farmer, manure must be the first thing and it must be the last thing; with it, he can do every thing; without it, nothing.

Sowing Tunnips .- Every farmer who has a vacant spot of good land should sow a patch of They cost but little labor, produce abunturnips. dantly in good seasons, and are always valuable either for feeding stock in winter, for the table, or for market. Turnips need rich, light soil, not too dry; new land is commonly preferred, or such as contains a good portion of muck, or vegetable mailer." The time for sowing common English turnips in this climate is from the 20th to the last of July. The Early Dutch and the Stubble Turnip, may be sown as late as the 10th or 15th of August --The Scotch Yellow Turnips should be sown about the middle of July; they grow more slowly, and are more firm, consequently keep better for late winter use. Those who have not sown Ruta Bagas, or have lost them, should sow a few Yellaw Scotch. We need no further experiments with the different kinds of turnips to test their value and adaptation to our climate. Who'll

Turnip seed should be soaked in tanner's oil for 24 hours before sowing, then drained and dried by rolling in plaster. This prevents the ravages of the little black fly, and promotes the growth of the young plants. Try it and sec. BUCKWHEAT.—This is the last sown of all our summer grain crops and must not be forgotten, or we shall regret it next winter. Buckwheat, as a crop, possesses several good qualities for the far-mer. It will grow on poorer soil than almost any other, and if ploughed in when in blossom it en-riches the land. It also clears ground from weeds. by smothering them with dense foliage. The straw, when well cured, makes excellent hay for nilch cows and other cattle, and the grain is valuable for fowls, and, when ground and mixed with coarsest food, for hogs and horses. But last and best, and more than all, is, its importance for making buckwheat cakes, a table luxury. Sow from the first to the middle of July, on dry soil, the mellower the better-half a bushel of
