When I was down in Boston town, A month ago or more, I saw a very sing lar thing I never saw before.

'Twas hanging in a window case Upon a string a straddle— Looked somthing like an hour-glass And something like a saddle.

"What was it?" but their gibborish I could'nt understand.

One-fellow called it "a restraint On'certain parties placed, Like a decree in chancery, "To stay the tenant's waste!"

Another-just the queerest chap ... Of any in the swarm—aid, "Iwas the glass of fashios, but It was the mould of form."

Another said "'twas a machine A lady used to rig her— To bring her form and life into The very smallest figure."

At last a little girl came out, And think of my amaze! She asked me "if I would nt please To buy a pair of stays?" Of course I'd heard of "stava" before

But, strike me deaf and dumb! If ever I, until that hour, Suspected "them was um!" Well-isn't it exceeding strango That any maid or wife, Just for a "little taper" should Put out the 'lamp of life;" I know that lunatics must have Straight jackets put about 'em--But wouen in their wits should make A shift to do without 'em!

Wit and humor.

A Curious Echo.-I must tell you of curious echo we had while lying on the Naples flats. The orders of the Captain to the crew, given from the uppear deck, and the reports of the soundings on the flats ("two feet scant") were heard repeated among the tall trees on the eastern shore without the slightest variation. Some of the passengers observing this curious effect, began to call out in various tones to Mr. Echo, and they were always favored with a rejetition of the ques tions asked, or the latter part or it. Hear some specimens :

" Hallo the chore !" Echo-" Hails the shore!" "How are you!" Echo-" llow are you!" "Shall we stay here all night?"
Echo-"Stay here all night!" "Tell me if Gen. Scott has entered Mexico." Echo - Scott has entered Mexico.' "Hurrali for your good news!"

Echo-" Hurrah for your good news!" " Who'll be the next President?" Echo _... Zuchary Taylor!" Well that is a curious echo, sure enough," exclaimed an elderly lady, who was rocking her self on the after guard, and amoking a pipe at the some time. We were all somewhat startled by this unexpected answer to the question concern ing the next Presidency; but after a short paus the questions were resumed:

"What is the price of corn!" Echo - The price of corn." "What was the reason that Pratt and Camp bell didn't fight !" Eche-"Pratt and Campbell did'nt fight!" "What are you doing out there!" Febo-" Catching Catfish!"

"Ha! ha! ha !" Echo-"Ha! ha! ha! ha!-ho! ho! ho! ho !" Thus ended the cut echism. A sucker was dis covered sitting on a log, down at the point, quietly pursuing his evening sports, and brushing off the mosquitos. Some of the answers had evidently bean given by him .- St. Louis Reveille.

Thousands are now suffering the most intense agony, arising from maimed limbs, distortions of the frame, inveterate rheumatism; many of them, perhaps, have already given up in despair all attempts to obtain relief, after repeated and unsuccessful trials—but let no such feelings of despair be entertained—try HUNT'S LINI-MENT, it has done wonders, as may be seen by reading the several cases reported in the pamphlets which are to be had of every Agent. Try it and despair not. But should you in carelessness, or incredulity neglect to seek for relief in its proper application, either for yourself or your friends, then let the blame be upon yourse fonly, for Providence has now placed within your reach a safe and certain remedy, which has already afforded relief to thousands, and whose healing properties are incontestible:

PURE WHITE LEAD. Wetherill & Brother,

MANUFACTURERS, No. 65, North Front street, Philadelphia, have now a good supply of their warranted pure WHITE LEAD, and those customers who have been sparingly supplied in consequence of a run on the stricle, shall now have their orders filled.

No known substance possesses those preservative and beautifying properties, so desirable in a paint, to an equal extent with unadulterated white lead; hence any admixture of other materials only mars its value. It has, therefore, been the steady aim of the manufacturers, for many years, to supply to the public a perfectly pure white lead, and the uncealing demand for the article, in proof that it has met with favor. It is invariably branded on one head; WETHERILL & BROTHER in full, and on the other, warranted pure, all in red letters.

Making Butter.—Butter is an important article in household economy; and upon its quality depends very much the profits of the farmer, as well as the comfort of the consumer. I send you.

Mr. Editor, a few hints on the process of making. and preserving it.

The art of making butter consists in separating with skill and neatness, the oil from the serum and curd with which it is combined in the milk, and of seasoning it to suit the palate. The an of preserving good butter lies in so keeping it as to have it retain its rich sweet flavor. The best method I know of effecting these objects, is embraced in the following rules:

1. In the first place, see that your cows are sup plied with a plenty of nutritious food. This is the raw material from which butter is made: and unless this is good and abundant, the manufactur ed article will be scanty and poor.

2. Let the milk be set in shallow, broad pane

f wooden, tin, or stone earthenware, to facilitate the separation of the cream, in a cool, clean spar ment. Red-glazed earthenware is bad; and lead is often poisonous. I think the best temperature is about fifty degrees of Fahrenheit. 3. Let the cream or milk be churned before it has become rancid or bitter, as at this stage it has lost its finest qualities for butter. 4. The operation of churning should be moderately and regularly performed. If too slow, and at intervals only, the separation is tedious and un-certain. If violent, the cream is too much heated, and yields a white insipid butter.

5. Put no water with your cream nor with your milk. The flavor, I may say, aroma, which gives the butter its high value, is extremely volatile disengaged by heat and materially dissipated by water, Work the butter thoroughly with the butter-ladle in a wooden bowl, which may be wi in water to cool the mass: and while this operation is being completed, mix pure, fine salt enough with the butter to sesson it for the table, and set it by in the bowl in a cool cellar till the next day -at which time the salt will be completely dissolved, when it is to be thoroughly incorporated b again working the butter with the wooden lad until every particle of liquid is expelled.

The making process is completed. To pr serve the rich flavor which this process secures, pack the butter nicely down in a perfectly tight sweet vestel, and none is better than a stone canb en jar, without a particle of additional salt: smooth the surface, and cover the top two inches with a strong cold brine, which has been made by boiling and skimming the materials. If a perlicle of scum is seen to rise upon the pickle, turn off the liquid and replace it by fresh pickle.

I am accustomed to eat buttor of May, June and October, made and preserved in this way, when it is from six to twelve months old, without perceiving any material difference between it and that which is fresh made.

How to make Apple-Butter-You express a wish to know how the best apple-butter can be made, and as I consider myself aufait at that bu siness, I have great pleasure in sending such directions as I believe to be the best.

The large copper kettle, three quarters full of ew sweet cider, made from sound apples, is act ver the fire before five o'clock' in the morning. I let it boil two hours, and then put in as many apples, which were peeled, cored and cut up the night before, as will fill the kettle, and at the ame time I throw in about two quarts of nicel cleaned peach-stones, which, by sinking to the bottom and being moved about incessantly br-the stirrer, prevent the fruit from selling and buring, which would spoil the whole , I take care in selecting the apples to secure a large proport tion of sour ones; for, as the cider is sweet, r a this precaption be taken the sance wi a vapid taste that nothing can remove: and all the applies must be of kinds that will boil easy to a jelly. On the hearth, around the fire, I place numerous pans and pots of applies and cider, simmering and stewing, which I empty into the little are fort in the state. kettle as fast in succession as the contents boil away enough to make room for them; but after twelve o'clock I never allow any more to be added to the mass. The boiling must be continued steadily until the whole is reduced to a smooth, thick marmalade, of a dark, rich brown color, and no cider separates when a small portion is cooled for trial From the moment the first apples are put into the boiling eider, the whole must be stirred without a moment's intermission, otherwise will settle and burn; but the handle of the stirrer will settle and burn; but the handle of the stirrer must be passed from hand to hand as often as fatigue or inclination makes a change desirable.

My kettle holds a half a barrel of cider, which, with the first apples in it, begins to boil about nine o'clock in the morning, and the whole is done enough by eight o'clock in the evening, when a sufficient quantity of powdered allspice, cloves and cinnaryon may be added to seeson it. cloves and cinnamon may be added to season it to your taste The apple-butter must be dipped out as soon as possible when it stops boiling; for, if it cools in the copper or brass, it is in danger of becoming poisonous, as may be detected even by the unpleasant taste imparted by the action of the acid upon the copper. I prefer sweet stone or earthenware pots to keep it in, but where the quantity made is very large, a barrel may be applicated.

When ivery-handle knives turn yellow, rab them with nice sand paper or emery; it will take off spots and restore whiteness. Silk pocket handkerchiefs and deep blue factory will not fade if dipped in salt water while Spots in furniture may be easily cleaned by rubbing them with a flannel wet, with the same thing that took the colour-if rum, wet the cloth with rum, &c. Lamps will have less disagreeable smell if you dip the wick yarn in strong hot vingar and let it

Clean a brass kettle before using it for cooking with salt and vinegar. If you wish to preserve fine teeth, always clear them thoroughly, after eating your inst meal at Linen rags should be carefully saved; they an useful in sickness; if dirty or worn, wash them or ecrape them into lint. Vials which have been used for medicine, should be put into coal ashes and water, boiled and suffered to cool before rinsed. Cotton, wet with sweet oil and paregoric, re ieves the ear-ache very soon.

Drawing off Corn.—Many farmers with to sow wheat after corn. Good crops are often thus raised, if the corn has been well manured, and a small early variety planted. A very unfarmerlike operation is to leave the shocks of corn in rows and plough and sow between. Solon Robi son describes the Jersey mode of drawing it off, in the Prairie Farmer, which he likes "best of all modes." The corn being put into large shocks in the field, is hauled one at a time, in a horse cart in this wise: A light frame is made to take the place of the cart bed, having two long stakes behind, so that one is on each side of the shock when the cart is backed up, and the frame is tipped back though dumping a load. A small rope is now thrown over the shock, and this being attached to a small windless on the hills, and running through the forward part of the frame on being wound draws the shock tight to the frame, and then draw the frame down where it is held fast, the butts the shocks hanging off behind. When arrived the place to unload, the rope being let loose, down goes the shock, standing just as it did in the field. Where the distance is not over a mile, it is anonishing how soon a field may be cleared.
