I'll go to operas, balls and plays,
Or where I will, and won't be check
But keep it up both nights and days,
Until de treats me with respect. And if he romps with—I know who, Perhaps he'd meet with it for tat; And faith may find, and shall so too, That I can beat him, sirs, at that!

But this I vow, if he'll be good,
And let me sometimes have my will,
(Young wires, you know, most surely should)
I'll duly every right fuffi;
And never, O'l no never rove,
But stay with him at home and chat,
And prove, by kindest deeds of love,
That I can beat him, sirs, at that!

IN STATU QUO .- A New York paper tells the following story of a troublesome newsmonger, whose only delight, appears to be to gather up every thing he can catch in the way of news, and start off to retail it about the streets and public.

The late despatches from the army were announced on Sunday, and true to his work M---entered one of his favorite haunts yesterday morning, with his customary interrogatory. Ho was met by a wag near the door. Any news?' inquired M.

What is it?' From the seat of war. Where's the army ?'

Oh. in Statu Quo. The devil it is !' How long has it been there !' .

Thunder!' exclaimed M--; and away he rushed down State street, with the intelligence. - met a friend on the corner of the street to whom he imparted the information that 'our army had reached Statu Quo' - whereupon the stranger opened his eyes, and advised him to call on S___. He did so, and long before early change hour, it was pretty well known that our army Our witty friend was congratulating himself on having circulated this delectable piece of information long before any other journal had the news, and was boasting of the fact to a friend, who asked him if he knew where statu quo' was loedied. Well, M ___ didn't know what department of Mexico it was situated in, but he had the news right from the office, and it must be so. 'You're a thundering fool,' said the neighbor.

"Why?'-Don't you know that in 'statu que' incans in the same state or condition, and that it is a very common flatin phrase?' - offered to bet a hat he was right, and a the last accounts he was pouring over Disturnell's Map of Mexico, endeavoring, most assiduously, discover the location of Statu Quo.'

AN ANECDOTE. -Mr. Jenkins met a warm and active abolitionist yesterday. Well friend Or said he, do you know there is another slave in town? You ought to get out a writ of hubeus represe without delay. 'Ah,' replied the other, his philanthropic and strategic impulse all aroused, where is be and who is the min?' 'Why,' answered Jenkins, the owner's name is Power and you will find out all the particulars by inquiting at-st.! Facts for the People. Facts for the People.

The constantly increasing popularity and sale of B. A. Falmestock's Vermifuge has induced persons who are envious of its success, to palm off upon the public preparations which all medical more know to be inefficacious in expelling worms from the systems.

This Vermifuge made its way into public favor upon the ground of its own intrinsic merits, more than any other medicine of the kind now used; and, while many, worm remedies have, by dint of pulling, been forced into sale, and shortly after gone into the obscurity which their worthlessness, justly merited. B. A. Felmestock's Vermifuge continues to be triumphanity sustained. It, has only to be used and its effects will fully sustain all that is said of its wonderful expelling power.

POTTSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL. POTTSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

The Autumn term of this Institution will commence on the 6th-of September next. The liberal patronage which has been bestowed on his school, and the considerable accession of pupils during the last year, has induced the Principal to procure two additional competent teachers; hoping that the character which will thus be given to the school will increase the number of pupils still more; so as to enable him to meet the heavy expenses which will consequently be incurred and to carry out his design of establishing an Institution worthy of the most liberal support. The following will be the division of labor.

Mr. Elias Schneider, A. B., Principal and teacher of the Ancient languages and Mathematics.

The French and German languages have been assigned to Monsieur F. Perrin, a graduate of one of the principal Gymnasiums of Berne, Switzerland; and also a native, of that country. Mr. Perrin has had considerable experience in teaching before his connection with this listitution. He teaches the French and German according to Ollendorlf's method, being able to speak both these languages with fluency.

Mr. W. P. Koutz, a member of the Senior class of Mr. W. P. Koutz, a member of the Senior class of according to Ollendorit's method, being able to speak both these languages with themery.

Mr. W. P. Koutz, a member of the Senior class of Mathematical Science, History, and Elocution.

Mr. E. Sagendorf, who has been already a year connected with the school, teaches the English branches.

The German is considered one of the most important branches of the school; and, therefore, besides the usual recitations in this language, half an hour is spent every branches of the school, and, therefore, besides the usual recitations in this language, balf an hour is spent every day with the German pupils in German disputations, and discussions. The exercises are conducted by two teachers, who, by exchanging their ideas with each other in the presence of the pupils, lead their gradually to do the same, and thus enable them to speak the German soon: Persons from abroad, who may wish to send their sons to this Institution, will procure further information by writing to the Principal. Arrangements have been made to accommodate a certain number of persons in a respectable private boarding house, not far from the school, and in a retired part of the town.

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL By David L. Roath.

A hardy, sunburnt man is he,
A hardy, sunburnt man is he,
A hardy, sunburnt man;
No sturdler mian you'dever see,
Though all the world you scan.
In summer's beat, in winter's cold,
Oh; far above the knights of old,
Is the Tiller of the Soil.

is the Tiller of the Soil.

No weighty bars secure his door,
No dirch is deg around;
His walls no cannon brisile o'er,
No deed it con the ground.
A peaceful laborer is he,
Unknown in earth's tutmoil—
From many crushing entrons tree,
Is the Tiller of the soil.

Is the l'iller of the soil.

He trudges out at break of day,
And takes his way ahong,
And as he turns the yielding clay,
He sings a joyful song.
He is no dull, unhappy wight,
Bound in misfortuurs coil;
The smile is bright, the heart is light
Of the Tiller of the Soil.

And when the crb of day hath crown'd With gold the western sky,
Before his dwelling he is found With cheerful faces by— With little laughing duplicates, Caresses cannot spoil

Oh! joy on every side awaits The Tiller of the Soil,

A hardy, sunburnt man is he,
A hardy, sunburnt man;
But who can boast a hand so free,
As he, the Tiller, can?
No aummer's heat, nor winter's sold,
The pow'r has him to foil—

A LIFE PRESERVER for Threshers .- Tear piece of the finest sponge, large enough to cover he mouth and nostrils, hollow it out so as to fit closely; take a tape string around the outside long-enough for the ends to the over the top of the head. soak the sponge in soft water and squeeze the water out with the hand, then, when ready to com-mence work, tie on tightly and evenly so as to cover the mouth and nostrils completely. You can breathe and talk through the sponge almost as freely as without it, (though it will trouble those who use the "filthy weed,") and you can thresh where the dust from the machine rises like a dense fog around the head, and the lungs will be as free from harm as if you were hoeing corn. I have threshed with a machine for the last four years, and always suffered much from the dust inhaled into the lungs, until last year, when I tried the sponge; and I can truly say it has been a life preserver to me.—Ohio Cultivator.

GREEN CORN PUDDING.-The Louis ville Journal says one of the very best things ever brought to the table, in the pudding line, is green corn pudding, prepared according to the following receipt. Let every wife, who would like to surorise her husband by a rare delicacy try it: Take of green corn twelve ears and grate them; to this add a quart of sweet milk, a quarter of a pound of fresh butter, four eggs well bealen, pepper and salt as much as sufficient; stir all well together, and bake four-hours in a buttered dish. Some add to the other ingredients a quarter of a pound of sugar, and eat the pudding with sauce. old or warm, with meat or sauce; but epicures of the most exquisite taste declare for it hot, and with the first service.

SHOW ME THE COTTAGE; the roses and the honeysuckles on which are neatly trimmed and trained, and the garden behind is well stock. ed with culinary herbs and a few choice flowers, and I will speedily find you a cottager who never wastes his time or his money, or debases his mind, and learns the "broad roud which leadeth to destruction," in the contamination of an ale house. If the garden is neat, one may rest assured that the cottage, however humble it is, is the abode of contentnent and happiness; and that however simple the are may be, it is wealth and luxury in full store o the inmates, because they are satisfied with it, and grateful for the possession of it.

TOINTS of a good Milch Cow .- The followng is from a report of the Guernsey Agricultural Society: Roints:-1. Purity of breed and qualiies of the dam for yielding rich and yellow butter. 2. Small head, large and bright eyes, small muzzle, small cars, orange color within. 3. Straight back from the shoulders to the tail, and chest wide. 4. A fine and loose skin, with soft and 5. Sides well rounded, flank small between the side and haunch, tail fine. 6. Fore legs straight and well proportioned, hind legs broad above the knee, fine and clean below. 7. Udder large, and the teats large and springing from the four corners of the udder; milk-vein large and well defined.

THE TURNIP ELY .- A writer in the Leed's + Journal, a British publication of much merit, under date of May 10th, 1844, says that after trying various remedies to arrest the ravages of the turnip fly, he ascertained, by means of a lens, that there was on every leaf of the plant a number of white; flattish substances. The same appearances were also noticeable on the seed. He made a strong solution of sult, and soaked the seed, previous to sowing, and the plants from seed "thus prepared" were not infested by the fly. The same method he has since adopted with the cabbage, and with the same success.

TO SAVE HORSES FROM FIRE. - I re: commend first, to blind the animal thoroughly, and second to unloose or cut the halter, and the terrified animal will, with kind and gentle usage, at once suffer himself to be led past, nay, even through the raging element. I have myself been benefitted by possessing the knowledge of this plan and have satisfactorily and practically put it to the test, after all other means that could be thought of-both gentle, persuasive, and compulsory-had been tried in vain.

GREASING CARRIAGE WHEELS.-The best composition that can be prepared to relieve carriage wheels and machinery from friction, is composed of hog's lard, wheat flour, and black lead (plumbago.) The lard is to be melted over a gentle fire, and the other ingredients-equal weightmay be added, till the composition is brought to a consistency of common paste, without raising the heat near the boiling point. One trial of the paste will satisfy any one of its superior utility. - Ew. Paper. It is a pretty general opinion among bee southern exposure during the winter. The bees are apt to he tempted to leave the hive, and thus become chilled and disabled from returning, before they are aware. In summer they should not be exposed to the sun, but shaded. The object of a rotation, is the production of the greatest profit in crops with the least exaisers, that the swarms should not be kept in a austion of the soil. Don't give your boys the worst tools and hen scold because they cannot do as much as men.
